Four Killed, Five Injured In Collision Near Marston

A TWISTED MASS was all that remained of the automobile, in which four Negroes were killed, one-half mile north of Marston on highway 61, today at 1:50 a.m.

11 Negroes In Crash Vehicle

MARSTON -- Four Negroes were killed and five others injured in a car which collided with a tractor-trailer rig early today one-half mile north of Marston on U. S. 61.

The Highway Patrol identified the dead as Alfred Thomas, 27, the driver, St. Louis; Harvey Johnson, 17, Coldwater, Miss., and two small children.

Names and ages of the children were not immediately determined.

The injured, all from St. Louis were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

A hospital spokesman said Mrs. Eddie Mae Hammond, 28, was in fair to poor condition; Loubarda Hammond, 13, and Glen Hammond, 7, were both satisfactory, and Judge Johnson, 25, and Mary Johnson, 32, were treated and released.

The patrol said the Thomas car, carrying 11 Negroes was on the wrong side of the road.

James Whitfield, 38, of West Memphis, Ark., driving the tractor-trailer rig, pulled into a ditch and the Thomas vehicle crashed into the rear wheels of the trailer.

The Negroes were in a 1957 Chevrolet when the crash occurred at 1:50 a.m.

The Chevrolet was traveling south a half-mile when it met a 1962 International tractor-trailer, traveling north.

The Chevrolet was demolished. The only damage to the truck was a flat tire.

Loubarda Hammon received a right leg injury and internal injuries; Glen Hammond, a skull fracture and possible internal injuries; Judge Johnson, cuts on the left leg; Mary Johnson, cuts on her mouth, and Eddie Mae Hammond, an injured left hand and cuts.

Two other passengers, whose identity was not immediately determined were not seriously injured.

Rhodesia Treason Warning

LONDON (AP) — The British government warned Prime Minister Ian Smith and his Rhodesian regime today their defiance of British authority is treason. The penalty is death.

Atty. Gen. Sir Elwyn Jones issued the warning in the House of Commons as the government sought emergency powers to restore Britain's authority over the breakaway, white-run colony in central Africa.

Jones warned Britons inside and outside Rhodesia that actions furthering the aims of Smith's regime would be treasonable.

The bill giving the British government massive powers of retaliation against Rhodesia sped toward adoption in the House.

Quick passage was urged by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who Thursday night accused Smith's regime of taking police state measures and assuming "the sickeningly familiar attitudes of authoritarian rule."

Jones introduced the bill asking for these special powers:

—An order invalidating any laws passed or business transacted by Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's regime after its unilateral declaration of independence Thursday;

—Authority for the British government to exercise executive control and to make laws in Rhodesia;

—An amendment to British legislation to make it easier for "loyal Rhodesian citizens" to obtain citizenship of the United Kingdom and the colonies;

—An order enabling the British immigration authorities to confiscate passport documents issued or renewed by the Rhodesian regime.

Jones pointed out that other actions by Britain—such as the ban on import of Rhodesian tobacco and sugar—had already been carried out under existing statutory powers.

The bill proclaimed that the Rhodesian government's declaration of independence and all acts that flowed from it were illegal.

Wilson dismissed Smith and his government of white settlers immediately after the Rhodesian leader, 46, declared the central African colony independent from Britain. But the dismissal was a formality designed to allow Britain to intervene in case of internal strife and to forestall African nationalists from forming a Rhodesian government in exile.

Wilson called the breakaway a "rebellion against the crown."

"The world has taken a step backward today," he said in a 10-minute radio-television address to his people. "It is our task to take measures to bring the people of Rhodesia back from the dangerous path they have taken, back to mutual trust and racial cooperation."

Britain cut off all aid to Rhodesia, expelled it from the sterling area and banned it from selling its tobacco in Britain. In the past, Britain has bought more than half of Rhodesia's $112-million annual crop.

Wilson apparently hopes the sanctions will cut enough into the prosperity of Rhodesia's 225,000 whites to cause the majority of them to disown Smith's government.

The 117-nation U.N. General Assembly voted 107-2 in New York to condemn Smith's independence declaration.

40 Burn To Death In Plane

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) -- A Boeing 727 jet airliner with 90 persons aboard burst into flames on landing at the city airport Thursday night, burning 40 passengers to death in the fire-swept fuselage.

Another 50, including the entire crew of six, dived through windows and emergency hatches seconds before the fire raged forward from the three jet engines in the tail all the way to the flight deck.

Of the survivors, 43 were hospitalized. The dead were in the blackened fuselage.

A spokesman for United Air Lines, owner of the plane, first blamed the accident on the failure of a nose wheel. It later said it was caused by the main landing gear caving in as the aircraft touched down.

The three rear-mounted engines of the 727 are fed by fuel lines leading back from tanks in the wings.

The flight originated in New York and reached Salt Lake City after stops in Cleveland, Chicago and Denver. Its scheduled destination was San Francisco.

The pilot, Capt. Gail C. Hehe-Meir, 48, of Denver, was among the hospitalized survivors. Hospital officials said he kept repeating, "Terrible, terrible."

It was the third 727 involved in fatal accidents since August and the second this week. The first plunged into Lake Michigan off Lake Forest, Ill., on Aug. 16, killing all 30 aboard. The second hit a hill while approaching Cincinnati Monday night, and 58 of the 62 persons aboard died.

The Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington dispatched 12 investigators to seek the cause of the crash.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said in re-

Junior College For 4 Counties Talked

Expect Byrd Son In Seat

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is strong speculation around the Senate that the Harry Byrd name may not be missing from the 1966 roll-call lists despite Sen. Harry F. Byrd's resignation.

The 78-year-old Virginia Democrat quit the Senate Thursday with a formal resignation submitted to and accepted by Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr.

Byrd said he was stepping down because of his health. He has been suffering from arthritis.

Harrison is expected to act speedily to name a successor to fill Byrd's seat until next November's election. Virginia will elect two senators at that time, with Sen. A. Willis Robertson, 78, seeking a new six-year term.

At the top—or near it—of Harrison's list of prospective appointees is the name of Harry F. Byrd Jr., 51, son of the retiring senator and a Virginia state senator since 1947. The younger Byrd is publisher of the Winchester Evening Star and the Harrisonburg Daily News-Record in his state.

Harrison has had close association with the Byrds since he managed the retiring senator's 1952 campaign. He benefited when the younger Byrd decided not to seek the Democratic nomination for governor in 1961.

There was some speculation that Harrison might name an

Twitty Tells Of Needs In Area

Possibility of locating a junior college to serve a four county area -- Mississippi, Scott, New Madrid and Dunklin--was discussed at a meeting of the board of education yesterday.

Lynn Twitty, superintendent of schools, said that the school could offer vocational training.

Site of the proposed college has not been determined.

"Academic subjects would be offered that would qualify a person to continue his education into college," Twitty said at the meeting in the school administrative offices.

He said that a meeting of school superintendents of the four counties will be held Dec. 1 in Sikeston. Yesterday Scott county superintendents met and agreed that there is a need for a junior college.

Twitty said that a junior college is needed for the 50 to 60 per cent of students, who will not enroll in a regular academic program.

"Intensive vocational training for two years after completion of high school would prepare these students for excellent employment," Twitty said.

"Also, it would give students who wish to continue their education a strong foundation for further training."

Twitty said that if this type of college is desired by the people a plan could be prepared for submission to the state department of education in Jefferson City.

If the plan was approved by the state, voters would be given an opportunity to vote on it.

Ike Had Heart Attack

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's illness was diagnosed today as a true heart attack.

Revising their first estimate that the 75-year-old five-star general had suffered only a heart insufficiency, the medical team issued a new report on the basis of late tests.

Eisenhower, vacationing at his cottage on the Augusta National Golf Club course, suffered chest pains Monday night and was taken to the nearby Ft. Gordon Army Hospital.

The finding was that he suffered from a shortage of blood supply to heart muscles, producing angina pectoris or heart pain.

Today Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, the fort's information officer, reported that further electrocardiogram tests had revealed Eisenhower suffered a genuine heart attack.

The statement said, however, that the one-time leader of the nation in war and peace had spent a restful night, has had no further chest pains and was "in excellent spirits this morning."

Eisenhower had one attack in the early hours Tuesday, was reported on the road to recovery within a couple of weeks, then had another heavier, longer "episode" of angina pectoris or heart pains Wednesday.

President Gives Broad Authority To Commanders

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has given American field commanders in Viet Nam broad authority to call for — and get —additional fighting men to step up the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen, after a day-long policy conference Thursday at the LBJ Ranch, that Johnson had "instructed me to meet the requests from our military commanders for additional personnel as they are received."

Some requests for more men already have been received, McNamara said, and troops will move "as they become available for that purpose.

The defense chief said 160,000 uniformed Americans already are stationed in South Viet Nam. He wouldn't speculate on how many more would be sent because "we don't wish to give our opponents advance informa-

Shot To Death On Farm

KENNETT, Mo. AP -- A blast from a 16 gauge shotgun killed O. T. Bean, 41, Thursday night in a farmhouse yard near Hermandale about 15 miles southeast of Kennett.

Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott said Bean had driven Mrs. Becky Lou Harris to her home. Mrs. Harris got out of the car and walked into the house. She heard a shot after stepping inside the building, rushed back outside and found Dean in the yard dead.

Scott said the shot had been fired from "pointblank range."

According to chief deputy R. R. Copenhagen, Leroy Harris, 58, estranged husband of Mrs. Harris, has been arrested. Harris was found in an abandoned house near the scene.

All three are Negroes, living in the Gobler community.

Infantry Unit Fights Off Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A detachment of the U.S. Army's 1st Infantry Division fought off a sharp Viet Cong assault today in a day-long battle 40 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said 100 of the enemy were killed and the toll probably would go higher.

American casualties were described as light at dusk as fighting that raged for 12 hours tapered off into a sporadic exchange of small arms fire.

Striking with recoilless rifles and mortars, a Viet Cong battalion of 500 troops, launched the attack against about 700 men of the division's 3rd Brigade. Reports from the scene said the Americans came under fire without warning. Planes and artillery helped turn back the guerrillas.

The troops were on an operation to secure Highway 13 on the edge of Zone D, which has been under Communist control since the end of World War II. In recent months, B52 bombers from Guam have pounded the jungled zone and U.S. troops have pressed major offensives in the area in an effort to deny the Viet Cong a sanctuary from which to operate.

U.S. fighter-bombers hit at the Viet Cong without letup during today's engagement. Pilots flew more than 40 missions against the enemy during the height of the clash.

Study Pattern Of Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and industry power experts study today the pattern of Tuesday night's massive blackout in which a power failure surged through city after city in the Northeast.

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, who heads the investigation directed by President Johnson, said the panel was to seek today to find out "how the cascading process worked" and also what "reverse action" was taken to restore service.

Coming suddenly during the evening rush hour, the blackout at its peak enveloped 80,000 square miles in an eight-state area and affected up to 30 million persons. Power in New York City was off for more than 10 hours, with hundreds of thousands of persons stranded in subways and elevators.

Udall said there had been reports that some private power officials had said the massive power loss was due in part to the present intertie system, connecting various power companies across the Northeast.

Wintry Blast Hits Missouri

KANSAS CITY AP -- A wintry blast hit Missouri this morning with winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour.

But the weatherman doesn't think it will get too bad. He sees lows in the low 30s in the northwest and in the high 30s and low 40s elsewhere.

Highs Saturday will be in the high 40s in the northwest and in the 50s in the east and south.

Winds will diminish tonight.

Rains hit most parts of the state during the night, the heaviest falls being in northern sections.

Cape Couple Wins Air Race

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. AP-- Mr. and Mrs. John Godwin of Cape Girardeau, Mo., Thursday won the National Pilots Association's 300-mile proficiency air race.

They finished first out of a lineup of 140 flying teams. Mrs. Godwin was the pilot and her husband was the co-pilot.

B52 Jets Carry Bigger Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is modifying some of its long-range B52 jets so they will be able to drop up to 21,750 more pounds of bombs on the Communist forces in South Viet Nam.

The Air Force said today changes it is making in the bomb bays of a portion of its B52 force will increase the total load of each plane from the present 38,250 pounds to as much as 60,000 pounds.

B52s, originally built for nuclear warfare, have been used since last June to dump loads of explosives on areas in South Viet Nam which have been Communist Viet Cong strongholds.

So far there have been more than 60 such B52 bombing missions, mostly from Guam where the United States has stationed some 30 of the eight-jet giants.

Officials have said they are pleased with the bombings which they say have harried the Communists and stripped the Reds of the security of previously impenetrable strongholds.

Estimated cost of the work is $26.5 million.

WEATHER REPORT

Decreasing cloudiness tonight, low 40 to 45. Saturday fair with highs in upper 50s. Sunday partly cloudy and mild.

Five Day Forecast

Temperatures will average near or slightly above normal. Normal maximums in 60s, minimums in 30s. Precipitation as showers Saturday, Monday and Wednesday will average over one-half inch.

HIGH AND LOW YESTERDAY

High and low temperatures for the 24 hours ending today at 7:30 a.m. were 64 and 47. A trace of rain was recorded.

Sunset today---------4:52 p.m.
Sunrise tomorrow----6:35 a.m.
The Moon rises------7:53 p.m. tonight and rides high in Gemini. The planet, Mercury, now an evening star, but hard to find, is about 93 million miles away tonight. It will make a better appearance in the morning sky next month.

Proposal Puts Teeth On Edge

By Dan Whittle

To hear him tell it pulling a tooth held no terror for Dr. Handy L. Smith, 77-year-old retired dentist, compared to asking for his bride's hand in marriage.

It was in 1905 that he sought and obtained permission to marry Lillian Applegate.

"I was scared to death when I asked her father, R. G. Applegate, for her hand," he recalled. "I will never forget it. It was in his study where my living room is now.

"We did our courting in the parlor, where the front room is now."

During his first years of practice, following graduation in 1900 from the Washington University dental school, he said that he kept count of his extractions.

"They averaged 1,000 a year," he recalled.

The cost was 50 cents an extraction.

He remembered a woman, who came all the way from Blodgett to have 32 teeth pulled.

"I didn't think that she would live," he said with a smile, "but she did and I finally got to make her a new set of teeth."

She benefited from a combined rate--$25.

When he first opened his office there was no electricity except for street lights. His drills and lathes were operated like the old foot-pedal sewing machines.

Dr. Smith was honored Oct. 18 for 60 years practice at a convention of the Missouri Dental Association in St. Louis. He was one of four cited, who had graduated from a dental school 65 years ago.

His mother was a pioneer, whose father, William Sikes, was the brother of John Sikes, founder of Sikeston, and whose brother, Frank Sikes, was the grandfather of Mayor Kendall Sikes. He was named for his mother's step-father, a Judge Handy, of Charleston.

Dr. Smith retired in 1962.

Would he do differently if he could live his life over again?

"No, for I would probably make more mistakes," he said. "I have always led a pretty ordinary life though."

In 1962 Sikeston people for the first time in 62 years, no longer could see Dr. Smith walking to his dental office.

He began his long career in May of 1900 in an office on the second floor of the building that now houses the J. C. Penney Company store on New Madrid Street.

Dr. Smith is the son of Henry and Laura Smith. He was born on a farm a mile south of Sikeston, March 13, 1888.

His father died when he was three. His mother and he remained on the farm several years before moving to Sikeston on North Kingshighway. His father had moved here from Kentucky after the Civil War.

His mother was active in work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the city's first church. She helped organize it's first Ladies' Aid.

Dr. Smith was next to the youngest of five children and is the only one now living.

His wife died in 1940. Her father, one of the leading citizens in Sikeston's fledgling years, was a trustee of the Methodist Episcopal church and on its building committee.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Friday, November 12 Boy Scout, Harold Sprout, first to tie an astronaut.

BONNY PRINCE CHARLIE

Prince Charles, the heir to the British throne, will celebrate his 17th birthday anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 14, and he soon will have ample opportunity to prove that he can take care of himself. Beginning next February he will spend a 3 1/2 month term as an exchange student at Geelong Church of England Grammar School in forested foothills 100 miles northeast of Melbourne, Australia.

As a matter of fact, he will go to the Timbertop branch of Geelong, which is supposed to be noted for its Spartan regimen. The only things prepared for the pupils are their meals. There are plenty of long hikes and riding and ranching as well as cricket and tennis. Once a year students prove their toughness by running a 15-mile race.

Charlie, who favors a semi-Beatle mop top, will have to have his hair cut to conform with school rules. V. M. Tunbridge, headmaster of the rugged frontier school, says (N. Y. Herald Tribune, Oct. 20): "Of course he (the Prince) won't get any mercy from his fellow students and most Australians do not expect him to ask for any."

The young heir-apparent is the first member of the royal family to attend school in an overseas member nation of the Commonwealth. The news has been widely applauded in the British press. The Times commented (Oct. 19) that the decision "confirms how sharp a break has been made from the traditional training of princes." The Daily Telegraph called it "an excellent and constructive idea." The Birmingham Post said the step "will do a great deal to strengthen the links between Britain and Australia."

The young Prince will return in May to Gordonstown, his Scottish boarding school. That one has a reputation for physical toughness, too.

THE DRAFT SHOULD BE ON A FAIR FOOTING

The frustrating, vital half-war in Vietnam makes the need for a well-trained, efficient U.S. military establishment more obvious than ever. And yet the way we select our soldiers to fight such wars could scarcely be more unfair than it is today.

In the recent past, fewer than 50 per cent of those who reached draft age were ever called to duty. If present trends continue, almost two out of every three men will escape service in the future. This is not the fault of the nation's 4,000 draft boards, who do a conscientious job of supplying as many bodies as the services ask for. The injustice stems from the fact that, even with the Vietnam crisis, the military requires only some 500,000 new men each year. But in 1966, with the record post-war baby crop reaching draft age, some two million boys will turn 18.

Those who escape, by and large, are those with the means to continue their education until they reach the "safe" age of 26, or until they become fathers, or who one way or another are declared physically, mentally or morally unfit. As for those who get called, in the words of one manpower expert, they "view it as an imposition, an annoyance, or a stroke of bad luck that they were caught while so many others escaped."

For the youngsters involved, this adds up to a very demoralizing situation, but from the armed services' point of view, it is very convenient. Some 400,000 men a year -- many prompted by the threat of the draft--enlist. The remaining 100,000 needed to fill the annual quotas can be culled from the pick of the non-college crop, leaving out all the troublesome delinquents, the slow learners and those with trivial physical defects.

To their credit, many policymakers within the Pentagon recognize that such a policy is both unwise and unjust. Certainly the notion that only suckers serve does no good for the morale of those in uniform, and uncertainty over their post-college futures has an unsettling effect on men who are given educational deferments.

One oft-proposed solution is to end the draft altogether, on the theory that the specialized needs of modern warfare require professional career men. The proposal would require an annual military pay increase, according to defense estimates, in excess of $10 billion to attract enough volunteers, and even then it would not answer the manpower needs of a major crisis.

Moreover, in a century of recurring crises, there is something naggingly wrong with the idea of paying a professional cadre to take care of the sacrifices which all should share. General Lewis B. Hershey, for 25 years the redoubtable head of the Selective Service System, has long advocated shifting the draft to a true Universal Military Training System. Last year Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara proposed an experimental start to such a plan whereby a limited number of boys who are now rejected and classified 1-Y because of educational or minor physical shortcomings would be given specialized training to enable them to qualify for military service.

The idea never got out of congressional committee, reflecting the Congress' longstanding fear of the draft issue. Actually, as a recent nationwide Gallup poll shows clearly, the electorate is thoroughly aware of the unfairness of the present draft setup, and thoroughly in favor of reform along the lines of universal training.

Eighty-three per cent of those questioned favored some form of compulsory duty for those who now are rejected for failing their educational test. Forty-eight per cent said 18 was the best age for induction, another twenty per cent suggested age 19 or 20.

The two answers point the way to the basic reform the draft law needs: universal military training at the earliest possible age. The problem stems from the fundamental split between the two types who now escape call--those who go on to college and beyond, and those who flunk the physical or mental tests.

If it became an established principle that everyone except the seriously handicapped faced automatic induction immediately on reaching age 18, most of the current injustice in the present system would disappear. Those now being called would continue to serve out their two compulsory years. College-bound youths (some 600,000 next year) could be given the option of a straight two-year tour, or one year's active duty followed by four years of reserve training under R.O.T.C. auspices when they go back to school.

As for the 1-Ys and 4-Fs whose handicaps are minor, a large number of the young men in these categories are children of poverty who could benefit greatly from the health facilities, the training, even the solid food the Army can so readily supply. General Hershey, who wants to put sweeping reforms into effect immediately, proposes that each of the services set up a two-year compulsory rehabilitation program for the youngsters, with the goal of "developing the whole man."

To do this, of course, would require a fundamental reshaping and upgrading of the services' traditional concept of training. At present, the Office of Economic Opportunity's Job Corps is trying to provide such training and facilities on a voluntary civilian basis, but with an appropriation of $280 million and a skeleton staff, OEO is at present only able to serve a fraction of the one million unemployed youths who need such help.

An overall plan for 1-Ys and 4-Fs could ultimately encompass as many as 500,000 boys per year and cost as much as an annual $1.5 billion to operate. That is an expensive program, but weighed against its potential for curbing delinquency and unemployment, plus the fact that a good number of these trainees may well re-enlist in the regular Army, it would be a bargain.

A draft that ended deferments and needless rejections would put military training on a just basis that would minimize the uncertainty and burden for everyone; it would provide a comprehensive training program for the disadvantaged; it would give the Armed Forces an expanded opportunity for improving the quality of its permanent personnel.

It would do something perhaps even more important; it would encourage a pride in self and a loyalty to the nation that the present unjust and compromised system too often undermines.

CRIME AND THE WELFARE STATE

Is there a distinct and recognizable connection between the soaring crime rate and the development of a welfare state? If that seems a queer and idle question, a paragraph written by Keats A. Pullen, Jr., that appeared in The Baltimore Sun may cause you to do a bit of thinking. He says: "It is easy to understand why crime rises precipitously in a socialist welfare state. Under socialism the state, in accord with its own arbitrary standards, rewards individuals for alleviawards individuals for alleviation of poverty. Under crime the individual, in accord with his own standards, attempts to reward himself for similar purpose. In both instances, old-fashioned standards of morality are buried in a morass of gimme."

This is a harsh judgement but there is much evidence to substantiate it. The welfare state, whatever else one may think of it, cannot help but undermine and even destroy the ancient values which have sustained civilization - independence, a sense of personal responsibility, individual pride, honesty, and a determination to take care of oneself and one's family.

Crime -- like all the other immoralities, to use that word in the broadest possible sense -- will flourish when these values are degraded.

LITTLE SAMPLES OF NATURE

Every 24 hours America loses over 3,000 acres of natural land to development. This amounts to about one million acres a year going into such things as urban expansion, housing subdivisions, shopping centers, highways and so on.

Fewer and fewer children today have the benefit of first-hand, intimate experience with the wonders and beauties of land in its natural and unexploited state.

Even our many excellent state and national parks are becoming overtaxed by a growing population with the leisure and money to travel whatever distances are required to reach these oases of nature.

Realizing that the problem of conservation in an urban nation depends in large part on reaching children, who will have charge of our natural resources in the future, the National Audubon Society in 1944 came up with the idea of educational nature centers.

These would be areas of undeveloped land near communities, modest patches of forest and meadow and stream, by means of which trained teacher-naturalists could lead children to personal experience with nature. They would be outdoor laboratories -- "green islands for learning" -- to which school teachers could bring their classes, scout leaders their troops, parents their children.

Today there are some 200 nature centers in the United States and Canada, both publicly and privately administered. Some of the best ones have conservation demonstration areas, astronomical observatories, model farms and gardens, weather stations and scientific libraries and other education aids. Others are simply a pleasant preserve where the typical flora and fauna of the locality can be seen.

But these centers make only a small dent in the needs of a population of 200 million. It is hoped there will be 1,000 of them by 1985 and twice that number by the year 2000.

Through its Nature Centers Division, the society is working throughout the nation to sell the concept of these "green islands" and to provide technical assistance to local groups and agencies wishing to establish one for their communities.

ONE PROBLEM

The government,
It's probably true,
Will take care of me
And take care of you.
Take care of our birth,
Our marriage, our death,
Take care of our first
And our final breath.
Take care of our thoughts,
Take care of our rent.
But who will take care
Of the government?

For the answer, Bill, look at your check next payday.

H. L. Hunt Says

A SOVIET INVENTION

Yevsey G. Liberman, an economist at Kharkov University, is being hailed throughout the Soviet Union for a great economic discovery. His "discovery" is the law of supply and demand. Thus Liberman takes his place in the annals of Russian scientific achievement, alongside those Russians who invented the electric lightbulb, airplane, and everything of importance, including the atom bomb.

Despite the Kremlin's rash claims for Soviet science, however, Liberman's "invention" may be of great significance to all the world. He has discovered that, because of bureaucratic red tape, the Russians aren't able to get the things they want and need. More important, he places the blame on unrealistic theory which cuts production by smothering initiative.

A few years ago, such heresy would have placed its exponent against a wall, blindfolded. But the Kremlin, dragging far behind in the Cold War's battle of production, apparently was ready for any kind of suggestion when "Libermanism" reached its ears.

Some 400 Russian factories producing consumer items are starting test programs to evaluate this unheard-of, or at least heretofore unmentionable, "law of supply and demand."

It is ironic that the Kremlin holds such high hopes for Liberman's economic "innovation," for the relative economic freedom he has advocated is in direct conflict with Marxist dogma.

It is far more ironic, and it is tragic, that our own government seems intent on repealing the law of supply and demand, just as the Soviets have finally discovered that it is the only workable rule for production. And we appear to be moving toward adoption of the discredited socialist dogma that has brought a half-centruy of failure to Russia. HLH

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that hospital patients get tired of hearing:

"Now remember, when we get into Joe's room, no matter how he looks, tell him he looks great."

"Hi, Joe, gee, you're looking great."

"Don't worry about your work. The guy who took it over is doing a great job—handles it between his regular duties and says it's no trouble at all."

"Talk about your operation! Did I ever tell you about mine?"

"I hear while you were under ether the doctors were playing marbles with your gallstones."

"It's time to take your temperature again."

"Wake up. It is almost dawn."

"Of course, a few pains are to be expected. After all, as the French say, we can't make an omelette without breaking a few eggs, can we?"

"Well, I guess I won't get to be one of your pallbearers this week."

"Joe, I hate to bring this up while you're lying here flat on your back. But remember that $5 I loaned you just before they carted you off to the hospital? Naturally, I am not one to crowd anybody in your position, but—"

"Just sign here, Honey. The lawyer said it was only a formality and a kind of precaution. But, according to him, it is only common sense that every man should make out a last will and testament."

"Joe, you have no idea how much your missus misses you. I saw her at a night club the other night, and she cried all through the floor show. The guy with her had to lend her his handkerchief."

"You know I'm your buddy, kid. We passed the hat at the office in your honor. The collection came to a total of $3.97. What kind of a present would you really like most?"

"Do you mind showing me the scar? Is it okay if I count the stitches?"

"My cousin had exactly the same kind of operation. That was 12 years ago. He has never been the same since. But of course in your case—"

"Is that all they give you to eat?"

"I'm sorry, sir, but doctor says we mustn't snack between meals."

"You mean you're paying $35 bucks a day to stay in this dump?"

"You're coming along nicely. I think you should be able to leave anytime after another few days — or a week or so."

"Hi, there, fellow. I'm a patient from down the hall. While I'm here I thought I ought to have a hobby, so I decided to take up life insurance salesmanship. Now, the policy I have in mind for you offers—"

"Hey, Joe, some dame in a white dress just drove up on a broomstick outside your door. Don't tell me she's your nurse. What does she do between Halloweens?"

"Yeah, before I got this job as intern I used to be a veterinarian in Yugoslavia. But when you come to a new country you got to earn a living any way you can."

"Excuse me, sir. I'm one of the hospital trustees. We are trying to increase our foundation fund, and I wondered if you would care to contribute—"

"Hey, Joe, the boss told me to ask you if the doc found anything to remove except swivel chair splinters."

"Well, well, well. We certainly do feel much better this afternoon, don't we? Well, well, well."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Olin Mathieson, one of the first aluminum companies to raise prices in opposition to the government, also owes a great deal to the government. Like the Harvey family, Olin Mathieson has benefited from government contracts.

But, unlike the Harvey Aluminum dynasty, the Olin family was not born in Russia, and it has not played both sides of the political fence.

The Olins are products of the corn belt, born in southern Illinois, and they are dyed-in-the-wool Republicans. They'd rather be caught dead than be accused of doing anything for a Democratic administration in Washington. Spencer T. Olin is chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee, and in 1962 contributed $34,600 to the GOP campaign chest. Other Olin Mathieson executives and members of the family brought the total up to a whopping $100,750.

Like the Harveys, however, Olin Mathieson has received helpful government contracts, and in 1962 was awarded a $15,675,000 contract to manufacture the M-14 rifle at a cost of $105 per rifle.

Two competing companies, Harrington Richardson and Thompson Ramo Wooldridge, bid $97 and $80 respectively, but despite this, Olin Mathieson got a sizable part of the M-14 business.

The Olins, also like the Harveys, have been in trouble with the government, over the question of faulty shells supplied the armed forces in wartime. And they have also had other problems with Uncle Sam.

During the war, ten members of the U. S. Cartridge Company in St. Louis, a subsidiary of Olin Industries, were indicted for conspiracy to pass defective shells, making false statements and violating the sabotage act. They were found not guilty.

A second indictment against U. S. Cartridge dragged on for seven years, and in 1950 was dropped by the government. The government brought a civil suit for $214,000 to recover damages.

OVERCHARGING THE ARMY

More recently, during the Eisenhower administration, Olin Mathieson had more trouble with the government over powder for cartridges.

The company was accused of soaking the taxpayers for over $1 million in excess profits in selling cartridge powder to the Army.

The accusation was made by the General Accounting Office, which has the duty of auditing the books of defense contractors. At that time, the GAO was administered by an Eisenhower appointee, Joseph Campbell. His office also accused the Army of fixing up its contract requirements so that only one company -- namely Olin Mathieson -- could qualify for the cartridge powder contract. GAO named Lt. Gen. Emerson L. Cummings, an Army chief of ordnance, as writing the directive which resulted in the whopping overcharge of $1 million.

"The chief of ordnance directed that all military small arms should eventually be loaded with ball - type propellant powder, which was developed by and is produced only by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation," says the GAO report.

Since there were no other bidders, Olin Mathieson was awarded a negotiated contract that resulted in huge profits.

Previously the government had produced similar powder at about 90 cents a pound. But after the Army had negotiated a new contract with Olin Mathieson, the powder cost almost doubled, soaring to $1.72 a pound. The Army also failed to "request a review of Olin Mathieson's costs," the General Accounting Office charged. "Furthermore, even after excessive prices were disclosed by the Army audit agency, contracting officials did not take timely action to obtain a lower price from Olin Mathieson.

"Olin Mathieson earned profits amounting to about 162 per cent of the cost of powder sold to Remington Arms during the period December 1958 to January 1962," the GAO charged. "When the excessive prices were eventually disclosed by an Army audit agency review, Olin Mathieson and the Army negotiated a significantly lower price for future delivery."

KICKBACKS IN VIET NAM

Olin Mathieson was indicted in New York, March, 1963, on 24 counts, one on conspiring with its vice president in Hong Kong and the Philipp Bauer Corp. to give "side payments and kickbacks" to South Vietnamese and Cambodian importers in connection with U.S. drugs imported into those countries under the U. S. aid program.

In May, 1965, Herbert Wolf, former Olin Mathieson vice president, pleaded guilty to one count and received a two-year suspended sentence plus fine. Olin Mathieson also pleaded guilty to three counts.

Meanwhile, Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., champion of the legislation to register and regulate firearms, introduced a special bill to benefit the Winchester Arms Co., subsidiary of Olin Mathieson. His bill eliminated certain sections of the Firearms Act whereby those convicted of crimes were prohibited from shipping or manufacturing arms. Obviously this bill was intended to bail out Winchester and its parent company because Olin Mathieson had pleaded guilty to making kickbacks in Southeast Asia.

This is the company which last week bit the government hand that has fed it by refusing to keep the price of aluminum down during a period when aluminum profits are at an all-time high and when, according to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., the aluminum industry has increased prices five times in five years. More about other aluminum companies and their relations with Uncle Sam will follow in future columns.

Inside Labor

Justice Dept. Secretly Plans New Open War On Organized Rackets and Phantom Unions.

Washington, D. C.: -- It may not be a very merry Christmas for the dons of the Mafia.

Jingling bells for La Cosa Nostra, now heavily penetrated by the FBI's network of informants, could mean merely that the gendarmerie are at the front door with subpoenas, or that they're crashing through the rear.

The "sitzkrieg" season is over. The war on the mobs is on again.

The manicured mobsters would have been fascinated had they been in the office of Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Sheldon Cohen during the afternoon of Oct. 29. They would have heard Attorney General "Nick" Katzenbach breathe fire into the government's specialists, at the moment rather discouraged by the attack on them by a Senate committee.

In front of Nick Katzenbach that afternoon were 40 key IRS intelligence men. Some of them were the wire tap experts who had been assaulted by Sen. Long and the Ad Hoc Committee on Administrative Practices because they had put the bug on some tough suspects.

Don't be intimidated, asserted Katzenbach, by the Long committee investigation. Keep after the mob. There are many legal ways to do it. More than 60 per cent of Justice Dept. prosecutions are based on IRS intelligence operations. You people can play an enormous role in this battle. You continue fighting. You did not make the reputation you have by being timid.

It's the kind of talk the Intelligence Unit needed. They had not been sulking. But neither did they do handsprings down Pennsylvania Ave. after being described and talked to as federal lepers because they had wire tapped chiselers and mobsters.

Intelligence work is not all television - type romance. It does little for a career in government. It stakes out its men in dank cellars and holes them into eerie lofts. It keeps them glued to listening gadgets deep into the night and no one gives them union scale or double time for overtime. Nothing for overtime, for that matter.

But these federal tax experts are the shock troops of the war on organized crime and racketeering. Having bolstered their morale with his off-the-record talk, Katzenbach returned to his headquarters to plan for a skull session with his own organized crime unit. He'll call in the unit's 50 lawyers on or about Nov. 17 to coordinate the operation. These conferences could not have come sooner. The staff had to be reformed after Bob Kennedy left and much of his staff trooped out after him.

Basically it's a war against gambling and narcotics. But from these multi-billion dollar rackets come the cash for the invasion of small businesses, fake bankruptcies, fire-for-hire squads, huge real estate deals and domination of chunks of industries -- such as trucking -- in some cities.

Choke off the cash, you choke off the rackets.

Choke off the organized rackets and you strangle the "angels" of the mob's men on the labor front. The latter are the goons who buy a small union or dominate a big one because they've got the muscle and imagery -terror -- to back them up.

Thus they set up phantom unions, mulct million dollar pension and welfare funds and sell protection to all sides.

No one in the Justice Dept. is tipping Katzenbach's hand. But there are clues to the action which will close in on the diversifying mobs.

Watch it spread through the big cities. In New York the crusading U. S. Attorney, Attorney, Robert Morgenthau and his energetic, fast- moving rackets chief, Harold Baer, Jr., will hit the dummy unions.

They're still looking for the missing Joe Bonanno (Bananas), the millionaire mobster who has vast chunks of Southwest real estate, garment factories, motels, laundry services, dairy products operations in Colorado and Wisconsin, and an immodest home in the sunshine of Arizona. Bananas, now missing for more than a year, is believed by the FBI's string of informants to be alive.

In Chicago the Justice Dept. is going for the jugular. It has gotten grand jury immunity for the boss, Sam Giancana, and he has been in prison since June 1st for refusing to answer questions. And it appears that he'll stay for quite a while.

There you have the new technique -- heaving them into jail and throwing away the key. Four other Cosa Nostra bons vivants are not living it up so good any more. They're from the East and have been serving prison terms for "pulling a Giancana."

Thus the government can lock up hundreds of top mobsters if they don't talk. It saves the high cost of trials.

It's legal. The law is the law. And it's not on their side anymore.

Mrs. Kenneth M. Dumay

Marcia Kathleen Johnson Is Wed To Kenneth M. Dumay

KANSAS CITY -- Cathedral candelabrum accented with swags of white mums and satin bows graced the altar of Saint Peter's Catholic Church on Oct. 30 for the marriage of Miss Marcia Kathleen Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson, to Kenneth M. Dumay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Dumay of Sikeston. Greenery arrangements were used on the altar and family pews.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride's gown was of candlelight Alencon lace styled with an empire bodice over an A-line skirt featuring a chapel-length train. Her imported illusion veil of silk accented a lace over satin pillbox. She carried an heirloom prayer book with accents of white orchids, roses and stephanotis showers.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Betsy McAnany was the maid of honor with Mrs. Dennis Wills, Miss Linda Wyatt and Miss Martha Blake as bridesmaids. Their floor-length gowns were emerald green brocade and nile green crepe. They were styled with empire waists and watteau back drapes. The bride's niece, Deborah Hartnett of Fredonia, Kan., dressed in emerald green velvet was the flower girl carrying a French basket of white blossoms. David L. Dumay, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

Steven Retherford was the best man. The groomsmen were J. T. Kelly of Chicago, Ill., Gerald Frietchen of Leavenworth, Kan., and Richard Dumay of Rolla, brother of the groom.

Ushers were T. H. Corley of St. Charles, Salvatore J. Enna of Kansas City, Jeffrey J. Johnson and Michael W. Johnson, the latter two brothers of the bride.

RECEPTION

Following a wedding breakfast at the Inn on the Landing, a reception was held at the Terrace Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Dumay will be at home in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dumay were hosts at a rehearsal dinner given Friday evening, Oct. 29, at the Plaza III Restaurant. Guests other than the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dumay of Independence and Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Hartnett of Fredonia, Kan.

Airport PTA Committee Meets

The Airport P. T. A. Executive Committee met Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stinson with seven members present. Several items of business were discussed. The project chairman is to order the pecans and have them at the next regular P. T. A. meeting.

The motion was made to order a banner for the room winning the room count.

Also discussed was the room mothers calling the children's parents and boosting the membership drive.

There will be no P. T. A. or executive meeting in December. The January executive meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 10, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbs.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Bertrand Church Now In Revival

BERTRAND -- A ten-day revival is now in progress at the First General Baptist Church. The Rev. Minvil Clark of Poplar Bluff is the evangelist. There will be special music nightly and services begin at 7 p.m.

The Rev. Dolan Ray, pastor of the church, invites the public.

Services will continue through Sunday, Nov. 21.

BEATING THE DEADLINE

HUNTLEY, Ill. (AP) — It was a busy day for Mrs. Sue O'Brien. Her husband, Quin, landed in the hospital after being injured in an automobile accident, thereby promoting her to editor-publisher of the couple's weekly newspaper on the day it went to press.

Just two hours after completing the task of putting out the paper she, too, went to the hospital, where she gave birth to a six-pound, 14-ounce boy.

Bruce E. Giffin

Bruce E. Giffin To Be Speaker

A vanguard of the more than 650 Jehovah's Witnesses began arriving in Sikeston this morning.

The occasion is the circuit assembly of Missouri circuit 5 that will be held at the American Legion Hall. Sessions will begin at 6:45 this evening and will continue through Sunday afternoon.

Bruce E. Giffin, district minister and convention chairman, will officially open the meeting at 7:00 p.m. The assembly theme is "Increasing Our Praise to Jehovah."

Following Mr. Giffin's welcoming address, a model public Bible speaking class and a ministry development course will be conducted. These meetings are held each week in more than 23,000 congregations of the Witnesses world wide.

By the time the convention opens, all of the 20 departments needed to manage the gathering will be in operation. More than 100 volunteers will be needed to operate the departments. This large number will present no problem, however, since one out of every six Witnesses attending a convention volunteers his services free of charge. This makes it possible for convention officials to open all sessions of the assembly to the public free. No collections will be taken.

One of the highlights of the gathering will be a mass baptism of new ministers Saturday afternoon. The meeting will be climaxed by the public address by Mr. Giffin, "What Does the Resurrection of the Dean Mean for You and Yours?" delivered Sunday, at 3 P.M.

Local Briefs

Mrs. R. H. Turnage of Jackson, Miss., has been visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. H. G. Cathey. Mrs. Turnage returned to her home yesterday.

Attendance Drive In 8th Sunday

Sunday will be the eighth in the ten-Sunday crusade at the First Church of the Nazarene. This crusade is to increase attendance.

Visitors have been present every Sunday evening of this campaign.

Sunday evening services are at 7 p.m. There will be special music, both vocal and instrumental. The public is invited.

All regular week night services are at 7:30 p.m.

The Modern Christian

Are all Christians priests? On Calvary, the High Priest Jesus Christ gave his life in sacrifice. (Book of Hebrews) Following His resurrection, Christ continues his priesthood in the midst of the people of the New Testament. He gives his Spirit to all Christians that they may share in in the priestly mission that the Father had entrusted to Him.

In the Old Testament God spoke to Moses on Mt. Sinai, "You shall be to me a kingdom of priests, a holy nation." This was before the New Testament era, for now, the priesthood of every Christian far surpasses the measure realized by Moses and the Hebrew people.

Peter speaks of their priesthood in definite terms. "Come to Him, to that living stone, rejected by men but in God's sight chosen and precious; and like living stones be yourselves build into a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ . . . . . .But you are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's own people. . . . . ." (I Peter, 2)

This is the real, true, genuine priesthood of Jesus Christ that we share. The fact that all Christians are priests gives them the capacity to worship God in a manner agreeable to him.

We are a priestly people whose offering is agreeable to the Father because Jesus continues to live in his people and has communicated to us His priestly powers.

No matter how meager your mission in the community of God, you participate in the priesthood of Jesus Christ. The Spirit given by God is given according to the gracious bestowal of Christ.

Paul wrote: "But grace was given to each of us according to the measure of Christ's gift . . . . .And his gifts were that some should be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, for the equipment of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for building up the Body of Christ. . . . ." (Ephesians IV)

Jesus continues his priesthood in the whole Christian community, for all the baptized, without exception, constitute the royal priesthood of Christ.

"Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them. . . . . " (Romans XII, 6) Christ's gift of his priestly power to mankind enables him to continue his work on earth through his body, the People of God.

"Worthy art thou to take the scroll and open its seals, for thou wast slain and by thy blood didst ransom men for God from every tribe and tongue and people and nation, and has made them a kingdom and priests to our God, and they shall reign on earth." (Revelation V, 9-10)

Brown Spur 4-H Club Has Meet

The Brown Spur 4-H Club met Friday at 7 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kesler for their November meeting. This was combined with the achievement program and reorganization.

The meeting with 14 members, five leaders and four visitors present was called to order by the president, Frances Catlett. The pledge to the flag was led by Dianna Selph. The 4-H pledge was led by Brenda Estep.

Roll call was answered by each members telling "what Thanksgiving means to me."

A report was given on the skating party held at Dexter on Oct. 15. Thirty-two attended.

Plans were made to attend the 4-H steer grading and sale Nov. 13 and the council meeting and county Christmas party at New Madrid Dec. 7.

The club welcomed four new members, Cathy Freeman, Bonnie Schuchart, David Lape and Michael Rennier.

New projects were discussed and two are being added to the club.

During the achievement program, Mr. Byrd, youth agent, had the leaders to present the members with pins and certificates for the number of years in 4-H club work. They were presented to 20 members with from one to eleven years of club work.

Officers for the new year are president, Steve Kesler; vice president, Connie Schuchart; secretary, Randal Friend; treasurer, Brenda Estep; club reporter, Sondra Selph; news reporter, Dianna Selph; song leaders, Glenda Estep and Penny Leek and game leaders, Frances Catlett and David Lape.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party and meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schuchart.

Sikeston Bulldogs To Play Host To Blytheville

By DON VOELKER

The Sikeston Bulldogs will continue their season with a non-conference game tonight with Blytheville, Arkansas. The Bulldogs have a 5-3-0 record this year. They have scored a total of 109 points and have allowed 70 scored against them. The entire football starting lineup has done a good job this year and many players who were not on the starting lineup did just as well. They have beat the stuffin out of the Chaffee Red Devils, Perryville Pirates, Kennett Indians, Poplar Bluff Mules, and the Dexter Bearcats. They have had the stuffin beat out of them by the mighty Charleston Blue Jays, the Cape Central Tigers, and the Jackson Indians. There have been no tied games with the Bulldogs.

Blytheville has a 6-2 record and this looks real bad but they play in a conference where the schools have as many as 2400 students while their enrollment is 715. Blytheville has been beaten by Little Rock, 19-6. Blytheville fumbled several times within scoring range. There are 2400 students at Little Rock and the team is rated No. 1 in the state. They were also stung by Little Rock Hall, 41-7. The school enrollment of 1500. Blytheville was next in line for a loss to Pine Bluff, 14-7, a 1400 enrollment school. Bob Williams, Blytheville Coach said, "We had 15 boys out due to injuries received in the Little Rock Hall game."

Blytheville was also downed by Jonesboro, 13-12, 950 enrollment. There was only 20 yards difference in the rushing yards between the two teams. They also lost to McCellan High, 1000 students, 13-7. In that game they were ahead 7-6 when, with 50 seconds left in the game, McCellan scored to whisp victory out of Blytheville's reach.

The Blytheville Chicks did beat Hellena, 17-7 and the Cape Central Tigers, 19-0. If the Cape game is any indication of their playing when they cross the border into Missouri then the Sikeston Bulldogs don't have a chance. Since this is a non - conference game, a lot of boys may get to play that have yet to see action. "Win or lose, I am going to let some boys play that haven't had much experience", said Blytheville Coach Bob Williams. Coach Sapp will probably do much the same thing.

In a game with West Memphis, Arkansas, the Chicks got within 20 yards of scoring five times, but fumbled each time, and had over 100 yards penalties called against them.

Quarterback, Mike Guillott, will be playing for the first time. The original quarterback, Bobby Emmert, has been moved to the tailback position. The regular tailback, Bruce Bateman, has been moved to another backfield position. Blytheville's Morral has been hurt, but they are not in low spirits.

One of Blytheville's top players, Bob Flowers, may not be able to play. He is a 190 pound fullback.

The Sikeston Bulldogs will probably be playing harder than ever tonight because they know that they are facing a rough team, maybe one of the toughest they have come onto yet this year. The Bulldogs are in good health and high spirits for the game tonight. Blytheville, 21, Sikeston, 7.

Poplar Bluff will end their football season tonight at Chaffee. It is a non - conference game and each team will be trying hard to improve their record.

The Mules have had a 7-2 over all season and have ended the conference with a 4-2 record. Chaffee has an over all record of 5-4 and a conference record of 5-2. Poplar Bluff has scored a total of 137 points this year and Chaffee has scored 148. Poplar Bluff, 13-Chaffee, 7.

The Malden Green Wave has a conference record of 6-0. They are the only undefeated team in both the Northern and Southern Conferences. They will go to Dexter tonight in an attempt to extend their title. Malden was the number two team last year in the bout for the conference and may end up with an unclouded season.

The Dexter Bearcats are 5-1 in the Southern Division and they will be trying to make it a 6-1 record tonight. Malden 21; Dexter 14.

Caruthersville and Kennett will have their annual battle tonight. It will be a close game. The Caruthersville Tigers have a 4-3 conference record while the Kennett Indians are 1-5. Caruthersville 14; Kennett 7.

The Charleston Blue Jays, top ranking in the Northern Division, will leave home ground to play Jackson tonight. Poplar Bluff, Perryville, and Cape Central are just waiting for the Blue Jays to get their wings clipped. If the Jackson Indians win this one it will mean that Bluff's Mules will get a cut in the championship, along with the Central Tigers and the Perryville Pirates. Charleston 27; Jackson 14.

Both Cape Central and Perryville have a 3-2 record. Each team will be shooting for a victory and hoping for Charleston's Jays to lose their top knot to the Jackson Indians.

In 1963 Central was knocked off by Perryville and last year undefeated Perryville had the championship in sight and until Central's Tigers knocked them off and the Pirates tied with Sikeston. Central 14; Perryville 7.

College Football Predictions

NEW YORK (AP) — Now the power company knows how a pro picker feels Monday morning. Everybody wants to know wot happened? You can't get by in this league with that bit about a major disturbance upstate.

Form took another beating last week but the Hand-picker managed to sneak through 6-5. That makes it 37-19 in the NFL and 17-11-3 in the AFL and a season total of 54-30-7.

Let's guess again, all games on Sunday.

NFL

Baltimore 30, Minnesota 27—the doubtful condition of Johnny Unitas and Tommy Mason make this a real toughie. The Colts beat the Vikings opening day 35-16 but trailed early. Unitas picking on the Vikings' secondary is one thing and Gary Cuozzo trying to do it is something else. However, possible loss of Mason and stout Colt defense against rush should be enough for seventh straight.

Cleveland 30, New York 21—Browns' pass defense leaky but rookie Giants are vulnerable in air and on ground with Jim Brown banging away for another 100-yard day.

Green Bay 27, Los Angeles 14—Packers have lost two in a row but still trail Colts by only one game. Bill Munson doing good job for Rams but the Packers' strong point is pass defense. Vince Lombardi must fire up that offense. Who can do it better? If the line doesn't shape up they'll be calling Bart Starr Canvass Back.

Chicago 35, St. Louis 28-This could be a wild one with Gale Sayers and friends trying to match Charley Johnson's passing. Cardinals have looked shaky lately and Johnson may still be sub par. They just did nip Steelers.

Dallas 17, Pittsburgh 14-Cowboy defense is rough, but Bill Nelsen has picked up Steelers' attack. Give Dallas the edge as home team despite 22-13 victory by Steelers two weeks ago.

Washington 21, Philadelphia 17—Redskins seem to know the secret on how to handle Eagles. Philadelphia offense strong but Pete Retzlaff has bruised ribs and sore heel.

Detroit 17, San Francisco 24-This could be an upset. The 49ers have the most explosive attack in league but the Lions are tops in defense. That Detroit front four took Bart Starr apart last week and will be zooming in on George Mira or John Brodie.

AFL

Oakland 17, Buffalo 14—Raiders are clicking since Fred Biletnikoff started to get hot. Larry Todd a real sleeper last week against Oilers.

New York 21, Boston 17—Joe Namath gets the call as quarterback on his showing against Chiefs. Jets confident after winning two straight and breaking road jinx.

Houston 24, Denver 24 -- The Oilers live or die by the pass. After George Blanda threw 60 in a losing effort last week Don Trull may be in there. Both teams weak on defense. Denver won first game 28-17.

San Diego 21, Kansas City 14—Chargers boast top passer in John Hadl and best runner in Paul Lowe and Chiefs are inconsistent despite fine defense.

8 to 9 Million Dollar Dome

CHICAGO (AP) — A dome on ancient Comiskey Park at a cost of $8 to $9 million is being planned by Chicago White Sox owner Arthur Allyn.

It is part of an expansion program which will include professional football, if Chicago gets an American Football League franchise, and soccer in addition to baseball.

Half of the dome, made of translucent material, would be permanent and stretch from the home-plate area beyond the infield. The other half would be covered by six pie-shaped segments which would swing around on a track to cover the outfield area.

All pillars in the main part of the park would be eliminated by hanging the upper deck from steel cables.

Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson, of Washington, was scheduled to address the students at Oberline College the day his first child was born. He asked his assistant to cancel the appearance. She phoned the college, and was informed that a substitute for Senator Jackson was available.

"Just to satisfy my own curiosity," she asked, "whom will you put in place of the Senator?"

"The wind ensemble," she was told. —George Dixon

Jefferson City Jays Have 66 Game Streak

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Writer
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)

Pity Bob Roark.

Last year, he coached the Columbia (Mo.) Hickman High School football team to a 9-1 record and the student body hanged him in effigy. It was a case of justifiable envy.

Hickman fans simply got tired of losing to the Jefferson City Jays. Everyone else has too.

The Jays have a 66 game winning streak, including 31 shutouts, stretching back to 1958.

Only a handful of teams have gotten within one touchdown of the Jays, who before this year had not been behind since 1961.

Three boys from one family graduated from the school without ever tasting defeat.

All the Jays are homegrown.

"We've never had more talent than we could use," said Pete Adkins, the man who deserves most of the credit.

The amazing streak began when he became coach in 1958. An excellent organizer, he eats and sleeps football seven days a week and passes off his enthusiasm and drive to the players.

"Three-fourths of our boys have only average ability when they start," said the 35-year-old former guard for little Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo.

"But, they work hard and become sound football players."

Thursday as he prepared his team for its last game of the season tonight, he said:

"We have a problem getting the boys up week after week, but they've got a lot of pride. The seniors come back each year saying 'we won't be the ones to lose' ".

Jefferson City, with a population of about 30,000 has become a football crazy town.

"We live from Friday to Friday," says John Hayes, president of a 500 member booster club that has hawked tickets, bought equipment and donated its time and labor to such things as building a press box, a practice field and putting tile on the locker room.

The rabid townfolk pack the 6,000 seat stadium, and flow into the end zone for every home game. About 1,500 attend road games.

The school has an enrollment of 1,200.

Indian Mounds

Mounds, which American Indians built as tombs for their dead, are found in many parts of the United States. Thomas Jefferson excavated one of these, 40 feet in diameter and 12 feet high, a few miles from Charlottesville, Va.

Mizzou Headed For Sugar Bowl

Big Eight

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ninth-ranked Missouri, hopefully headed for the Sugar Bowl or the Cotton Bowl, goes against Oklahoma at Columbia in the Big Eight's top game Saturday while Nebraska moves a step closer to a perfect season and a likely Orange Bowl trip against Oklahoma State at Stillwater.

Third-place Colorado, mentioned for the Sun Bowl, hopes to nail down a third-place 4-2-1 Big Eight finish against sixth-place Kansas, 2-3, at Boulder. Colorado is a solid favorite.

Iowa State is favored to finish at the break-even 3-3-1 level with a victory over Kansas State at Ames. Injury-riddled K-State is without a victory in eight games.

Missouri faces a 20-year hex. The Tigers haven't beaten Oklahoma in Columbia since 1945, a year they went on to lose to Texas in the Cotton Bowl. In fact, Missouri in the same period has beaten Oklahoma only once at Norman, 41-19 in 1960, a year they went on to beat Navy in the Orange Bowl.

It follows, then, a bowl bid will be likely if Missouri wins.

Oklahoma will be without linebacker Carl McAdams, a leading All America candidate. Don Kindley, 200-pound senior, will take his place.

Missouri's giant sophomore end, Russell Washington, also will miss the game with an injury. Dan Schuppan, 79 pounds lighter at 195, will replace him. Missouri is 4-1 in league play, Oklahoma 3-1.

Gary Lane, Missouri's talented quarterback, appears to have hit his stride the last two games with Nebraska and Colorado. The Tigers are a solid favorite. A turnout of 52,000 is expected.

Nebraska could make a bowl decision after the OSU game, which will draw about 33,000. It's likely the Huskers will meet Alabama in the Orange Bowl.

The third - ranked Huskers, seeking their first perfect season since 1915, lead the nation in rushing and are no. 2 in scoring and total offense. OSU appears to be outmanned, with its 0-4 league record.

Colorado's talented young club with losses only to Nebraska and Missouri, is pointing for a 6-2-2 finish, best since the 1961 title team.

Kansas will be without three regulars. One is injured and two quit the squad. Even with them on hand, Colorado would be a strong choice. A turnout of 30,000 is expected.

K-State will go with Mike White at quarterback. Vic Castillo, who lost his job to White in the Cincinnati game, will miss the game because of the death of his father. Iowa State's potent air game led by Tim Van Galder and the power running of Les Webster and Willie Robinson makes the Cyclones a strong favorite before 18,000.

SEMO Indians To Meet Rolla Miners

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. -- About the only thing the 1965 Southeast Missouri State College football team has to work for in its final two games of the season is to avoid the dubious honor of compiling the worst record of any Kenneth Knox-coached Cape State squad.

The Indians, 1-3 in the conference and 1-7 overall, haven't endured as bad a season under Knox since 1956 when they finished 2-7.

They meet the University of Missouri-Rolla on the Miners' field Saturday at 2 p.m.

The SEMO squad's only victory thus far came at the expense of Central Missouri, 16-14, two weeks ago. The Mules then came back last week for their first conference win by edging Rolla, 26-22. The Indian-Miner game is rated a virtual tossup.

The Miners, 0-4 in the conference and 2-6 overall, will be battling to come out of the MIAA basement. A Rolla victory, accompanied by a Warrensburg loss to Kirksville this week, would put the Indians, Rolla, and Warrensburg in a three-way tie.

Knox's Indians, hoping to avert further disaster in a disappointing season, will have Greg Brune of Cape starting at quarterback. Brune, who has played regularly in the last three games, replacing the injured Irvin Whitehead of Charleston, has completed 34 of 88 passes for 443 yards and has a net rushing yardage of 19 yards in 49 carries to lead the Indians in total offense with 462 yards.

He has teamed with senior Mike Kelley of Hatyi, one of the best ends in the conference, to pose a much more formidable forward passing attack than at any other time in the season. The aggressive Kelley has snared 24 passes for 249 yards and one touchdown.

Senior fullback John Glass of East Prairie, the Indians' most relied-on ground gainer has netted 299 yards in 98 carries and is responsible for over one-third of the Indians' net rushing (872 yards).

The Miners are young and were expected at the beginning of the season to have one of their best years, but have faltered in the MIAA after winning two of their four non-conference games. The game Saturday will be Rolla's 1965 finale.

Probable Starting Lineups

Mizzou Will Try To Overcome 20 YearWhammy

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBIA, Mo.)ap)—A major bowl bid, probably the Sugar Bowl, could be the prize for ninth-ranked Missouri if the Tigers can overcome a 20-year whammy and defeat Oklahoma here Saturday.

A crowd of 52,000 is expected to see the Tigers nail down second place in the Big Eight conference en route to an expected 7-2-1 season.

Oklahoma will be playing without linebacker Carl McAdams, an All America candidate at 6-foot-4 and 226. Don Kindley, a 200pound senior, will replace him.

Missouri hasn't beaten Oklahoma at Columbia since 1945. The Tigers went on to a New Year's date with Texas in the Cotton Bowl that season.

In the same 20-year span Missouri defeated Oklahoma only once at Norman. The 1960 team did it, 41-19, en route to the Orange Bowl.

Coach Dan Advine's club is on the list of Cotton Bowl prospects but reportedly even more strongly in contention for the Sugar Bowl. The Tigers gave unbeaten Nebraska a mighty scare before losing 16-14, rallied to get a 14-14 tie with potent UCLA and were edged 7-0 by Kentucky on a goal line fumble. All three games were in Columbia. They won 17-6 at Minnesota.

Gary Lane, Missouri's talented senior quarterback, is a 200-pound package of power, elusiveness and passing ability who has just hit his full stride the last two games with Nebraska and Colorado.

Francis Peay, 246-pound tackle, leads the offensive line. Johnny Roland, 207, is a tremendous secondary man. Both are All America candidates. Missouri will be without sophomore Russ Washington, a 6-6, 247-pound defensive end.

Oklahoma, 3-1 in league play, started to move when sophomore Gene Cagle took over at quarterback in the league opener with Kansas.

Sugar Ray Throws In Gloves

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson finally has decided to hang up the gloves at the age of 45 after 199 fights in a brilliant career that is sure to lead to boxing's Hall of Fame.

The fierce pride of a man who has been acclaimed the best fighter pound-for-pound in recent ring history kept him going long after his contemporaries had quit. It took a decisive beating by young Joey Archer Wednesday night in Pittsburgh to end Ray's dreams of another championship fight.

"I hoped to fight for the championship again," Robinson said Thursday afternoon in his Pittsburgh hotel room before leaving for his New York home. Robinson was stretched out lazily in bed, his head propped on a pillow, his face bearing marks from Archer's stinging left jab.

"If I had beaten Archer, I'd have had a chance," Robinson said. Then he added wistfully, "But I didn't win. It's too late to go on another long campaign for another chance."

Was there a chance that Ray might change his mind, as he had done in 1954 after retiring in 1952?

"I don't think there is any chance," said the former welter and five-time middleweight champion of the world.

"With all due respect to Archer, he's not a puncher," said Ray. "He punched me when I was off balance and I got knocked down. Somebody was talking about a return match but I didn't say anything."

The record books say Robinson is 45 but he claims he is only 44. No matter now. He has had 199 fights since he turned pro in 1940, back in the days when men like Lew Jenkins, Fritzie Zivic, Joe Louis and Billy Conn ruled the roost. He won 173, lost 19, and had 6 draws and one no-decision contest.

Joey Maxim was the only man to stop him and that was due to a case of exhaustion in the 106-degree heat at Yankee Stadium June 25, 1952. Sugar Ray had stopped 109 opponents. In two more years he will be eligible for the Hall of Fame.

"I'm going to build houses," Robinson said. "The Sugar Ray Construction Co. is being organized. We'll do slum clearance and build houses for the people who need them.

"Then I'm going to make a movie with Rod Taylor in California in January and another in Barcelona, Spain, with Broderick Crawford, a war picture. I'm going to get back into show business."

Show biz always has been Robinson's real love. When he quit in 1952 he became a song-and-dance man, touring Europe. But there never was the kind of money that he could get in the ring where his earnings approached the $4-million mark.

George Gainford, the man who has been with him during most of those 26 long years, nodded his head when he heard that Ray has made up his mind to quit.

Cardinals & Bears Clash

CHICAGO -- Professional football's oldest rivalry will be resumed for the first time since 1959 here Sunday at Wrigley Field when the Cardinals and Bears clash in a key game for both clubs.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m. (St. Louis time). Radio will be carried over KMOX Radio, and television in St. Louis over KMOX-TV. St. Louis fans will see the first of the television double - headers on Sunday as the battle between the Baltimore Colts and Minnesota Vikings will follow the Big Red-Bears duel.

The Cardinals, alone in second place in the Eastern Division, have a 5-3 record and trail the Browns (6-2) by one game. The Bears, whose four-game winning streak was snapped by the Colts last Sunday, are 4-4 and in a position where they cannot afford any more defeats. The Colts pace the West with a 7-1 slate, a game ahead of Green Bay (6-2).

In addition, the Cardinals will be battling to give the Eastern Division its second straight triumph in the inter-division rivalry. Western Division clubs owned seven straight victories until the Dallas Cowboys topped the San Francisco 49ers, 39-37, last Sunday.

The last - second heroics against the Steelers, which seem to be a common happening when the Cardinals and Pittsburgh meet, saw the Big Red go 80 yards in six plays and 35 seconds.

After Pitsburgh's touchdown made it 17-14, with 1:12 remaining, the Cardinals took over at their own 20. Charley Johnson threw one incomplete pass, then hit Billy Gambrell for 10 yards and a first down at the 30. Two more passes were incomplete, then Johnson connected with Bobby Joe Conrad for 11 yards and a first down at the 41.

That set things up for the payoff as Johnson dropped back, saw a speeding Gambrell in the clear and hit him at the Pittsburgh 23, behind the Steeler defense. Gambrell snared the pass and dashed into the end zone. Jim Bakken's conversion made it 21-17 and that ended the Cardinals' two - game losing streak.

Looking ahead to Sunday's capacity crowd at Wrigley Field, this will be the first regular - season meeting of the clubs since the Cardinals moved to St. Louis. The rivalry, which dates back to 1920, when the Cardinals topped the Bears, 7-6, at Decatur, Ill., was an annual thing through the 1959 season, when the Bears won, 31-7.

Over the years, the Bears hold an impressive edge in the series, 47-19-6, and the last Cardinal regular season victory was in 1955, when the Big Red routed the Bears, 53-14.

In the past three summers, the Cardinals and Bears have met in a pre-season game at Soldier Field, with the Cardinals winning all three matches.

Coach Wally Lemm intends to go with the same starting lineup that came through with the victory over the Steelers. That would put Sonny Randle, Bob Reynolds, Irv Goode, Bob DeMarco, Ken Gray, Ernie McMillan and Jackie Smith across the front line of the offensive unit, with Charley Johnson at quarterback, Bill Triplett at left halfback, Joe Childress at fullback and Bobby Joe Conrad as the flanker.

Defensively, the lineup shows Joe Robb, Luke Owens, Sam Silas and Don Brumm on the front line; Larry Stallings, Dale Meinert and Bill Koman as the linebackers; and Pat Fischer, Jimmy Burson, Jerry Stovall and Larry Wilson in the backfield.

After Sunday's game, the Cardinals return home for three straight games -- facing the Giants November 21, the Eagles November 28 and the Rams December 5. Tickets for all these games are on sale at three locations, 5100 Oakland Avenue, the Arcade Building and Busch Stadium.

Detroit RedWings

DETROIT (AP) — So-called experts who tabbed the Detroit Red Wings' power-play combination as perhaps the best in National Hockey League history may be having second thoughts on the matter now.

In Gordie Howe, Andy Bathgate and Alex Delvecchio, the Red Wings have three of the top four career goals scorers still active in the league.

But the defending regular season champions have had their problems in the goal scoring department and have but three to show for 43 power-plays in their first nine games.

They had 55 such goals in 316 chances last year.

Howe scored one — the 599th regular season tally of his career — Thursday night as the Red Wings and New York Rangers battled to a 3-3 tie in the only game played.

But failing to click with the main advantage has been but one of the frustrations for the Red Wings. They haven't been scoring enough under normal conditions — despite holding an edge in shots on goal.

They out-shot Chicago, 27-22, in a 5-2 loss Wednesday night and peppered New York goalie Ed Giacomin with 42 shots Thursday.

"Imagine out-shooting a team 42-20 and coming out of game thankful to get a tie," Manager-Coach Sid Abel said. "It's the same old thing, the puck just won't bounce for us."

Bernie Over Matthews

ONE REASON the University of Nebraska has a top-ranking football team this season is a surplus of quarterbacks. Head coach Bob Devaney, center, has his pick between Fred Duda, left, who was the starter until he broke his leg in 1964, and Bob Churchill, right. Churchill, a junior, took over for Duda, who has rejoined the "ready" list.

For I am the voice of the light of the world.

BISHOP
C. L. CRIDER
SIKESTON, MO.

JUNE 6, 1964

On that date I said the mighty judgement of God would fall on all the world, as stated in the Sikeston Standard on Jan. 14, 1964, and that would be the beginning of the end of this old world.

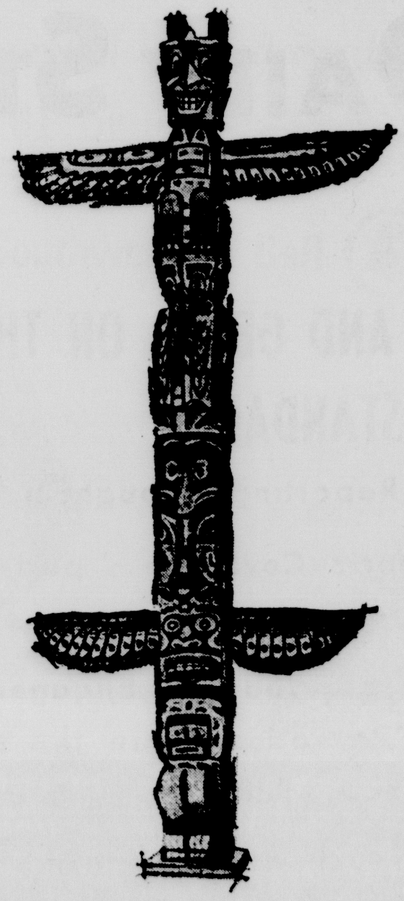

We have now witnessed the beginning, soon the whole world will be in darkness. The sun, stars, and the moon will not give forth any light. The heaven shall be shaken, and that shall be the beginning of the greatest tribulation the world has ever known. The waters of the river's shall turn to blood that no creature can live therein. There will be no water to drink. The earth will be burned so that nothing can grow thereon, but the people of God will not be left on this earth when the damnation begins. After the great tribulation ends, they will return to live in a new world with peace and happiness for those who are worthy.

I have seen one minister of God who is worthy. He is a certain minister of Essex, Mo., for he is a man who not only accepts the truth of God, but he wades right into the truth of God, and that is what God likes. He definitely does not like men who ducks and dodges around his word. They are unfaithful and unfruitful. They shall be cast with the unbelievers.

Time is fast running out. What are you? Who are you?

The voice of the light of the world.

Q. Who's on top?

A. Our customers of course . . . because we care.

Highway Signs May Soon Talk

WASHINGTON AP -- One of these days, highway signs may talk to drivers, instead of just advising them via the printed word.

Findings are due next year from studies at Georgia Tech on the value of traffic messages presented by radio. The Ford-Philco people have developed a way to deliver them.

These new wrinkles were discussed in an interview by Burton Stevens, a psychologist with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"No one is sure what those messages should contain, nor even sure whether it is a good idea," Stevens said. "One question is how many times to present the message, how far ahead of an intersection for example."

There are transmission problems. Messages are sent from a transmitter by the side of the road, and picked up by the passing driver with special receiving equipment inside the car or truck. They could come in on a beam to which the car radio could be set. Conceivably the messages could be broadcast loudly from the roadside. But what if the radio was not turned on? Or the car windows were rolled up and the driver couldn't hear what was being loudspeakered?

It may come as a surprise to some that the Bureau of Public Roads has psychologists working for it. But they've been there from the behavioral sciences for almost six years, working with a great variety of problems created by drivers, vehicles and highways.

"For one thing, we're studying the limitations and capabilities of the driver," Stevens said.

For example, there is a lot of controversy over how much sign information a driver can absorb and act on when he comes to a big traffic interchange.

People differ in their skills, naturally, even in their ability to read. Some drivers may be sleepy, or under the influence of alcohol.

"We hope to develop a system that can be used efficiently by a variety of people with a wide variety of conditions," Stevens said.

"Our approach is not restrictive. We have not attempted to suggest stricter licensing. We recognize the importance of transportation in economic and social life."

One of the most popular developments in recent years has been the "yield" sign, often in place of a stop sign, where a less-busy road enters a main highway.

"These yield signs let people make an evaluation for themselves: should they pull into the highway, or wait a while? They recognize the decision is theirs and I suspect they normally face up to the situation," Stevens said.

Documents, 189 Years Apart, Similar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two documents were separated by the Atlantic Ocean, 189 years of history, and broad changes in the attitudes of mankind but there was an ironic similarity between them.

In Africa's Rhodesia, a British colony, the white inhabitants Thursday declared their independence of the mother country, the first time that had happened since the American colonies broke away in 1776.

And the Rhodesian prime minister, Ian Smith, read from a declaration that borrowed unashamedly from the American Declaration of Independence of July 4, 1776.

The American declaration had started off: "When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another. . ."

The Rhodesian declaration began: "Whereas in the course of human affairs history has shown that it may become necessary for a people to resolve the political affiliations which have connected them with another people. . ."

Smith is a white racist. In the 150,000 square miles of Rhodesia, which has been a self-governing British colony 43 years, there are 225,000 white people and 4 million Africans.

The whites are boss, and keeping the Negroes down economically and politically, they want to remain boss. That was why, despite all British efforts to the contrary, they declared their independence Thursday.

When Thomas Jefferson wrote the American Declaration of Independence, which Congress adopted, the overwhelming number of Negroes in this country were slaves.

And, although Jefferson went on in the declaration to say all men are created equal, he was a slaveholder when he wrote it and when he died 50 years to the day after his declaration, his will freed only three of his slaves.

And although Americans every July 4 celebrate Independence Day, white supremacists to this day still oppose equal treatment for Negroes.

Successive British governments had offered Rhodesia independence if the white rulers would give guarantees that political responsibility would then be shifted fairly swiftly to that black majority of 4 million.

But the white supremacists in Rhodesia refused. Smith argued it would take 15 to 100 years for Rhodesian Negroes to attain the educational and economic levels necessary for equality at the polls.

Now Rhodesia is one of a few islands of white supremacy in a sea of new Negro-run nations on the African continent.

The British prime minister, Harold Wilson, who tried to get the white Rhodesians to hold up on independence unless the Negroes were guaranteed a full role, found himself from the start in a bit of a fix.

He had been pushed toward compromise by signs that a head-on clash with the white Rhodesians, who are mostly of British origin, would cause serious strains in Britain.

At the same time Asian and African leaders of nations which are part of the British Commonwealth were demanding stronger action and he didn't want to offend them.

So, while he has said Britain would not use force against Rhodesia if it declared independence, Thursday he invoked a series of economic sanctions intended to force the new Rhodesian government to its knees.

And President Johnson, who has fought hard to push through Congress one civil rights bill after another to protect Negroes' rights in this country, had promised Wilson he would back up Britain in economic actions against Rhodesia.

Thursday the Johnson administration said it would take such actions but they may not amount to much since this country's economic dealings with Rhodesia are minor.

Thursday, prodded by the Africans, the 117-national General Assembly of the United Nations voted 107 to 2 to condemn Rhodesia and ask Britain to move fast to quell the rebellion. South Africa and Portugal voted no. France abstained.

But even sanctions against Rhodesia may badly hurt two of its Negro nation neighbors, Malawi and Zambia, which had argued against sanctions because both of them depend on Rhodesia for electricity and railway transit to the sea.

NIGHTINGALE

Evening. A nightingale duelled down the sun out of the tree-tip swung beneath the weight of song and singer.

The pulsing silhouette rode in the height unharmed, as day burned it to black with brightness, lancing a thousand lights from a thousand leaves -- the last of day, lost in the first shadows of the night, climbing the trees to claim there in mid-song that prodigal dark sentinel.

Hyacinth Become World Headache

ROME (AP) — Man's love for a pretty flower has given three continents a multimillion-dollar headache. It is rapidly getting worse with no real cure in sight.

The problem is the water hyacinth, which a garden lover transplanted from its native South America to his pool in Lousiana. Then it was taken just as innocently to South Africa, expanded into the Congo and somehow, between 1956 and 1958, reached the Sudanese portion of the Nile.

It has become such a ruinous, river-clogging menace that Louisiana and Florida have to finance costly eradiction campaigns.

More than $1.7 million a year is being spent along the Nile alone to keep the fast-spreading plant from breaking through control points in the Sudan and infesting Egypt's lower Nile. It has also started choking fish ponds in East Pakistan.

Representatives of 18 African nations have appealed to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization to help fight the flower.

The water hyacinth looks like a gardener's joy with 10-inch spikes of blue-mauve or pale lilac delicately held above swaying rosettes of big, green, rounded leaves.

But it spreads so fast from drifting seed and spreading tendrils that no pool can hold it.

First it chokes off the landings. Then it breaks into floating islands, growing ever larger until navigation even by canoe is impossible. It sneaks up irrigation canals and clogs pumps.

The Food and Agriculture Organization reported that along 1,000 miles of the Nile, the clogging plant extends down 30 feet, consuming oxygen from the water so that fish cannot live.

Many systems have been tried to cope with the water hyacinth, from mechanical to natural controls. Louisiana uses costly cutting machines and many-bladed saw-boats. The Sudan is trying sprays.

Salvation Army Lassie Offers Truman Doughnut

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. AP -- One of the 51 bonneted lassies who braved mud, rain and shell-fire to serve doughnuts and hot chocolate to World War I soldiers called Thursday on former President Harry S. Truman, also a veteran of that conflict.

She was Brig. Gen. Isabella Bonger, 74-year-old Salvation Army veteran from Wichita.

As a Veterans Day gesture, General Bonger arrived at Truman's office with some doughnuts.

"May I serve you a doughnut?" she asked of the former Army captain.

"Thanks, so much," he replied, "but its too soon after breakfast. I had a late breakfast today."

"I don't know whether I served President Truman," she said later. "If not, I'm sure one of my co-workers did many times."

Accompanying her on the visit, were Lt. Col. Charles Overstake, Kansas City, Salvation Army division commander for Kansas and western Missouri, and Mrs. Brian Merriott, wife of the captain of the Salvation Army unit here.

Mrs. Merriott wore Mrs. Bonger's original khaki uniform from her World War I days and carried her combat helmet.

Colonel Overstake presented Truman a Salvation Army centennial medallion.

"We're on our second century and still serving God and man," Overstake said.

"You certainly are," Truman replied. "You've always done a fine job and I know you will continue to do so."

LOSERS WEEPERS

A man who was a candidate for an important position with his company lost out to his rival. Trying to be big about the whole thing, he called the telegraph office, gave the girl his opponent's name and dictated this message: "Congratulations on your victory. Permit me to extend my heartiest congratulations and to pledge you my sincere, whole-hearted support."

There was a moment of silence then the anguished exclamation: "No, no, lady! Please don't read it back to me -- I couldn't stand it!" ---Dan Bennett

Russia Launches Space Station Toward Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space station toward Venus today and said it should reach the planet around the end of February.

It was the second announced Venus probe by the Russians and about 50 per cent heavier than Venus 1, which missed the planet by more than 100,000 miles in February 1961.

Tass, the official Soviet new agency which announced the launch, said Venus 2 is moving on a course "close to the prescribed one."

Tass said that by noon, the space probe was nearly 34,800 miles from the earth and equipment was functioning normally.

U.S. scientists said the Soviet spacecraft Zond 1, launched April 2, apparently was intended to be a Venus probe although the Russians never announced it as such. The Americans said Zond 1 apparently missed its mark in July 1964.

The U.S. Mariner 2 passed Venus Dec. 14, 1962, at a distance of 21,648 miles after gathering data continuously during its 180-million-mile journey. During the 42 minutes it flew past the planet it collected data on the surface and atmospheric temperatures and cloud structure of Venus. This was relayed back to earth and Mariner sped on toward the sun.

Tass said a multistage rocket launched Venus 2. The last stage was first put into a parking orbit and then it launched the station toward Venus. This is the method the Russians have used in their moon probes.

The weight of Venus 2 was given as 963 kilograms —2,123 pounds. Tass said power is being supplied it by chemical and solar batteries.

LBJ Signs Long Bill

WASHINGTON -- U. S. Sen. Edward V. Long (D-Mo.) said he is "delighted" that President Johnson signed a bill to eliminate the red tape forced on lawyers who want to represent citizens before Federal regulatory agencies."

President Johnson signed the bill at his ranch near Johnson City, Texas.

The new law, introduced in the senate by Senator Long, sweeps away cumbersome and confusing regulations for attorneys practicing before Federal agencies. Also untangled by the law are the regulations under which certified public accountants appear in behalf of taxpayers before the Internal Revenue Service.

"This legislation will be of great help to lawyers from all over the country who have all too often been kept from representing their clients by Federal red tape."

The measure had the support of the American Bar Association and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Senator Long said the new law will "save the citizen needless expense. It will also save time for lawyers, accountants and Federal agencies."

Boyd Buys Funeral Home

MALDEN -- Announcement was made this week by Tom R. Boyd of Kennett of the purchase of the Day & Knight Funeral Home of Malden from Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ray. In the future it will be known as the Boyd Funeral Home, Inc.

Boyd is a graduate of the John Gupton School of Mortuary Science, Nashville, Tenn., and is certified by the National Conference Examiners Board.

He is married and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hurdie Boyd of Kennett. The Boyds plan to make their home in Malden.

Enrollment Up 22 Per Cent

COLUMBIA, Mo. AP -- Enrollment on the University of Missouri's four campuses has increased 22 per cent over last year to a total of 33,683.

There are 17,582 students at Columbia, up from 15,791 last year; 6,775 at Kansas City, compared to 4,978 last year; 4,978 at Rolla, up from 4,058, and 4,658 at St. Louis, up from 2,639.

In addition, there are 901 students in off-campus extension courses. That makes a total of 39,649 students studying for credit from the university.

Caruthersville Yule Parade On Nov. 27

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The 1965 Caruthersville Christmas Parade is set for Nov. 27.

Chairman of this year's parade, Cleat Stanfill of KCRV, announced that the parade will begin 10 a.m.

This year's parade, as in past years, will form at the Caruthersville High School on South Ward Avenue in Caruthersville and will end at the municipal building on West Third St. Twelve high school bands are expected for the event and approximately 15 to 20 floats. The Caruthersville Chamber of Commerce will award $175 in prize money to the top three floats.

The first float will be awarded $100. Second place will receive $50 and third place $25. A float from any category, commercial, church, or civic, will be acceptable. A panel of out-of-town judges will select the winners.

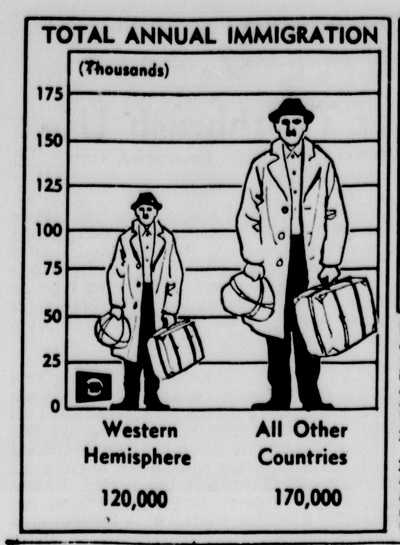

Any civic club, church organization, or commercial establishment in the area wishing to enter a float or display in the parade should contact Cleat Stanfill at KCRV radio in Caruthersville. Call collect at ED 3-1370.

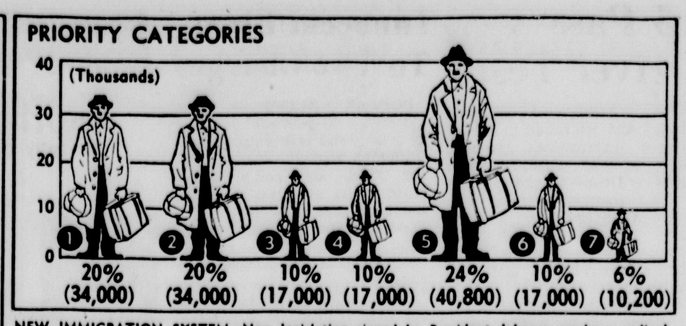

Two Sentenced To Prison Terms

KENNETT -- Two men, one from Holcomb and the other from Gideon were sentenced to prison Monday by Dunklin County Circuit Court Judge Arthur U. Goodman. Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker represented the state.

Floyd McCain, 22, of Holcomb pleaded guilty to felonious stealing (theft of a motor vehicle) and was sentenced to two years. He was charged with stealing a car belonging to Delbert Rawls on July 15, 1965 in Kennett.

James Lipsmeyer, 31, of Gideon pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and was sentenced to three years.

NEW IMMIGRATION SYSTEM—New legislation signed by President Johnson marks a radical departure from U.S. immigration policy for more than four decades. The old law was based on the 1920 census breakdown of ethnic groups in the U.S. population. The new law, taking effect in 1968, treats all nations the same but sets a ceiling of 20,000 immigrants annually from any one country. It also for the first time limits Western Hemisphere countries, to a total of 120,000 each year. The rest of the world is allotted 170,000 according to priority categories:

1. Unmarried children over 21 of U.S. citizens.
2. Spouses and unmarried children of resident aliens.
3. Professional people, scientists and artists.
4. Married sons and daughters of citizens.
5. Brothers and sisters of citizens.
6. Skilled and unskilled persons to fill job shortages.
7. Refugees from Communist and other countries.

Members of the immediate families of citizens—spouses, parents and minor children—will be admitted outside the quotes. Total immigration is expected to rise from the present 300,000 annually to about 350,000.

Margaret To Fly Over Canyon

TUCSON, Ariz. AP -- After a day of resting in the Arizona sunshine, Britain's Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, fly over the Grand Canyon at sunset today. They spend Saturday boating on Lake Powell in northern Arizona.

The Snowdons sunned themselves Thursday around the pool at the home of their host, former ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Lewis Douglas.

They dropped plans to visit a nearby mission and astronomy observatory to rest up from nearly a week's hectic tour of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Relaxing with them were actor Roddy McDowall, Mrs. Danny Kaye and actress Hope Lange and her husband, director Alan Pakula.

McDowall shares an interest in photography with Lord Snowdon, a professional photographer. The Pakulas are good friends of the Douglases' daughter, Sharman, who is the royal pair's guide for their U. S. tour.

The princess had hoped, aides said, that a restful day in the clear air and sunshine would help cure the remnants of laryngitis from which she has been suffering since Monday, when she had to attend a charity fund ball in Hollywood while suffering from chills and a slight fever.

Winter Winds, Snow Chill North

Wintry weather, with snow, strong northerly winds and cold, swept across northern Montana into the northern Plains today and headed into the northern Midwest.

Two inches of snow covered the Dickinson, N.D., area as the storm spread from Montana east of the Continental Divide across the Dakotas. Arctic air fanned by gusty northerly winds, spread southward into Montana, dropping temperatures as low as 3 above in Havre, 6 in Cut Bank and 12 in Helena.

The chilly blasts whipped eastward and were expected to extend into Minnesota and Nebraska during the day. Visibility was near zero at times during the night at Dickinson.

Rain which fell in areas ahead of the cold front was expected to change to snow, with amounts ranging from 3 to 4 inches in the Plains and heavier accumulations in mountain regions.

The Weather Bureau issued hazardous winter weather warnings for the Dakotas, Minnesota and central Nebraska and alerted hunters, motorists and stockmen.

Marcos Appears To Be Winner

MANILA (AP)—Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos appeared today to have almost won the Philippine presidency but President Diosdado Macapagal, seeking a second term, refused to concede.

Unofficial returns compiled by the Philippine News Service gave Marcos a 614,095-vote lead in Tuesday's election, still an almost unbeatable margin although smaller than it was earlier.

The unofficial tally from about 70 per cent of the estimated 8.5 million votes gave Marcos 3,015,271 votes to Macapagal's 2,401,176.

Fernando Lopez, running for vice president with Marcos, led Gerardo Roxas, son of a former president, by 114,376 votes—2,770,099 to 2,655,723.

In official returns from less than half of the country's 45,234 precincts, Marcos was leading by 340,277 votes. The official tally from 28,110 precincts was Marcos 2,299,306, Macapagal 1,959,029.

Marcos, 48, a war hero from the Nacionalista party, was confident of victory. He said he could lose only through "massive and unthinkable fraud."

But Macapagal, 55, considers the election still undecided and won't concede until official returns are completed, a source close to the Liberal party president said.

The president's press office said returns from pro-Macapagal precints on the islands of Luzon and Mindanao will put him ahead in the official tally. Early returns from Mindanao showed Marcos running strongly in urban areas. Macapagal claims strength in the countryside.

Marcos told newsmen that as the Philippines' sixth president he would send troops to Viet Nam if he considered it necessary.

If elected, the Nationalista leader would begin his term Jan. 1 facing a Liberal-dominated 104-member House of Representatives and at best a precariously balanced 24-member Senate.

Rhodesian Whites Tighten Belts

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's jubilant white settlers prepared today to tighten their belts to meet Britain's economic reprisals against their government's independence declaration.

The country remained calm, and there were no signs of unrest in the African townships surrounding Salisbury.

Prime Minister Ian Smith's white government was in control of the situation as Rhodesia entered its second day of full independence. But Commerce and Industry Minister George Rudland warned that rationing would be ordered if economic sanctions threatened by Britain and other countries were effective.

Finance Minister John Wrathall announced that foreign exchange dealings had been suspended temporarily.

The first priority was to secure the balance of payments and so maintain international solvency, Wrathall said. The second was to tackle internal problems which resulted, to sustain internal demand and to deal with "urgent budgetary matters."

Control over imports and exports would be intensified and allocations of foreign currency for imports would be cut, he said.

Holiday allowances are to be reduced two thirds —from $840 to $280 per person per year. The automatic allocation of up to $56 a day for 21 days for businessmen will end.

The post office will discontinue sales of money orders for payment outside Rhodesia.

In determining the allocation of currency for payment of imports, Rudland said first priority would be given to essential foodstuffs like wheat, medical and veterinary supplies, gasoline, oil and lubricants, and education and religious requisites.

Then would come supplies essential for agricultural, mining and manufacturing industries, he said.

He added that export control will take effect Saturday.

The most important thing a father can do for his children is to love their mother.

PRAYER: O Christ, Thou who art the word made flesh, help us to share the life we find in Thee with those who know Thee not. Implant Thy love in the hearts of all men that the world may soon know true peace. For our Savior's sake. Amen.

Guilty Pleas Accepted From Three

NEW MADRID -- Guilty pleas were accepted from three persons in two cases in the New Madrid County Circuit Court Tuesday, according to Van H. Sharp Jr., clerk of the court, who said that divorce decrees were awarded in five suits and other matters were taken care of.

Next session of the current September Term will be Nov. 22, when a civil suit is on the docket for hearing before a jury, the clerk said, and the next "law day" will be Nov. 23.

Jeremiah Patton entered a plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter and Judge William L. Ragland, who was on the bench for the one-day session, sentenced him to a term of ten years and then placed him on probation.

Patton was charged in connection with the shooting at Portageville last January 4 of J. B. Austin in an altercation. Both Patton and Austin are Negroes.

Guyland Dean and Junior Day entered pleas of guilty to petit larceny and the judge sentenced them to a year in the county jail and assessed a fine of $5. Their jail sentence was suspended upon payment of the fine and costs.

Dean and Day were accused in the robbery last Monday night of Dale Mott, an Oklahoma hitchhiker, who they and another youth, Roger Brooks, are said to have picked up on Highway 61 near here and robbed. The charge against Brooks was dropped.

Billie Joe Garrett, Lonnie Garrett and Sam Irby, who are charged with felonious assault, leaving the scene of an accident, kidnaping and armed robbery appeared before Judge Ragland and he set December 15 as a trial date for them and appointed Atty. Harry H. Bock as their legal counsel.

They are accused in the shooting and severe beating of R. L. Richards of near Matthews after he had followed them when they sideswiped a truck on Route 80 and did not stop.

In the suit of Benny Givens against Mary Helen Givens, a decree of divorce was granted to the defendant on a cross bill and there was a property settlement and custody agreement made a part of the decree.

Carolyn Jannett Childers was granted a divorce in her suit against Ralph Paul Childers and Judge Ragland awarded her custody of two minor children and $10.00 per week per child support.

Custody of two children and $6.50 per week per child was awarded to plaintiff when the judge granted a decree of divorce in the suit of Erma Dean Hurley against William Albert Hurley.

The name of the defendant was ordered restored to Margaret Weatherly after the judge had granted a divorce decree in the suit of Jarrell G. Riddle against Margaret W. Riddle.

The other divorce granted was in the suit of Leon Hall against Minnie Ann Hall.

15 Pass Driver Tests

NEW MADRID -- Fifteen passed and ten failed in driver license examinations given at New Madrid Friday, when operator licenses were granted to 11, chauffeur license was awarded to one and instruction permits were given to three, Examiners for the State Highway Patrol have informed The Record.

Of the ten who failed the tests, eight were on the written portion, the Examiners said, and two were on the road test.

Granted motor vehicle operator licenses were Paula E. Walker, Robert E. Jackson, Bernice Clark, Robert D. Pullum, William M. Bugbee, Sharon K. Adkinson, Marveleen L. Jenkins, James Paul Blanchard, Barbara S. Roach, Johnny Tisdel and Earnest L. Hardin.

The one chauffeur license was granted to Jackie E. Vines.

Those receiving instruction permits were Barbara N. Johnson, Eva L. Lawson and Francis G. Decker.

Route T Near Dam Finished

POPLAR BLUFF -- Workmen have completed construction of the new Route T from Highway 60 to the T and Route D intersection above the Wappapello Dam in Wayne County.

Resident Engineer Bill Bollinger of the Missouri State Highway Department said many curves have been eliminated in constructing and rerouting much of the old highway.

The new road is 22 feet wide and surfaced with butuminous asphalt for a distance of 13.08 miles with slightly more than 12 miles in Butler County and the rest in Wayne County.

The total cost of the project was $737,000 with $721,000 spent on the Butler County portion and $16,000 in Wayne County.

Shoulders have been seeded and the new road is open to traffic.

Contractors were the Thompson and Tri-City Asphalt firms of Alton, Ill.

Thanksgiving Proclaimed

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. AP -- President Johnson, proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 25, Thanksgiving Day, called upon all persons to give thanks for "the blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation during the past 12 months."

Enumerating accomplishments of the last year, he said: "We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens. We have pledged dignity to our elderly--even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to the education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor. . .We have enjoyed the greatest prosperity in history."

And he called in the proclamation issued Thursday for prayers that "the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth."

Innocent Plea To Two Charges

POPLAR BLUFF -- Jess Chaffin, a 45-year-old resident of Fisk, who is charged with felonious assault and obstructing traffic, appeared in magistrate court and two pleas of innocent were entered.

Judge Francis M. Kinder set bond at $1,000 on the assault charge and at $500 for the other charged.

Chaffin is charged with felonious assault by striking Trooper Everett Montgomery of the State Highway Patrol.

Both charges against Chaffin were set to appear again in magistrate court on Nov. 22.

Jewell Will Double Size

LIBERTY, Mo. AP -- William Jewell College will double in size in the next 10 years, under plans announced Thursday night by H. Guy Moore, school president.

Dr. Moore, speaking at an alumni achievement dinner, said seven trustees have been appointed to draw up preliminary plans.

Charles F. Curry, president of the trustees, said the construction will include a new chapel auditorium, additions to the student union building, and more classroom space.

There are 1,000 students at the college now, Curry said, adding:

"In 10 years we expect between 1,500 and 2,000."

Holman Raps Demonstrators

KANSAS CITY AP -- Anti-Viet Nam demonstrators were labeled Thursday as "misguided, misinformed and in some cases disloyal Americans," by Haskell Holman, Missouri state auditor.

Holman spoke at a Veterans Day ceremony at the Liberty Memorial, erected to honor veterans of World War I.

Picketing the ceremony was a lone demonstrator wearing a Russian-style fur cap. He was protesting what he claimed were "communist flags" over the memorial. The flags on display pennants of the 50 U.S. states.

"That memorial was built for World War heroes number one," he cried repeatedly.

Veterans at the ceremony appared more amused than angered.

"Get out," they called to him good-naturedly. "Get lost."

Turkey Shoot At Kennett

KENNETT -- The Kennett Jaycees will hold their annual turkey shoot on two Sundays this year, Nov. 14 and 21.

The location is across from Joe Wilson's auto salvage at the north end of Allen Williams' pasture. Shooting will begin at 1:30 p.m. Participants may bring their own guns or use those furnished by the Jaycees. All shells will be furnished.

All proceeds will go to Jaycee charity projects.

Another Toothbrush Use

By Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Polly

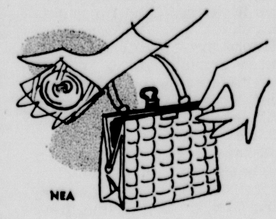

DEAR POLLY—I have another to add to that long list of uses for old toothbrushes. Recently I discovered that the kind with a rubber pick on the end of the handle makes a wonderful home tool for cleaning type on a typewriter. It cleans out little dirty spots on the type that the brush alone so often seems to miss.—MRS. W. D. H.

DEAR POLLY—Christmas is coming so I want to tell the other readers how I decorate the evergreens in my yard. Start to save all those tin twists that result from opening cans with keys. They are rolled up when the can is opened but I pull them down (NOTE: Be very careful not to cut your fingers doing so) to make spirals that look like icicles. I leave the keys attached so they will serve as hangers to put the "icicles" on the trees after they (the icicles) have been dipped in red, green or blue paint. Some can be left silver. While the painted ones are still damp, add some glitter. The lights outside pick them up and they are beautiful.

I also save old light bulbs, put string around the screw ends to make holders, cover with masking tape to hold the string tight so they, too, can be hung on the outside trees. I treat the bulbs the same way as the spirals, even covering the masking tape with glitter, and they look like big Christmas balls.—ETHEL

GIRLS—There is still time left to be saving those burned-out light bulbs as well as the can twists.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I hope other wearers of contact lenses will profit, as I have, from my husband's brainstorm. He bought me a large, inexpensive rubber sink stopper that fits all drains and I always carry this in my purse for those frequent occasions when I must clean my contact lenses away from home. You would be amazed at the peace of mind this sink stopper brings when I have to wash a contact while away from home.—LINDA

DEAR POLLY—If you do not have an orange juicer and occasionally need a bit of fresh juice, roll an orange between the hands until it is soft. Cut it in half, take a mixer beater, insert an orange half and, holding the orange above a bowl, use the rotation motion that is used on a juicer and there is one squeezed orange.—BONNIE

DEAR POLLY—When traveling and you find there are not enough coat hangers, improvise by rolling up a paper or magazine, fasten with heavy string or cord in the middle and make a loop on the end of the cord to hang it up. One thing to remember is, if using a newspaper, be sure to put a cloth or white paper over it as the newsprint could rub off and ruin a light-colored garment. Such a hanger could also be used in a car.—DOROTHY

Americans Work To Ease War Pains

NEW YORK (AP) — Far from the sound of gunfire, an army of American civilians is working to ease the pain of war among the South Vietnamese.

These homefront forces labor under the banners of a score or more of private relief agencies sending food, clothing and other supplies to that battle-torn land.

The value of materials shipped last year reached $4.6 million, more than a half million above the 1963 figure. This year's total is expected to increase considerably.

All of the help goes to South Vietnamese civilians: The dependents of military personnel, widows, orphans and the poor and uprooted in battle areas.

"It's wonderful the way everyone is working together there to assist the people," a spokesman for Catholic Relief Service said. "It's created a feeling of one big family."

The agency is one of the largest providing help. Other major ones are CARE, Mennonite Central Committee, Foster Parents Plan and Project Concern.

Catholic Service began its South Vietnamese program in 1954 and now is feeding more than a half million persons daily. It expects to double the number shortly.

CARE is distributing food, clothing, blankets, tools for development, first aid equipment and school supplies. It also plans to help farmers rebuild their war-ravaged lands.

Mennonites constructed a 35-bed hospital and clinic and treat 150 patients daily. They also hand out food and U.S. surplus commodities.

Foster Parents Plan is providing social work and counseling assistance to about 5,000 families.

Project Concern operates a 20-bed hospital, five clinics and is planning a 53-bed hospital. Most of its work is with a wandering mountain people called Montagnards, who speak a language of their own and are among the victims of the fighting.

Most of the relief agencies belong to the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Inc., A coordinating council in Saigon also helps them put their efforts to the best advantage.

Grandma At Wheel Of Big Truck

BALTIMORE, Md. AP -- New Jersey State Police were nonplussed recently when they stopped a huge, steel - laden tractor - trailer truck and down stepped a 41-year-old grandmother.

Leona Murphy, who stands barely over five feet in her cowboy boots, said she was stopped the first three times she drove the truck on the New Jersey Turnpike. Each time she produced the necessary license and was waved on.

Mrs. Murphy, whose husband, Charles, 41, owns the rig, has been driving for two years. She and her husband drive four-hour shifts.

"I wouldn't be driving except we own the rig," said Mrs. Murphy. "If we didn't then I would be taking a man's job and I don't think that's right."

How do the other truck drivers accept her?

"They mostly gawk," she said, "but they figure if I'm tough enough to drive, they'll go along with me."

Raizen to Lead Fund Drive

NEW YORK -- Charles S. Raizen, chairman of the board of Transogram, Inc., owners of Anchor Toy Corp., Sikeston, Mo., has been appointed co-chairman in the toy division for the 1965 fund-raising campaign of the Visiting Nurse Service of New York.

Hearnes Parkway Sign Goes Up

DEXTER -- A sign at the southeast edge of Dexter, at the foot of Vine street on highway 25, tells you you are entering the Warren E. Hearnes Parkway, from Dexter to Bloomfield. That section of dual highway still under construction was so dedicated Wednesday, Governor Hearnes himself assisting in its dedication.

Six miles of new highway, much of it dual lane, connecting Dexter and Bloomfield, which at one time bore the name of the "Red, White and Blue highway", so named because it was marked by the federal government in the patriotic colors, is now the "Warren E. Hearnes Parkway". It was named by proclamation of the county and city officials of Bloomfield and Dexter.

The Dexter Bearcat band, under the direction of Howard Jones, presented a concert prior to opening ceremonies and played the National Anthem to open the program. Joe Weber, president of the Dexter Chamber of Commerce, presided and introduced the governor.

Melvin Gainer, mayor of Dexter, welcomed Governor Hearnes and other dignitaries, outlining the history of highway 25 through Dexter to Bloomfield.

Stoddard county representative Tom Baker spoke briefly, then introduced Congressman Paul Jones, State Senator J. F. Patterson, M. J. Snider, engineer for the state highway department, and Jack Stapleton, Sr., chairman of the state highway commission. Each spoke briefly, Mr. Stapleton saying this was the second dedication he had attended in his ten months with the commission in which parkways have been named for Governor Hearnes.

In introducing Governor Hearnes, Mr. Weber outlined his rise to the top spot in Missouri from the youngest state representative ever elected in 1950 to his election as governor in 1964.

In expressing his appreciation for the honor of having the stretch of highway named for him, Governor Hearnes said, "Every road holds the responsibility of safety. Whatever name it carries is unimportant. What is important is how it will be used, what it represents in the community, what it means to the people who travel it.

"I am just as proud of any achievement a town makes as any of its citizens," Governor Hearnes continued. "I cannot help but applaud the efforts of the hospital committee in Dexter and Stoddard county. Fifty per cent of the industrial growth in Missouri is in that 10 per cent of the communities working to better their towns," he said. He finished by expressing his thanks for the honor of having the section of highway named for him and ended by saying, "The greatest honor you can give me is to work tirelessly in behalf of the people of your community."

Governor Hearnes was assisted by Senior Girl Scouts Kathy Arnold and Sue Hill in the ribbon cutting ceremony. Official cars then made a short tour of Dexter, then drove the full length of Warren E. Hearnes Parkway to Bloomfield where the entire ceremony was repeated, ending with ribbon cutting at the north end of the parkway. Governor Hearnes was assisted by Girl Scout Kathy Mooney and Scout Briney Welborn in Bloomfield ribbon cutting ceremony.

John Davis, president of the Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce, presided at the Bloomfield program, with Mayor Alvin M. Corbin welcoming guests. Governor Hearnes spoke at Bloomfield, after which a tour was made of that city.

Barney Miller, of Dexter, was general chairman of the event, with other dedication officials as follows: Dexter, Melvin Gainer, Joe Weber, W. L. Arnold and Lehman Godwin. In Bloomfield, Alvin Corbin, John Davis, William Fulkerson and J. C. Newcomer. Representative Tom Baker introduced the honored guests in both cities.

Other officials present for the dedication were W. D. Carney, district engineer at Sikeston; A. C. Cato, project engineer on highway 25 improvement; A. C. Riley, of the highway commission, New Madrid; D. L. Harrison, contractor and representing the general contractor, Potashnick Construction, Inc., Lige McLaughlin, of the highway department, and George Dawes, council for district 10, Missouri State highway.

Dr. Caldwell Named Finance Chairman

HAYTI -- Dr. J. D. Caldwell has been selected as Hayti chairman of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout council finance campaign, according to Horace Dunagan of Caruthersville, campaign chairman for this district.

Dr. Caldwell is now organizing and preparing for the campaign to be "kicked off" soon.

Thirty-eight communities in a nine-county area of the Cotton Boll Council will have a goal of $32,405.42 to raise. Ten of these communities will secure the funds through federated fund raising. The money secured for operation is retained for use within the council jurisdiction and is used for major council services which include helping organize new scout troops, training leaders, providing campign facilities, and providing program resources.

Wilson Edge Back Now to Two Votes

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's majority in the House of Commons was back to two votes today. Labor party candidate James Wellbeloved won a special election in the Erith District Thursday night.

The district is considered a safe Labor constituency. Wellbeloved got 21,835 votes, Conservative David Madel, got 11,763 and Liberal Stanley Vince trailed with 2,823.

Norman Dodds, who had held the seat for Labor since World War II, died in August.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Children's Fund (UNICEF) will use its $51,788 Nobel Peace Prize money for a scholarship or fellowship in memory of its first executive director, the late Maurice Pate, informed sources said today.

Pate, a former American financier, served as UNICEF's chief for 17 years until his death of a heart attack Jan. 19.

AVIGNON, France (AP) — Paul and Madeleine Barrier decided to give romance another try today. They were remarried in city hall less than a year after they got a divorce.

The bride and groom had a little trouble hearing during the civil ceremony. He is 85. She is 76.

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet President Anastas Mikoyan and Premier Alexei Kosygin sent a message to Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia congratulating him on Cambodia's Independence Day, Pravda said today.

Scouts to Sell Yule Trimmings

CHARLESTON -- Cadette Girl Scout Troop 56 will have a sale of Christmas decorations in the Sears - Roebuck store Dec. 4, starting at 8:30 a.m. There will be a wide variety of unusual decorations for Christmas trees, which will especially appeal to children, according to Mrs. Charles Fowlkes, troop leader.

The money raised will be used to finance a four-day Heritage Trail trip by members of the troop. The trip, next August, is sponsored by the Cotton Boll and Otaki Councils.

Freeman Takes Hospital Post

HAYTI--The board of trustees of the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital announce that Gerald R. Freeman of Union City, Tenn., has been named assistant administrator of the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital.

Freeman's appointment met with the unanimous approval of the hospital board at a special called meeting November 2, 1965.

Freeman began his work in general hospitals upon his enlistment in the U. S. Navy in 1952. He is a graduate of the U. S. Naval Hospital Corps school, Portsmouth, Virginia. After his graduation, he was assigned to the naval hospital at Millington, where he served until his discharge in 1954.

Following his return from military service, Freeman was employed at the Obion County General Hospital in the surgical department. He later was promoted to administrative assistant, a post he held until he became business manager of the Doctor's Clinic in 1958. During his four years of employment at the Obion County Hospital he attended Bruce Business college at Martin and completed the prescribed requirements in business administration.

The Board of Trustees feels that the hospital is most fortunate to secure a person with Mr. Freeman's wide experience in the medical field. As assistant administrator to C. J. Grewe, the hospital's present administrator, he will supervise all departments in their rapid expansion and coordinate their functions with other phases of patient care. In addition to these duties, all personnel will be organized and administered through his and Mr. Grewe's offices.

During the past three years as assistant administrator at Obion County General Hospital, Mr. Freeman has been active in civic affairs, serving as treasurer of the Civitan club, secretary-treasurer of the Union City Civic Bowling league and later president of the organization. For the past few years he has been manager of teams in Little League Baseball.

Freeman is married to the former Faye Tansil. They have three children.

"Unlucky 13"

Origin of the expression, "Unlucky 13," is obscure but the most plausible derivation is in the 12 apostles and Christ at the Last Supper—totaling 13.

Boyd Named To Hospital Board

HAYTI -- According to Harold S. Jones County Clerk the County Court appointed Julian Boyd a member of the county hospital board Nov. 1.

Boyd will take the place of Harold Robinson, a member of the Board who died two weeks ago.

Boyd is a graduate of the University of Missouri and was an active member of the Missouri Tiger football team during his studies at the University. Mr. Boyd lives on U. S. Highway 61 South of Hayti with his wife, the former Marilyn Mehrle and three sons and daughter.

Boyd has been farming since graduating from college.

Recreational Group Named

CHARLESTON -- A Mississippi County Recreational Committee of 11 members has been named by the county court for the purpose of developing the recreational facilities of the county.

Those named include: L. D. Davis Jr., Hunt Wellborn and Sam Jones of East Prairie, A. J. Drinkwater Jr., Marion Waggener, Art Wallhausen Sr., R. Q. Brown, Mike Morris, Urcil Anderson, T. J. Brown Jr., and Wendell Choate of Charleston.

The committee is instructed to "meet, look over the county and make suggestions to the Conservation Commission which would be advantageous to sportsmen and the general public."

The letter over the signature of W. H. Winchester Jr. presiding judge, concludes: "The County Court is available at all times to work with you in any way."

A firth is a deep, narrow arm of the sea. This term is used mostly in Scotland.

County Costs on Rise

CHARLESTON -- Cost of maintaining the normal functions of Mississippi County government have gone up.

Changes in certain pay scales voted by the last session of the Missouri Legislature are in effect according to recently received statutes from State Auditor Haskell Holman.

THE PROSECUTING attorney will receive a pay boost amounting to $2,600 per year.

The county clerk will be paid an additional $500 per year for the year 1965 and 1966 for performing certain additional duties. After 1966 the pay scale reverts to its original level.

Mileage allowances for investigation were increased from $100 to $200 per month for the sheriff and deputy sheriff.

In addition, an optional raise was voted for the Circuit Judge amounting to $3,000 per year, to be paid equally by the counties of Scott and Mississippi. The Legislature did not take into consideration differences in population, but provided that the raise be shared on a 50-50 basis. The county courts of Mississippi and Scott have this matter under advisement.

Finally, the Legislature provided for an increase of $100 per month for the Circuit Clerk and ex-officio recorder of deeds, but this increase will not become effective until the start of the next term in 1967.

Bishop Storms Walls Like Joshua Of Biblical Times

WICHITA, Kan. AP --Somewhat like Joshua of Biblical times, Church of God Bishop Bill Rogers stormed the walls of the Sedgwick County courthouse.

But unlike the walls of Jericho, the courthouse walls remained unmoved.

A handful of spectators watched as Rogers walked, jumped and ran around the courthouse seven times Thursday.

He concluded the tour by clenching his fists, leaping into the air, and shouting:

"America, look to the Lord and live."

Rogers, who said he is the Theocratic party candidate for president in 1968, said he is on a tour of the more than 3,000 courthouses in the United States with his message. Sedgwick County was No. 34 on his list, he said.

Rogers is from Fulton, Mo.

Charter Rotary Interact Club

POPLAR BLUFF -- A Rotary Interact Club was chartered Wednesday night in ceremonies at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Turquoise Room.

The youth club, first in Rotary District 609, was given its charter by Dr. Ben Saltzman, Rotarian of Mountain Home, Ark.

The Interact Club (International Action) is one of many such groups throughout the world trying to create better understanding and good will among the people of the world. Total membership in the clubs is about 25,000 boys.

Charter members of the local group are Galen Chadwick, president; vice-president, Pete May; secretary, John Wolpers; treasurer, Donald Marler; reporter, Peter Stokely; board of directors, Gary Miller, Ronnie Allen, David Rexroat, Timmy May.

Progress On Sewer And Industry

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Mayor B. F. Rogers said this week that progress is being made in two important areas, the sewer project and getting a new industry for the city.

The mayor said Tuesday that it is too early to make any official statements or to name the firm considering this city for a new plant but went on to add that the prospect does look good.

He stated that another contact has been made with the firm and they have indicated they are pleased with the community. The mayor said he feels a decision may come soon after the first of the year.

While details are not available now, it has been reported that the firm would occupy the old Brown Shoe building and would employ about 150 persons or more.

As to the sewer project, the mayor said progress is being made on the drafting of the final working design. The planning is 75 days into the 200 day period allowed for getting the plans completed and returned to the federal agency involved.

The plans are being prepared by a Baton Rouge, La., engineering firm. The city has already passed a $450,000 bond issue and is attempting to get federal funds to provide for the rest of the $900,000 project.

Debate Team Finishes Third

CHARLESTON -- The CHS debate team finished third out of 50 debate teams in the University of Missouri Lab School regular debate tournament last Saturday.

Debate teams representing some 27 schools throughout the state participated in the tournament.

It was the first performance by Charleston High School at a statewide debate tournament.

The CHS team was composed of Tom Brown and Jack Burke, CHS sophomores. Burke and Brown had a 5-1 record. They debated both sides of the question on compulsory arbitration of labor disputes.

The CHS team beat West Plains, Marshall, Mount Vernon, Columbia Hickman, Ozark and lost in the semi-finals to St. Paul's College High School of Concordia.

Hearnes Will Call Parley On Power

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes expects to call a conference soon of representatives of Missouri public utilities and power co-operatives to discuss ways the state can avoid a power blackout such as enveloped the Northeast Tuesday night.

The governor discussed the situation Wednesday with Tyre W. Burton, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission and it was agreed that the conference would be justified.

Since both public utilities and co-operatives are connected in an interlocking system, it was thought all should be represented at the conference.

Formal announcement of the plans for the meeting are expected to be made Friday.

Woman of Year Event of Charleston

CHARLESTON -- The Charleston Business and Professional Women have announced they will sponsor an "Outstanding Woman of the Year" award next year, with the help of Charleston clubs.

Each club in the city will be asked to submit nominees, according to Mrs. E. R. Putnam Jr., chairman of the BPW Club general arrangements committee.

Mrs. Putnam said clubs will be asked to nominate a citizen of Charleston, who has given unselfishly of her time and talents to improve her community. Letters of nomination must include complete information about a candidate's background, activities, and accomplishments, and should be mailed to Mrs. Putnam at P. O. Box 367 before May 31, 1966.

THE AWARDS banquet will be held in October of next year, with the exact date to be announced. The committee plans to have an outstanding speaker on hand for this affair.

Council Gets Document

VATICAN CITY AP -- The Vatican Ecumenical Council received today a drastically revised modern world problems document that totally condemns modern war and denounces deterrent policies based on nuclear weapons.

A number of American bishops were reported deeply disturbed at the wording of the new text, complaining privately that they felt it would weigh heavily against the U. S. government's defense strategy.

In the view of these bishops the Soviet government can much more easily ignore any council statement than Washington can.

Other bishops, who had opposed an earlier version of the document, expressed satisfaction with the rewording, which eliminates a statement that the possession of nuclear arms as a defensive deterrent is not illegitimate.

The reference accepting a nuclear deterrent had been put in the document at the urging of American bishops. Its passage caused such a storm of criticism during debate in the council last month that a drafting commission undertook the drastic rewriting.

In 1917, five years after the death of his father-in-law, he and his wife purchased his house from five heirs. Dr. Smith still lives there at 188 Tanner.

He said that when he first moved to Sikeston, the house was the only one in the block and Applegates kept two deer in the lot, which was enclosed by a fence.

Dr. Smith attended Central College in Fayette for two years before going to Washington University. He completed his training in St. Louis, in March of 1900.

Before he retired, he moved across the street from his first dental office into a building at 112 North New Madrid, which was built by his father-in-law. He ended his practice there.

interim appointee and seek the office himself.

Byrd's departure from the Senate will deliver the chairmanship of the powerful Senate Finance Committee into the hands of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.

Byrd's retirement casts some doubt on the future of the Senate-House committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, which keeps tabs on the rise and fall of federal payrolls and is supposed to point out where government economies can be made.

Byrd has served as chairman of the group since it was created, including periods when the Republicans have controlled the Senate.

"There are a few colleges of this nature in existence and several are in the planning stages now," Twitty said. "Colleges of this nature are possible due to junior college legislation enacted a few years ago by the Missouri Generaly Assembly."

Twitty said that the plan for the redistricting of the high schools in the county will be submitted to the state as "soon as possible."

This plan is for two districts, one north and one south. Sikeston and Scott Central would make up the southern district.

The plan has been approved by the county board of education.

Twitty expressed concern over "What we need more, however, is better pay for teachers," he said. "If we can get better pay, it would create competition which is always good."

A similar view was expressed by Pader Hogue, chief flight safety engineer for Boeing. "I think it's a fine airplane and recent unfortunate experiences are in my opinion unrelated," he declared.

The survival of the pilot and other crew members provided an opportunity for investigators to obtain first-hand expert opinion on the cause.

Mrs. Lyndon R. Day of Arlington, Va., a passenger who escaped, said:

"I heard a loud thud. I knew we had made a crash landing. There were flames on the outside of the plane on both sides. I scrambled through a door on to a wing and dived to the ground."

Another passenger, Ralph S. Nesbitt of Santa Monica, Calif., told interviewers:

"We had a hard bump, started swerving from side to side and flames broke out from the rear. People were thrown all over the place. It was horrible. The heat was terrible."

Nesbitt said he dived through an open window on to a wing and then dropped to safety through a sheet of flame.

Mamie Will Be 69 Sunday

AUGUSTA, Ga. AP -- Sunday will be Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower's 69th birthday.

Realization of the fact today brought a broad smile to the face of her son, John, erasing traces of weariness.

"Are there any plans for your mother's birthday Sunday?", he was asked.

Looking startled, he broke into a smile, and replied:

"No we haven't had a chance to give it any thought, but we will certainly have to. I'm glad you brought it up," he told a reporter.

In constant attendance at the bedside of her ailing husband, Mrs. Eisenhower is expected to mark the occasion quietly.

Viet Cong Agents Lure Aid To Death

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) --Two apparent Viet Cong agents who posed as his friend led a young American aid employe to his death today in a Viet Cong ambush, U.S. officials said.

The victim was Peter Hunting, 24, of Oklahoma City, Okla. He was shot through the head five times while driving in the Mekong delta south of Saigon, a spokesman said.

Two Vietnamese who were with Hunting were apparently unharmed and were believed to have joined the Viet Cong.

Hunting was a regional supervisor for the International Voluntary Service.

Hunting's civilian vehicle was peppered with bullets. Members of a military convoy that he had passed five minutes earlier said they found his bullet - riddled body on the ground.

After shooting Hunting through the head, the Viet Cong fired 10 more bullets into his body, they said.

Hunting had departed with the two Vietnamese from the delta city of Vinh Long. They were on their way to Can Tho, 20 miles away and about 10 miles south of Saigon.

Earlier reports had said that he was killed when a mine exploded under the vehicle, but this was erroneous, the spokesman said.

The guerrillas opened fire on the convoy, but quickly broke contact when the troops returned the fire.

Bootheel Troopers At Chief's Rites

POPLAR BLUFF -- Funeral services for Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, who died of a heart attack in Poplar Bluff Wednesday were at 1:30 p.m. today in the Jefferson City Methodist Church. Burial was in Riverview Cemetery there.

Honorary pallbearers from Troop E, comprising a 14-county Southeast Missouri area, were Capt. O. L. Wallis, Lt. E. F. Dampf, Lt. E. B. Burnum, all of Poplar Bluff, and Sgt. Raymond Hollmann, Fredericktown, a member of the 1937 Highway Patrol class of which Colonel Waggoner was a member.

U.S. Races Against Time To Sustain Viet Morale

BY RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) The United States is racing against time in South Viet Nam.

Unless the big influx of U.S. troops, weapons, airplanes and helicopters—and the round-the-clock U.S. raids—bring some clear improvement in the situation of the people within a year, the morale of the South Vietnamese government, the South Vietnamese army and many Vietnamese people will begin to sag.

There may even be some problems in U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

This is the personal opinion of some U.S. military, economic and political observers just back from the war.

MORALE IS HIGH NOW. The Vietnamese army has taken on a new spirit as a result of the optimism (and hope) brought by the landing of the U.S. Army forces and by U.S. ground, air and Navy offensives. The Vietnamese are showing a dash and a will to win that's inspiring.

Last fall and early this year the South Vietnamese political-military situation was sliding downhill.

The slide has leveled off and things are just now beginning to turn up.

But the next 12 months are crucial.

To make the gains needed in the next year to prevent a morale drop in South Viet Nam will be a tight squeeze.

U.S. MILITARY STRATEGISTS place high hopes in the repetitive blasting of the major Viet Cong secret bases with B-52s, followed by infantry sweeps. These bases serve as command, training, rest and supply centers of the Viet Cong.

The U.S. theory is that sooner or later the V.C. will have to defend these bases (and hopefully be clobbered in the process) or lose their ability to mount sizable, effective mainline forces in the field.

But it's estimated it will take six months to get this tactic really moving and another six months before it has an important impact.

The B-52 raids on the secret bases look highly promising. They upset Red timetables and do damage. But the real payoff will come when the raids are consistently followed immediately by heavy infantry sweeps that destroy all Red supplies, radio communications, food stores, arms caches.

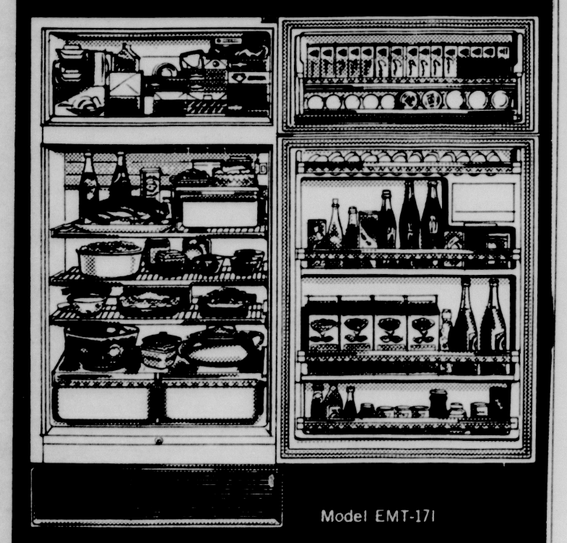

BUT THAT'S JUST THE STARTER. Destroying one base or two bases or a half dozen will not be the clincher. It won't even be enough to destroy every base in South Viet Nam—just once. The V.C. will just move back in and set up shop again or set up new bases elsewhere. The old bases and the new ones will have to be pounded again and again as soon as they are set up, so that the Communist mainline armies will have no place to organize, train, rest, recuperate and reform after battles—and no stable command headquarters or supply depots.

But six months to get this secret base destruction tactic really moving and six months after that before it will have an important impact adds up to one conclusion.

It means, at the best, that it may be a year before there is any major change in the situation in South Viet Nam.

Bertrand News

By Mrs. Florence Fenimore

It's 12:30 Sat. night. I'm watching the late show, "Salome". It's wonderful. King Nero of Egypt is on the throne, several maids in waiting with long white flowing robes of course white covering their eyes. Marlene Detritch is one lovely maiden.

Subject of church lesson Sun. was Sampson misusing God's gift, author Howard Keeler. Can Sampson be made whole again. You know he slew Absolum his son and hung him in a tree. Or do we bemoan their sad plight and forget all about them; the churches of Jesus Christ were established like Sampson. A verse I remember "He who is slow to anger is better than mighty; he who rules his spirit is as he who takes a city." Sampson disobeyed God's trust.

I was always taught to count to ten to hold my temper. They got a black ape in this picture.

Mr. LeGrand from Chaffee wife came to see him last Sun. Belle Green's daughter came and took her riding Sat. afternoon. Aunt Kate Gullion's daughter came and had supper with her mother Friday night. Mrs. Frey's son came to see her Sat. noon. Mr. Brown is in bed. His son comes often. So does Mr. McCoy come see his mother.

I see Hollywood, Calif., had a big fire. Steve McQueen, Rory Calhoun, there the hire girl barely escaped with their lives. FBI investigating fire. Fire burnt a whole block. I see Sikeston reporter withdrew his complaint firemen doused water on him. A small fire burnt a 5 year old child. The father and mother got the other child out, failed to notice the little 5 year old girl wasn't along. Said father came home from work and built a big fire. Said stove must exploded caught around defective flue. FBI investigating two children suing airline co. for $200,000 for loss of their father and mother. Said all 39 perished, but all bodies found.

This is Halloween night. Bridget Syre brought her 3 children out all dressed up spookie. PTA had a halloween party at Bertrand school Sat. night.

We are to have a civic center in Sikeston, Mo., to seat from 500 to 1,000 people. I bought tickets to Little Theatre and Community Concert first show to be Wed. night at Sikeston high school.

Elva Gaty and Alma Schwab came to see me Sat. afternoon. Mrs. Clark Holmes came to see me and her mother, Mrs. Hawkins in Room 11. She broke her hip. Suzie Byrne and Mrs. Galigher come often.

Willette Thomas will take me to Bertrand to Church Sunday. I see they are tightening security risks in Siagon. I heard white house might get attack thrown guards all around it. Linda Byrd Johnson was in Queen's contest. She and fiance flew to Texas to ask permission to marry. Johnsons' he's chasing a bulle. He owns kings ranch.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I have a problem and since you caused it I hope you will straighten it out.

My husband passed away five months ago. This may sound terrible, but his death freed me from a living hell. We never had any children because he didn't want any. For 11 years I put up with his lying, drinking, gambling and abusive language. On three separate occasions he brought women home to spend the night. I was quietly making plans to leave him when he was killed in an accident.

A long-time friend who lost his wife two years ago has asked me to marry him. I have said yes. He is a fine person and I want to be a mother to his two little girls.

Now the trouble. I asked my clergyman how long it was proper for a widow to wait before she remarries. He said "At least one year." Then I wrote you. Your reply was, "It's how you feel that counts."

Well, Ann, I feel like getting married tomorrow. Who is right, you or the clergyman? -- DILEMMA

Dear Dil: People who go around collecting opinions should be prepared for a variety of answers. The "wait a year" custom is well and good if a widow wishes to pay real respect to her deceased husband. But why pay respect to 11 years of hell?

Dear Ann Landers: I got married three months ago and already I am writing to Ann Landers. I think this is a bad sign.

Before I married Adelle she told me her mother would always come first in her life, no matter what. Well, she is proving it.

My father-in-law's business takes him out of town every three weeks for two days. Adelle goes to sleep with her mother whenever her father is out of town and I am left alone. I don't like this a bit and I have said so, but I might as well talk to the fire hydrant. Where do I stand? -- HOUSTON

Dear Houston: You stand second to your mother-in-law, which is exactly where Adelle told you you stood before you married her. So why are you surprised?

Buy a daybed for your mother-in-law and put it in the living room or the kitchen. Then nobody will be alone.

Dear Ann Landers: I didn't like your answer to "Crisis In Suburbia." A mother wanted to know if her sons were entitled to an increase in allowance because their father received a promotion and a pay raise. You said, "Yes -- provided they take on extra chores and earn the increase."

I am a grandfather who is appalled at what is happening to the younger generation. I think it's disgraceful to pay children for doing what they SHOULD do. After all, they are a part of the family so why shouldn't they pitch in? Paying children for every little thing makes me sick. I say kids should help around the house because they live in the house and eat and sleep there. That's reason enough. -- THREE SCORE AND TEN

Dear Three Score: Sorry, but the days are gone when you can give a kid a nickel and say, "Go have a good time." Children ought to have a little money to spend and to save.

Most kids today get an allowance for tying up the bathroom and hogging the telephone. I'm in favor of teaching children that there is some relationship between work and rewards. This can best be achieved by assigning specific chores and making it clear that the allowance is payment.

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FARM-CITY

Agri-business... is your business

FARM-CITY WEEK is being observed in Missouri and across the nation November 19-25. The observance focuses special attention during the week on promoting better rural-urban understanding, an effort encouraged throughout the year. The current year's theme is "Agribusiness in Your Business." The interlocking horns of plenty in the illustration bring out the benefits to farm and city people resulting from a mutual understanding of the problems and efforts of one another.

BOOKBAGS

Two German physicians warn that youngsters may develop poor posture because of the way they carry their school books.

Five to 15 pounds of books stuffed into a briefcase which is held in the same hand all the time may eventually cause the shoulder on that side to slip lower than the other. Or it may cause the spine to deviate from its normal position.

What to do about it? Carry the books in a knapsack. Or divide the books into two piles, carrying approximately the same weight in each hand.

HEALING TOUCH

Take a hint from the nursing profession and learn the magic touch. Think what happens to a crying infant when you rub his tummy or pat his back gently. His body relaxes as you show love through touch.

Or how comforting an understanding squeeze of the hand can be to a husband waiting to hear the results of a physicial exam.

Or the compassion communicated to bedridden elderly person when you put your arm gently under his shoulder to rearrange a pillow. . .

Touch is a magical language when used with grace and understanding.

V. D. ON THE RISE

Health department officials here are urging parents to teach their children the facts of life early -- before they reach their teens. They report that more than half the people reporting to the department with venereal diseases are between the ages of 15 and 25.

Officials note that they come from good homes and pleasant neighborhoods as well as slums, and that they all have one thing in common -- ignorance about sex.

The department says: "Young people today do not know enough about how syphilis and gonorrhea are spread. Most of some 600 teenagers questioned said they had received their sex information -- or misinformation -- from other youngsters or 'Gutter sources'."

The American Medical Association notes that the problem is national in scope. They report that in the last five years the incidence of syphilis among people under 20 has risen nearly 200 per cent, and that more than a million Americans a year are contracting venereal diseases. The AMA calls it the nation's "most urgent and baffling communicable disease problem."

Parents who feel inadequate to educating their children about these diseases are counseled to ask help from physicians, clergymen, or local educators.

1,260 In Malaysia as Infiltrators

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) —The home affairs minister says that 1,260 persons have been detained during the past three years under this country's internal security law. He said nearly half of them were Indonesian infiltrators.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) —New Jersey motorists who don't insure their cars will be required to pay a $25 annual penalty starting June 1. The penalty will be levied in addition to regular registration fees. The penalty is now $15.

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP) —An Anniston father's enthusiasm over his son's enlistment in the Air force had to be squelched, a recruiter says. The recruiter said the father, who was unidentified, decided to follow suit and join up, too, but was rejected. Dad is 51.

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — A Newton policeman was checking licenses of drivers recently. After looking at one license he handed it back and said: "Sir, if you'll sign this license, it will be valid." The flabbergasted driver was Vern Miller, the sheriff of Sedgwick County.

BOULDER, Colo. AP — Shirley Platt planned to send two Christmas parcels to her son in Viet Nam. Instead she is sending them to survivors of his squad. She has received word that Sgt. Gary W. Platt, 22, Nederland, had been killed while leading a squad in a search and destroy mission in the An Khe area.

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP) — Dr. Rogert Wells Youngs, senior minister of the First Presbyterian church of Wichita, Kan., has been named president of the new Whitson College of Artesia. Whitson is to be a four-year liberal arts college and expects to open in September 1966.

Richards Will Survive Shots And Beating

MATTHEWS -- The condition of R. L. Richards, who has been a patient at Methodist Hospital in Memphis, after being shot and beaten by an escaped convict, is reported to be improved. His doctors have told his family that he will live though the chances of saving an eye are slight.

Mrs. Wallace Godwin was admitted last week to Missouri Delta hospital as a patient. Mrs. W. W. McCoy is a patient at a Columbia hospital. Mrs. R. M. Vann was admitted as a patient Monday at St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Moore of Casper, Wyo., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore and Lester King and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelso and daughter, Eva, accompanied home Mrs. Clara Lumert, and Misses Alice and Frankie Deane, Sunday. They visited in St. Louis with them while the Misses Deane were attending the state teachers meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Richards have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Zimmer. Mr. Zimmer, who has been the Frisco depot agent since 1929, retired this year.

Mrs. C. O. Hawkins spent last Tuesday in Golconda, Ill., where she attended a funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Cleaver and daughter, Miss Helen, of Cape Girardeau visited here Sunday.

The Christian Women's Fellowship will meet Nov. 18, with Mrs. Carl Romines.

The Community club will meet at the Community Center Wednesday.

The Matthews R-V Parent Teachers Association will meet in the cafeteria Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gaines of Fulton spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed. Fred Story and Willis Rogers, students at Missouri University at Columbia, accompanied them and spent the weekend with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Yates visited during the weekend with his mother at Auxvasse.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester King and daughter, Brenda, visited during the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne King and son, Kerry Wayne, at Wapella, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Conrad and son, Charles; Mr. and Mrs. Joel Buchanan, son, Joe and daughter, Linda, were among those attending engineer's day Saturday at Missouri University at Rolla.

FLAVORFUL ONIONS SERVE A PRINCESS

For most of us, the excellent flavor that onions impart to any menu is reward enough for the peeling.

But one legend tells of a princess who couldn't marry because she couldn't cry. She solved her problem by peeling onions, and was rewarded by living happily ever after with her Prince Charming.

Although you may not win your Prince Charming this way, you'll certainly be rewarded with his praises if you spice your meals with plenty of tasty onions.

And there are abundant supplies of this versatile vegetable headed to Midwest markets during November, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Both the sweet Spanish types, used in salads and sandwiches, and Globe types, used for cooking, will be in plentiful supply as a record sized crop is forecast.

Take advantage of this abundance by using onions often in your menu plans. For a real palate pleaser, here is a tempting treat from USDA:

CRUNCHY GLAZED ONIONS -- Use 1½ pounds small, white peeled onions; 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons brown sugar; 1-3 cup roasted diced almonds. Cook onions in boiling water until fork tender, about 25 minutes, then drain well. In saucepan, combine butter, brown sugar and almonds. Cook, stirring occasionally, until butter and sugar are melted. Add onions and heat thoroughly, turning onions to coat with glaze. Serves 5-6.

Elect Directors Of Foundation

LOS ANGELES AP -- Election of four directors of the Sigma-Delta Chi foundation was announced today at a brief business session of the professional journalistic society.

Elected Wednesday at a society director's session were: Ralph Sewell, assistant managing editor of the Daily Oklahoman and Times, Oklahoma City, Okla.; R. L. Spangler, publisher of the Redwood City, Calif., Tribune; Frank Angelo, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press; and Richard P. Kleeman, educator editor, Minneapolis Tribune.

Among those certified today to serve on the seven-member board was Dr. Warren Agee, dean of the University of Kansas School of Journalism.

#3 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area

Saluting: First Methodist Church

Sikeston, Mo.

Approaching one hundred years of service. . . . Reverend L. F. Aspley, with the assistance of Mrs. Catherine Stallcup Sikes Handy, organized the church and a union Sunday School in 1867, in an abandoned freight car.

In 1873, Mr. Reese G. Applegate organized the first Methodist Sunday School. The services were held in a two story school building on the site of old South Grade School. Mr. Applegate served as Sunday School Superintendent for forty years, until 1913.

Three Houses of Worship. . . .

The first sanctuary was built in 1879 on the Northeast corner of Front and Stoddard Streets. The second building, erected in 1891, was located on the corner of New Madrid and Center Streets. The present sanctuary was erected in 1911 and dedicated December 3, 1916.

The educational wing of the church was erected in 1951. In recent years the parish house, just north of the educational building, was secured for a youth center and more recently the area north of the parish house has been blacktopped for youth recreation and parking area.

Present church officiary includes: Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, Rev. Willard Spencer, and Rev. Jno. Ensor, pastors; and Mr. Bob L. Matthews, chairman of the Official Board.

The reality of the church cannot be captured in dates or buildings or even in leaders. The reality that is the church appears in the continuing community of faithful who have witnessed across the years and continue in the present to witness to God's Grace in Jesus Christ, in this city. The present membership is committed to the continuation of this ministry.

Cafes Short Of Chefs

NEW YORK (AP) — A shortage of chefs is giving a new twist to the restaurant business across the United States.

The pancakes you have for breakfast in a restaurant, the shrimpburger lunch, the cocktail party hors d'oeuvres, and the beef stroganoff dinner probably come out of a box.

Restaurants, faced with a labor shortage, limited space and mounting costs, are turning to packaged mixes and frozen foods. So are hospitals, schools, airlines and ships.

One major restaurant school had 3,000 more job offers than it had graduates last year.

The number of restaurants has been increasing. There are 378,460 commercial restaurants in the country, 6,170 more than last year. The biggest gain has been in quick-service facilities.

At a recent frozen food show in New York, the emphasis was on institution-size packages, for restaurants and others.

There were breaded and glazed ready-to-cook "gourmet filets," shrimp, scallops, 10-pound bags of eggs, and pastry dough.

"The biggest obstacle in selling frozen entres to the institutional trade is the matter of the chef's ego," said a spokesman for a restaurant chain.

He suggested that chefs who like to tend their own sauces might look more favorably on something that required partial preparation in their own kitchens.

But Davis V. Whitley of Chicago, newly elected president of the National Association of Food Packers, has found no such resistance.

"The old notion of the chef wanting to keep his finger in the pie is dissipating," he said.

Whitley said the institutional market had become the fastest growing segment of the $5-billion annual frozen food business, and now amounted to nearly one-third of all frozen food sales.

Stouffer Food Corp. opened three restaurants this year with 40 per cent less kitchen space than normal.

"This was possible because of the use of prepared convenience foods," said James Biggar, the company's marketing vice president. "Two years ago, Stouffer would not have considered use of frozen prepared foods in its own restaurants."

GOLDEN AGE OF CABBAGE

The Golden Age of cabbage would surely seem to have been in ancient Egypt, when it was placed on an altar, and worshiped as a god.

Or during the Roman era, when it was described as "surpassing all other vegetables: It may be eaten cooked or raw, and if you dip it into vinegar, it promotes digestion marvelously."

Although both the ancient Romans and Egyptians appreciated cabbage, the Golden age of this nutritious vegetable must certainly be right now, when supplies are extremely plentiful, and homemakers can use it in many ways to please their families.

It is rich in vitamin C, thiamine, iron and folic acid; low in calories; and versatile beyond belief. As sauerkraut, in salads, or featured as an entree, cabbage stands out as one of our most important vegetables.

For a change of pace in serving cabbage, here's a handy recipe for your family's enjoyment from the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

RED CABBAGE DUTCH STYLE: Use ½ cup chopped onion; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 3 cups shredded raw cabbage; 1 cup diced apples; 3 whole cloves; 1¼ teaspoon ground black pepper; 1 teaspoon wine vinegar; ½ cup stock. To prepare, saute onion in butter or margarine until they are limp and transparent. Add cabbage, apples, cloves, salt, black pepper, wine vinegar and stock. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Serve hot.

The film of cobwebs seen floating in the air on calm clear days is known as gossamer.

Red Antiaircraft Guns Take Toll

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air attacks on Soviet-built missile sites in North Viet Nam have been sharply stepped up, but the Reds' conventional antiaircraft guns have taken the heaviest toll of attacking American planes.

Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers have destroyed or damaged seven surface-to-air installations in the past week and 10 since the beginning of the month. Only three SAM sites were hit between the end of July and November.

Seven planes, including rescue aircraft, were lost in attacks on missile installations last weekend, but only one was downed by a missile. The others were hit by conventional ground fire.

"It's a risky business," said a U.S. military spokesman. "The concentration of flak aimed at our planes is as heavy as, if not heavier than, any in World War II."

Missiles are one of the Communists' most potentially dangerous weapons, but their success seems to have been relatively limited. Of the more than 140 planes lost since U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam began, only seven are known to have been shot down by missiles.

Much of the credit is due the American pilots who have coped from the beginning with the missile threat. They have developed tactics to minimize the danger from the SAMs.

Pilots returning from raids against missile installations have reported being fired on by the SAMs. But some of the assaults have been carried out with great speed — one took only 90 seconds. Pilots say the Communists may not have had time to launch the complex projectiles with any degree of accuracy.

On the other hand, all the SAM installations are heavily protected by automatic weapons and antiaircraft guns which can produce withering fire in seconds.

All except two of the 13 sites hit so far were mobile installations. These can be erected and dismantled within a day.

Informed sources have said that as many as 30 fixed SAM installations ring the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. There are indications that the number of portable facilities is much higher and that these are spread throughout much of the country.

Despite dangers involved in strikes against missile facilities, the United States has begun a concerted campaign to destroy as many of the sites as its pilots can find.

"There are plenty up there, so we expect to be busy for some time," said one military source.

Legislature Quits in Despair for Week

JEFFERSON CITY AP--Faced with a massive deadlock over House redistricting, the Missouri Legislature quit in despair today until next Wednesday.

House and Senate conferees met for an hour today trying to resolve the logjam but got no where.

Afterward Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, chariman of the Senate conferees, said it was apparent the House members would not agree to anything at all until the Senate passes a stopgap bill that would in effect let the House redistrict itself.

If the Senate does that, Waters said, it would clear the way for the House to scuttle the entire plan for a constitutional amendment.

Rep. Mel Carnahan, D-Phelps County, the House conference chairman, said there was no plan to scuttle the constitutional amendment.

On adjourning the Senate until 2 p.m. next Wednesday, Waters said "I hope by then something will have happended to break the logjam."

The legislature cannot meet Monday and Tuesday because the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation has pre - empted all available hotel rooms for its annual convention.

When the conferees met today, they were confronted with a compromise proposal by the Senate, offering to let the Supreme Court handle the House redistricting problem if a commission based on congressional district representation failed to do the job.

That was rejected by the House conferees.

Waters said the senators went a step further. They offered to set a "backup" system with a second commission being appointed to take another whack at the job if the first commission deadlocked.

This plan also was rejected.

Waters said it was indicated at the first session Tuesday night the House members would accept the Supreme Court compromise.

But today it was quickly apparent that "overnight their instructions had been changed and the only plan they would accept would be to let the redistricting be done by law if the commission failed to act."

The idea of letting the House have a hand in reapportioning itself is backed by Speaker Thomas D. Graham, D-Cole County, and the House majority and minority leaders. The commission system, with the governor appointing the commissioners, is sponsored by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

Baker Associate Loses Appeal

WASHINGTON AP -- Fred B. Black Jr., public relations man and one-time business associate of Bobby Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democrats, has lost in the U.S. Circuit Court his appeal from a 1964 conviction of income tax evasion.

Bert B. Rand, attorney for Black, said Wednesday's divided 2-1 ruling will be appealed further. Meantime, Black remained free on bond.

Black was convicted in 1964 of failing to report $140,087 of income items for 1956-1958, and was sentenced to a $10,000 fine and 15 months to four years in prison. The government's tax claim was $91,000.

Last month the Internal Revenue Service filed against him a tax lien of $340,429 for allegedly unpaid taxes for 1960 through 1964.

The two-judge court of appeals majority--Judges Carl McGowan and John A. Danaher--rejected Black's defense claim that the government failed to prove the money items at issue were not tax deductible expense items in his business, Blyco Corp., in Joplin Mo. Also turned down was Black's contention that his actions lacked sufficient criminal intent to justify conviction because he relied on a Blyco business agent to prepare his returns.

Danaher and McGowan said there was "no significant dispute" in the trial that Black received $140,087 more than he reported for taxes, and that he generally reported only those parts of income "where the government was known to be on notice" through tax forms filed by his clients.

"This is a recognizable pattern. . .which could have caused the jury reasonably to conclude that the act constituted a conscious and knowing deception," the opinion held.

As to the defense contention that Black relied on an agent for preparation of returns, the two judges found that Black was "quite the master of his own business' and agents did not have all the information necessary for filing returns.

The court said "it may be that some or all of Black's unreported receipts were not retained by him for his personal benefit in the ordinary sense. One engaged in his business has perhaps to face some delicate problems of identification and characterization in the itemization of expenses."

The court's dissenter, senior Judge Wilbur K. Miller, argued that the government's evidence "was so cloudy and proof of criminal intent. . .was so conspicuously absent that I am unable to join the majority."

He said the trial judge, John J. Sirica, should have directed a verdict of acquittal. He contended further that newspaper accounts of the case were "inflammatory" and Black's motion for a mistrial should have been granted on that ground.

Black was associated in some Washington ventures with Baker who quit his Senate post under fire after disclosure of outside business affairs by which he amassed a fortune.

From 1953 to 1962 the value added by manufacturing increased 73.3% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 41.5% in the non-right-to-work states. During the decade ending in 1965, the average weekly earnings of production workers increased 46.8% in the right-to-work states as compared with 42.8% in the non-right-to-work states. Between 1959 and 1964, personal income in the right-to-work states rose 32.5% as compared with 25.5% in the non-right-to-work states.

Unemployment for 1964 as the percentage of the total working force was 4% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 5% in the non-right-to-work states. During the years 1953-1964, bank deposits increased 69.4% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 63.5% in the non-right-to-work states. Most of these statistics appear in information issued by the Department of Commerce, the Department of the Treasury, and the Department of Labor.

RABBONI

IN AWE stood Magdalene apart
Before the empty tomb.
She wept and questioned in her heart
As in a quiet room,
"Why was He spurned and crucified,
His body stolen away?
Oh, when in anguished pain He died,
Why desecrate His clay?"
Not even hers the final grace
To gaze upon His holy face.
She heard a rush like wings of flame,
And there beside the door
A shining Presence called her name--
Her Lord appeared once more!
"Rabboni," turning, Mary cried;
He, smiling, looked ahead.
"Go tell the brethren," He replied--
H
He was alive, not dead!
And though She dared not touch His hand,
She spread the news through all the land.

Stars Argue Americans Or European Husbands

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Do American or European men make better husbands?

If you were Virna Lisi, Italian, beautiful with pale blonde hair and emerald eyes, you would favor the European male. But then, she is married to Italian builder Franco Pesci.

If you were Elke Sommer, ice-blonde with Germanic good looks, you would advocate the American man. Quite naturally, since she is wed to American journalist Joe Hyams.

The two stellar imports were given separate but equal opportunities to argue their beliefs one November day. They were working a block apart — Elke at Producers' Studio with Bob Hope in "Boy, Did I Get a Wrong Number!" and Virna at Paramount with Frank Sinatra in "Assault on a Queen."

"American men are more patient with their wives and more affectionate," Elke observed. "They are very glad when you let them be the boss, because they aren't used to that. In Europe, the husband is always the boss."

On the latter score, Virna agreed. She added: "Italian men are very possessive. In Italy it is difficult for a wife to work, or even to go shopping. Her husband wants to know where she is at all times.

"Naturally the system is better for the man. But women in Italy don't think anything about it. They have always lived that way, and in some respects it is good for them. They remain feminine. And it is very important for a woman to be a woman and not try to be the man."

Elke concluded: "It is bad when a woman tries to dominate the man. Men like femininity. In Europe there is more femininity."

Said Virna: "What happens between a man and a woman when they fall in love is something beautiful. That is why they get married. But in America the relationship can change after marriage. If the woman tries to take over the husband's role, they are no longer lovers. They become like brother and sister. That is bad."

Elke admitted that is bad, and she has a formula to avoid it: "A woman should be first a mistress to her husband, then a wife and mother, and finally, a housekeeper. If he wanted a woman who was only a housekeeper, he could go out and hire one."

Extinct bird

The dodo, a clumsy, flightless bird which once inhabited the islands of Mauritius and Reunion in the Indian Ocean together with a smaller bird called the solitaire, has been extinct since about 1680.

Flat River Wins Betterment Event

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Flat River copped the grand prize Wednesday night in the second annual Missouri community betterment awards competition.

It was the second time Flat River scored.

The Governor's Leadership awards, to individuals who contributed to the communities' progress, included:

William Bisbee of Lawson, Gene Bibb of Warsaw, George Light of Ridgeway, Dr. John Wanamaker of Rock Port; R.V. Williams Sr. of Keytesville, Mrs. Viola Blechle of Perryville, Dr. John Schmale of Fredericktown, V. E. Lewis of Annapolis, Miss Rachel Thornton of Carthage and Harrell Hall of Monett.

The Five Star Community Betterment award went to the city of Joplin.

The governor's Certificate of Merit was won by the cities of St. Louis, University City, St. Joseph and Independence.

The Beckoning Trails award, for decorative planting campaigns, went to the city of Perry and the unincorporated community of Grant Haven in St. Louis County.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who flew back from southeastern Missouri to attend the awards dinner, said everyone in every community should participate in community betterment.

"The accomplishment of this simple and yet important ingredient of progress will do more than any other single factor to create community pride," he said.

"When pride has been accomplished, confidence follows close on its heels and confidence gives birth to meaningful plans, assets with a purpose and accomplishments of lasting benefits."

Awards by population category:

Cities of more than 10,000 — Carthage, Kirkwood, Mexico and the Lafayette area of St. Louis County (suburban Ballwin, Ellisville, Manchester and Winchester).

5,000 to 10,000-Perryville, Monett, Nevada and Farmington.

2,500 to 5,000-Flat River, Butler, Eldorado Springs, Hermann.

1,000 to 2,000-Gallatin, Steelville, Concordia and Warsaw.

500 to 1,000 - Lawson, Keytesville, Stover, Mountain View.

up to 500—Gower, Ridgeway, Annapolis and Mill Spring.

As grand prize winner Flat River gets an award of $500 plus $700 as first prize winner in its population category. All categories under 10,000 population get cash prizes of $700 for first, $600 for second, $500 for third and $400 for fourth.

The money is furnished by private businesses or associations. The program is sponsored by the state Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

Bags Under Eyes Makes Men Irrestible to Women

LONDON AP -- What makes a man irrestible to women?

Bags under the eyes?

That's Judy Innes' answer, and Judy is a more than pretty, stylish writer for London's Daily Mail.

Saying that actor Rex Harrison is England's most attractive man, Miss Innes declared:

"Striving for scientific objectivity, I studied the Harrison features closely. And I think I've got it. It's the bags under his eyes."

"If you think about it, all the most attractive men have bags under their eyes. And this isn't -as you might suppose- the result of being irresistible to women. It's the cause of it."

Warming to her subject, she went on:

"Show me a man with a smooth unlined face, innocent of bags, and I'll show you a man without sex appeal."

"The reason why bags under the eyes have such a magnetic effect," said Miss Innes, "is that they suggest debauchery, late-night carousing, a glint of wordly wickedness. Which is exactly what every woman secretly finds irrestible."

Right-to-Work Statistics

THERE must be some advantage in the right-to-work laws which have been in force for 19 states. During the decade ending in 1963, the number of non-agricultural employees in the right to work states increased 23.3%, as compared with only 9% in the non-right - to - work states. During the decade ending in 1962 capital expenditures in the right-to-work states increased 37.1% as compared with 27.2% in the non-right-to-work states.

Dr. Kershner

During approximately the same period per capita personal income rose to 43.7% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 35.4% in the non-right-to-work states. During the same period the hourly earnings of manufacturing workers rose 46.7% in the right-to-work states as compared with 41.5% in the non-right-to-work states.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.

St. Mark 16:15

Clergymen are taking these words to heart today more than ever before, for they are practicing their ministry on trains, in airplanes or wherever they can reach people.

None has more zeal for "all the world" than Dr. James W. Kennedy. When he was rector of the historic Church of the Ascension in New York, he initiated and continued for five summers a sidewalk service each Sunday afternoon. He would make the trip each week from his summer house in Nantucket to conduct the 11 o'clock service and the sidewalk service. At 4:45, Sunday strollers along lower Fifth Avenue would be heralded by a trumpeter in front of the church. At times as many as 100 would gather to listen to Dr. Kennedy's outdoor short story hour. After a 10 minute story-sermon with a stirring message, Dr. Kennedy would invite the listeners into the church for "going home prayers." Many accepted his invitation. Dr. Kennedy explained that he was out there "to reach people the church doesn't normally reach." This he did.

Allen Wit, Legend

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The wit of Fred Allen, since his death nine years ago, has assumed somewhat legendary proportions. The famed "Fred Allen Show" with its Allen's Alley succumbed — to competition from a radio quiz show — almost 17 years ago.

But next Sunday mature television fans who now look back upon the golden years of radio with nostalgia and affection will have a chance to sample and assess the sharp-tongued brand of Allen humor.

The coffee company — Chase and Sanborn — that for so many years sponsored Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy on radio had such success a year ago replaying bits from some of those old shows, that it will try another 55 - minute radio special, this one recalling some of the brighter moments from Allen's programs. Bergen will act as host on the NBC radio network show -- 7:05 - 8 p.m. EST.

The ventriloquist whose high-voiced dummy Charlie had a radio identity as real as a person's looks back on the old days with great affection.

"You could do so many things on radio that are impossible on television," he mourned. "There could never have been a Charlie McCarthy on television. But Charlie on radio could do anything - go to town by himself, drive a car, visit the dentist. It all had a dream quality and the audience was there supplying the background in its imagination."

The forthcoming distillation of Allen's long and glorious radio career presented an enormous job of listening and selecting. Producer Carroll Carroll spent two weeks including weekends playing transcriptions made over an 18-year period.

Bergen and the producer were discussing details of the show the other day. Bergen looked almost sad.

"It's all so very different today," he said. "The whole business of comedy has changed — from 15 minutes of quality to quantity. We had a lot of very funny people around, from Charlie Chase to Charlie Chaplin and Laurel and Hardy. The last one of that breed is Red Skelton."

Recommended weekend viewing:

Saturday — "Hollywood Palace," ABC, 9:30-10:30 p.m. EST, with Judy Garland as hostess.

Sunday — "Defeat of the Armada," NBC, 6:30-7:30 p.m. EST, third in the "Of Men and Freedom" series, dealing with the 16th century English sea victory over the Spanish.

Cluster Of TV Specials

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Network television specials have a tendency to cluster around holidays —and with Thanksgiving in the offing, several are among up in the next seven days.

On Sunday there will be another in NBC's "Of Men and Freedom" series (6:30 - 7:30 p.m., EST.) This one deals with the English defeat of the Spanish armada in the 16th century.

"Sinatra," CBS News study of the performer, will occupy its late Tuesday night hour (10-11) --providing it is broadcast. Frank Sinatra's press agent recently announced the singer had withdrawn his permission to use material he had furnished for the special, but the network still has the show scheduled.

Acts from Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus will provide an NBC hour's entertainment for children on Thursday night (7:30-8:30). Later the same evening the network will present for adults a "Hall of Fame" adaptation of the stage play, "Inherit the Wind," with Melvyn Douglas and Ed Begley recreating the roles they played in the Broadway production (9:30-11).

Bob Hope will play the lead in a comedy drama, "Russian Roulette" on his Wednesday night NBC show (9-10). And Judy Garland will be hostess on Saturday night's "Hollywood Palace" on ABC (9:30-10:30).

Viet Nam Dead Top 1,000 Mark

WASHINGTON AP -- U. S. battle deaths in the Viet Nam conflict climbed over the 1,000 mark this week.

The Pentagon announced Thursday that the casualty reports received last Tuesday boosted the total deaths to 1,000 in the Viet Nam war since the first casualty Dec. 22, 1961.

The latest weekly summary of casualties, released Wednesday, showed total combat deaths at 987 through last Monday. The names of the men in Tuesday's death toll haven't been released.

McDonnell Strike Ends

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Striking machinists returned to their jobs Thursday night at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. and work on Phantom jet fighters and the Gemini space capsules resumed.

A four-day wildcat strike by about 17,000 members of the International Association of Machinists at the plant had halted production.

About 10,000 members voted overwhelmingly by voice vote Thursday to go back to work after they were told the International would authorize a strike Nov. 18 if a new contract is not accepted by midnight Nov. 17.

The Machinists had voted at midnight last Sunday when their contract expired. But, business agent George Heine told the workers he had granted a 10-day contract extension and the members shouted him down. Chief issues are wages and fringe benefits.

Unauthorized picket lines were established at midnight Sunday and by mid Monday morning, work on the Gemini spacecraft and phantom airplanes had halted.

New Pastor At Malden

MALDEN -- Rev. John Haskins will arrive Friday from Fort Branch, Ind., to assume his duties as the new pastor of the First General Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Haskins succeeds Rev. Billy Hamlett, who is now serving as pastor of the church in Gideon.

The new pastor will preach Sunday.

DELAYED ANSWERS

I think one gets glimpses in the Bible of what delayed answers to prayer may mean.

Moses, for instance-the answer to his prayer to enter the Promised Land was kept back for centuries until he stood there with Jesus Himself.

And Elijah - his prayer to die was refused, for the glory of the fiery chariot and the whirlwind was waiting for him.

It seems to be, as it is in arithmetic, that the figure carried forward becomes part of a higher power! Even if the answer is carried on out of the bounds of this life altogether, it is not thereby lost. "The powers of the world to come" are more than we know yet.

Cool, Hungry Children Might Have Longer Lives

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you knew you could prolong the youth of your children by keeping them cold and hungry, would you?

Playing it cool and cutting calories may be just the thing for living longer.

Two Baltimore scientists say it has worked in their experiments with rodents and rotifers. (Yeah, rotifers. You know, tiny water animals).

Why not people?

Well, for one thing, said the scientists, Drs. Charles H. Barrows and Nathan W. Shock, if you can read this you're too late to start the treatment.

"These experiments indicate that what happens to a person very early in life influences greatly what happens to him later in life," explained Dr. Shock.

The answer then, no doubt, is to run to the cradle and snatch away that bottle and blanket. Right?

Well, Dr. Barrows isn't too optimistic that it would work.

"It would be very difficult to get enough children whose parents would allow them to be fed only half of what all the other children are getting," he said. "They probably would be smaller, and the practical problems would be great."

Drs. Shock and Barrow told newsmen Thursday that their rats and rotifers, who had no choice but to cooperate, had lived up to twice as long as well-fed rats and warm rotifers. And they reported, they lengthened certain stages of the creatures' lives, including the reproductive period and old age.

"We regard this as an important finding because it means we may be able to do something biologically that will influence the period of old age," said Dr. Shock.

Dr. Barrows said that feeding rats one-third less than normal amounts extended their life span by 50 per cent.

The life of a rotifer was lengthened 100 per cent by either cutting down on the food or by reducing the temperature of the water in which they live.

Dr. Shock is chief of the gerontology branch of the National Heart Institute, Baltimore City Hospitals. Dr. Barrows heads the institute's section on nutritional biochemistry. They're in Los Angeles for a meeting of the gerontological society.

Q—When were presidential election returns first broadcast?

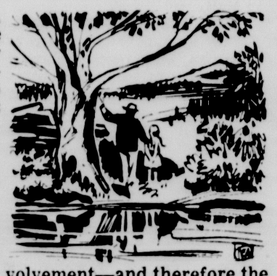

A—Nov. 2, 1920, when station KDKA, Pittsburgh, Pa., broadcast the results of the Harding-Cox election.

FINDING THE WAY

Stand and Be Counted

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When the American poet, Emily Dickinson, was a little girl, her father took her for a walk across the New England meadows. He pointed to the outcropping of the rocks and indicated their long history of formation. He gestured toward the hills, speaking of their antiquity. He was giving his daughter an understanding of the heritage of the years in the creation of this landscape. "What's new here?" he asked. To which little Emily quickly replied, "I am."

In the enormity of world problems and local dilemmas it's important that we keep this sense of the personal presence and responsibility. If the fight against poverty, ignorance, evil, hatred or crime seems as ancient as the hills, it's still imperative that some of us answer that we're around.

These problems seem so gargantuan that it's easy to take the advice of those commercials that tell us to "take a (pill) if you're upset." Sedatives are important but just now we need some people who are upset enough to involve themselves in the problem.

The appeal in most of our communities for the needs of social agencies is but one illustration of the problem. With the federal government pouring millions of dollars into the antipoverty struggle, many citizens are liable to think that the job is done. Yet citizen voluntarism and personal participation were never more needed.

The very bill which set up the complicated federal machinery talks of "maximum feasible participation." It refers to the whole citizenry, breaking through the artificial barriers. If citizens don't participate, local involvement—and therefore the whole program—fails.

The point to all of this is simply that there's truth in the comment of both father and daughter Dickinson. There's virtue in understanding the long road of history. There's additional virtue in understanding the importance of the present and accepting responsibility for it.

It's too easy to get lost in vague generalities, denying them by our actions. Like the man who said, "I love humanity; it's people that bug me." Our love of humanity needs to be tested every day in the struggles of the whole of our community.

The local agencies in our various communities can use all that we give them and the problem won't be solved. It will constitute a giant step. The federal government can encourage men and women in each community to develop personal initiative and yet that won't entirely solve the situation. There is the continuing need of seeing the possibility of continuing the struggle despite the long glacial history of prejudice, hatred and fear which on many occasions has stripped the community of dignity. We need people in every community who can respond with their resources and commitment of their energies. It echoes Emily's defiant statement, "I'm new here."

SHOW STOPPER—Heads turned whenever actress Diane Cilento, wife of actor Sean Connery, turned her back at the London premiere of a new movie, "The Agony and the Ecstasy." Miss Cilento's gown featured a modestly bare midriff in front and a very, very bare back. The actress, who has a leading role in the picture about Michelangelo, chats at right with the film's star, Charlton Heston.

Nine -year-old Stanley struck upon the idea of hiring his little brother as his servant. "I'll give you 10 cents a week," he said.

"OK," little Larry agreed.

Stanley then felt he'd offered too much money. "I can only pay 5 cents a week, after all" he said.

"OK," said Larry, just as cheerfully.

Thinking he could get the child for even less, Stanley said, "All I can pay is a penny a week."

"Well," OK," said Larry, but don't raise it any lower."

Today in U.S. History

Today is Friday, Nov. 12, the 316th day of 1965. There are 49 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1921, a conference on limitations of armaments -- the first conference of great powers on American soil --opened in Washington, D. C.

On this date

In 1812, Napoleon Bonaparte's retreat -- from Moscow army reached the Russian city of Smolensk.

In 1840, the famous French sculptor, Auguste Rodin, was born.

In 1848, a state of siege was declared in the city of Berlin.

In 1937, Shanghai fell to the Japanese.

In 1940, the British Royal Air Force bombed factories and railway centers in Germany.

Ten years ago -- Nikita Khrushchev declared that Russia had developed a new twin-jet medium bomber with a range of more than 3,000 miles.

Five years ago -- A Discoverer satellite was launched with a capsule which was snared by an Air Force Flying Boxcar over the Pacific.

One year ago -- Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg abdicated in favor of her son, Grand Duke Jean, after a 45-year reign.

END DRUDGERY, FAMILY BICKERING WITH DISHWASHER

Does the evening meal at your house end with bickering among the children as to "who's turn it is to do the dishes?" If so, this is just one more good reason for turning the job over to an automatic dishwasher, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

Another is the fact that your dishes will be cleaner because the appliance uses hotter water and stronger detergent than you'd ever put into a dishpan.

matter of fact

The danger of being struck by lightning can be minimized by staying indoors, avoiding contact with the telephone, other electrical equipment and water systems and not sitting near a fireplace. Outdoors it can be lessened by staying away from isolated trees, staying out of the water, avoiding contact with metallic conductors, wire fences and railroad tracks.

HUSBAND'S SUCCESSOR? —Alabama's Gov. George Wallace says he is "encouraging talk" about the possibility of his wife, Lurlene, running for governor to succeed him. Wallace is considered a likely candidate for the U.S. Senate when his term ends next year.

Four Killed, Five Injured In Collision Near Marston

A TWISTED MASS was all that remained of the automobile, in which four Negroes were killed, one-half mile north of Marston on highway 61, today at 1:50 a.m.

11 Negroes In Crash Vehicle

MARSTON -- Four Negroes were killed and five others injured in a car which collided with a tractor-trailer rig early today one-half mile north of Marston on U. S. 61.

The Highway Patrol identified the dead as Alfred Thomas, 27, the driver, St. Louis; Harvey Johnson, 17, Coldwater, Miss., and two small children.

Names and ages of the children were not immediately determined.

The injured, all from St. Louis were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

A hospital spokesman said Mrs. Eddie Mae Hammond, 28, was in fair to poor condition; Loubarda Hammond, 13, and Glen Hammond, 7, were both satisfactory, and Judge Johnson, 25, and Mary Johnson, 32, were treated and released.

The patrol said the Thomas car, carrying 11 Negroes was on the wrong side of the road.

James Whitfield, 38, of West Memphis, Ark., driving the tractor-trailer rig, pulled into a ditch and the Thomas vehicle crashed into the rear wheels of the trailer.

The Negroes were in a 1957 Chevrolet when the crash occurred at 1:50 a.m.

The Chevrolet was traveling south a half-mile when it met a 1962 International tractor-trailer, traveling north.

The Chevrolet was demolished. The only damage to the truck was a flat tire.

Loubarda Hammon received a right leg injury and internal injuries; Glen Hammond, a skull fracture and possible internal injuries; Judge Johnson, cuts on the left leg; Mary Johnson, cuts on her mouth, and Eddie Mae Hammond, an injured left hand and cuts.

Two other passengers, whose identity was not immediately determined were not seriously injured.

Rhodesia Treason Warning

LONDON (AP) — The British government warned Prime Minister Ian Smith and his Rhodesian regime today their defiance of British authority is treason. The penalty is death.

Atty. Gen. Sir Elwyn Jones issued the warning in the House of Commons as the government sought emergency powers to restore Britain's authority over the breakaway, white-run colony in central Africa.

Jones warned Britons inside and outside Rhodesia that actions furthering the aims of Smith's regime would be treasonable.

The bill giving the British government massive powers of retaliation against Rhodesia sped toward adoption in the House.

Quick passage was urged by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who Thursday night accused Smith's regime of taking police state measures and assuming "the sickeningly familiar attitudes of authoritarian rule."

Jones introduced the bill asking for these special powers:

—An order invalidating any laws passed or business transacted by Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's regime after its unilateral declaration of independence Thursday;

—Authority for the British government to exercise executive control and to make laws in Rhodesia;

—An amendment to British legislation to make it easier for "loyal Rhodesian citizens" to obtain citizenship of the United Kingdom and the colonies;

—An order enabling the British immigration authorities to confiscate passport documents issued or renewed by the Rhodesian regime.

Jones pointed out that other actions by Britain—such as the ban on import of Rhodesian tobacco and sugar—had already been carried out under existing statutory powers.

The bill proclaimed that the Rhodesian government's declaration of independence and all acts that flowed from it were illegal.

Wilson dismissed Smith and his government of white settlers immediately after the Rhodesian leader, 46, declared the central African colony independent from Britain. But the dismissal was a formality designed to allow Britain to intervene in case of internal strife and to forestall African nationalists from forming a Rhodesian government in exile.

Wilson called the breakaway a "rebellion against the crown."

"The world has taken a step backward today," he said in a 10-minute radio-television address to his people. "It is our task to take measures to bring the people of Rhodesia back from the dangerous path they have taken, back to mutual trust and racial cooperation."

Britain cut off all aid to Rhodesia, expelled it from the sterling area and banned it from selling its tobacco in Britain. In the past, Britain has bought more than half of Rhodesia's $112-million annual crop.

Wilson apparently hopes the sanctions will cut enough into the prosperity of Rhodesia's 225,000 whites to cause the majority of them to disown Smith's government.

The 117-nation U.N. General Assembly voted 107-2 in New York to condemn Smith's independence declaration.

40 Burn To Death In Plane

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) -- A Boeing 727 jet airliner with 90 persons aboard burst into flames on landing at the city airport Thursday night, burning 40 passengers to death in the fire-swept fuselage.

Another 50, including the entire crew of six, dived through windows and emergency hatches seconds before the fire raged forward from the three jet engines in the tail all the way to the flight deck.

Of the survivors, 43 were hospitalized. The dead were in the blackened fuselage.

A spokesman for United Air Lines, owner of the plane, first blamed the accident on the failure of a nose wheel. It later said it was caused by the main landing gear caving in as the aircraft touched down.

The three rear-mounted engines of the 727 are fed by fuel lines leading back from tanks in the wings.

The flight originated in New York and reached Salt Lake City after stops in Cleveland, Chicago and Denver. Its scheduled destination was San Francisco.

The pilot, Capt. Gail C. Hehmeir, 48, of Denver, was among the hospitalized survivors. Hospital officials said he kept repeating, "Terrible, terrible."

It was the third 727 involved in fatal accidents since August and the second this week. The first plunged into Lake Michigan off Lake Forest, Ill., on Aug. 16, killing all 30 aboard. The second hit a hill while approaching Cincinnati Monday night, and 58 of the 62 persons aboard died.

The Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington dispatched 12 investigators to seek the cause of the crash.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said in re-

Junior College For 4 Counties Talked

Expect Byrd Son In Seat

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is strong speculation around the Senate that the Harry Byrd name may not be missing from the 1966 roll-call lists despite Sen. Harry F. Byrd's resignation.

The 78-year-old Virginia Democrat quit the Senate Thursday with a formal resignation submitted to and accepted by Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr.

Byrd said he was stepping down because of his health. He has been suffering from arthritis.

Harrison is expected to act speedily to name a successor to fill Byrd's seat until next November's election. Virginia will elect two senators at that time, with Sen. A. Willis Robertson, 78, seeking a new six-year term.

At the top—or near it—of Harrison's list of prospective appointees is the name of Harry F. Byrd Jr., 51, son of the retiring senator and a Virginia state senator since 1947. The younger Byrd is publisher of the Winchester Evening Star and the Harrisonburg Daily News-Record in his state.

Harrison has had close association with the Byrds since he managed the retiring senator's 1952 campaign. He benefited when the younger Byrd decided not to seek the Democratic nomination for governor in 1961.

There was some speculation that Harrison might name an

Twitty Tells Of Needs In Area

Possibility of locating a junior college to serve a four county area -- Mississippi, Scott, New Madrid and Dunklin--was discussed at a meeting of the board of education yesterday.

Lynn Twitty, superintendent of schools, said that the school could offer vocational training.

Site of the proposed college has not been determined.

"Academic subjects would be offered that would qualify a person to continue his education into college," Twitty said at the meeting in the school administrative offices.

He said that a meeting of school superintendents of the four counties will be held Dec. 1 in Sikeston. Yesterday Scott county superintendents met and agreed that there is a need for a junior college.

Twitty said that a junior college is needed for the 50 to 60 per cent of students, who will not enroll in a regular academic program.

"Intensive vocational training for two years after completion of high school would prepare these students for excellent employment," Twitty said.

"Also, it would give students who wish to continue their education a strong foundation for further training."

Twitty said that if this type of college is desired by the people a plan could be prepared for submission to the state department of education in Jefferson City.

If the plan was approved by the state, voters would be given an opportunity to vote on it.

Ike Had Heart Attack

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's illness was diagnosed today as a true heart attack.

Revising their first estimate that the 75-year-old five-star general had suffered only a heart insufficiency, the medical team issued a new report on the basis of late tests.

Eisenhower, vacationing at his cottage on the Augusta National Golf Club course, suffered chest pains Monday night and was taken to the nearby Ft. Gordon Army Hospital.

The finding was that he suffered from a shortage of blood supply to heart muscles, producing angina pectoris or heart pain.

Today Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, the fort's information officer, reported that further electrocardiogram tests had revealed Eisenhower suffered a genuine heart attack.

The statement said, however, that the one-time leader of the nation in war and peace had spent a restful night, has had no further chest pains and was "in excellent spirits this morning."

Eisenhower had one attack in the early hours Tuesday, was reported on the road to recovery within a couple of weeks, then had another heavier, longer "episode" of angina pectoris or heart pains Wednesday.

President Gives Broad Authority To Commanders

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has given American field commanders in Viet Nam broad authority to call for — and get —additional fighting men to step up the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen, after a day-long policy conference Thursday at the LBJ Ranch, that Johnson had "instructed me to meet the requests from our military commanders for additional personnel as they are received."

Some requests for more men already have been received, McNamara said, and troops will move "as they become available for that purpose.

The defense chief said 160,000 uniformed Americans already are stationed in South Viet Nam. He wouldn't speculate on how many more would be sent because "we don't wish to give our opponents advance informa-

Shot To Death On Farm

KENNETT, Mo. AP -- A blast from a 16 gauge shotgun killed O. T. Bean, 41, Thursday night in a farmhouse yard near Hermandale about 15 miles southeast of Kennett.

Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott said Bean had driven Mrs. Becky Lou Harris to her home. Mrs. Harris got out of the car and walked into the house. She heard a shot after stepping inside the building, rushed back outside and found Dean in the yard dead.

Scott said the shot had been fired from "pointblank range."

According to chief deputy R. R. Copenhagen, Leroy Harris, 58, estranged husband of Mrs. Harris, has been arrested. Harris was found in an abandoned house near the scene.

All three are Negroes, living in the Gobler community.

Infantry Unit Fights Off Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A detachment of the U.S. Army's 1st Infantry Division fought off a sharp Viet Cong assault today in a day-long battle 40 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said 100 of the enemy were killed and the toll probably would go higher.

American casualties were described as light at dusk as fighting that raged for 12 hours tapered off into a sporadic exchange of small arms fire.

Striking with recoilless rifles and mortars, a Viet Cong battalion of 500 troops, launched the attack against about 700 men of the division's 3rd Brigade. Reports from the scene said the Americans came under fire without warning. Planes and artillery helped turn back the guerrillas.

The troops were on an operation to secure Highway 13 on the edge of Zone D, which has been under Communist control since the end of World War II. In recent months, B52 bombers from Guam have pounded the jungled zone and U.S. troops have pressed major offensives in the area in an effort to deny the Viet Cong a sanctuary from which to operate.

U.S. fighter-bombers hit at the Viet Cong without letup during today's engagement. Pilots flew more than 40 missions against the enemy during the height of the clash.

Study Pattern Of Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and industry power experts study today the pattern of Tuesday night's massive blackout in which a power failure surged through city after city in the Northeast.

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, who heads the investigation directed by President Johnson, said the panel was to seek today to find out "how the cascading process worked" and also what "reverse action" was taken to restore service.

Coming suddenly during the evening rush hour, the blackout at its peak enveloped 80,000 square miles in an eight-state area and affected up to 30 million persons. Power in New York City was off for more than 10 hours, with hundreds of thousands of persons stranded in subways and elevators.

Udall said there had been reports that some private power officials had said the massive power loss was due in part to the present intertie system, connecting various power companies across the Northeast.

Top Awards Go To Kelso 4-H Members

NEW HAMBURG -- The annual Scott County 4-H awards pot-luck supper was held last night in the St. Lawrence parish hall, when more than 100 awards and 4-H pins were presented to outstanding club members, under the leadership of Ted Seabaugh, 4-H leader for Scott and Mississippi counties.

A leadership recognition pot-luck dinner will follow Wednesday in St. Denis parish hall in Benton.

The top prize, known as the key award, for the outstanding older members went to Linda Seyer, Jill Smith and David Kieffer, all of the Kelso 4-H club.

Other awards went to Carolynne Kieffer, Kelso, for winning the district speaking contest; the "I dare you" award to Charlotte Bollinger, Kelso 4-H member.

The outstanding member award for a first year member went to Linus Dirnberger, New Hamburg, and Suzanne Wachter, Rockview club.

Other awards included: achievement, Linda Seyers, Kelso; clothing, Carol Jean Glueck, Kelso; dairy, Francis Siebert, Rockview; foods nutrition, Marilyn Glueck, Kelso; forestry, Michael Siebert, Rockview; home economics, Mary E. Siebert, Rockview and Glenda Seyers, Kelso; leadership, Ray Staebel, Jill Smith and Kathleen Staebel, all of Kelso; poultry, Carolyn Landawee, Rockview; child care, Bernice Landawee and Georgiana Felker, both of Rockview; small engines, James and Wayne Long, both of Rockview.

Wintry Blast Hits Missouri

KANSAS CITY AP -- A wintry blast hit Missouri this morning with winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour.

But the weatherman doesn't think it will get too bad. He sees lows in the low 30s in the northwest and in the high 30s and low 40s elsewhere.

Highs Saturday will be in the high 40s in the northwest and in the 50s in the east and south.

Winds will diminish tonight.

Rains hit most parts of the state during the night, the heaviest falls being in northern sections.

Cape Couple Wins Air Race

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. AP-- Mr. and Mrs. John Godwin of Cape Girardeau, Mo., Thursday won the National Pilots Association's 300-mile proficiency air race.

They finished first out of a lineup of 140 flying teams. Mrs. Godwin was the pilot and her husband was the co-pilot.

Proposal Puts Teeth On Edge

By Dan Whittle

To hear him tell it pulling a tooth held no terror for Dr. Handy L. Smith, 77-year-old retired dentist, compared to asking for his bride's hand in marriage.

It was in 1905 that he sought and obtained permission to marry Lillian Applegate.

"I was scared to death when I asked her father, R. G. Applegate, for her hand," he recalled. "I will never forget it. It was in his study where my living room is now.

"We did our courting in the parlor, where the front room is now."

During his first years of practice, following graduation in 1900 from the Washington University dental school, he said that he kept count of his extractions.

"They averaged 1,000 a year," he recalled.

The cost was 50 cents an extraction.

He remembered a woman, who came all the way from Blodgett to have 32 teeth pulled.

"I didn't think that she would live," he said with a smile, "but she did and I finally got to make her a new set of teeth."

She benefited from a combined rate--$25.

When he first opened his office there was no electricity except for street lights. His drills and lathes were operated like the old foot-pedal sewing machines.

Dr. Smith was honored Oct. 18 for 60 years practice at a convention of the Missouri Dental Association in St. Louis. He was one of four cited, who had graduated from a dental school 65 years ago.

His mother was a pioneer, whose father, William Sikes, was the brother of John Sikes, founder of Sikeston, and whose brother, Frank Sikes, was the grandfather of Mayor Kendall Sikes. He was named for his mother's step-father, a Judge Handy, of Charleston.

Dr. Smith retired in 1962.

Would he do differently if he could live his life over again?

"No, for I would probably make more mistakes," he said. "I have always led a pretty ordinary life though."

In 1962 Sikeston people for the first time in 62 years, no longer could see Dr. Smith walking to his dental office.

He began his long career in May of 1900 in an office on the second floor of the building that now houses the J. C. Penney Company store on New Madrid Street.

Dr. Smith is the son of Henry and Laura Smith. He was born on a farm a mile south of Sikeston, March 13, 1888.

His father died when he was three. His mother and he remained on the farm several years before moving to Sikeston on North Kingshighway. His father had moved here from Kentucky after the Civil War.

His mother was active in work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the city's first church. She helped organize it's first Ladies' Aid.

Dr. Smith was next to the youngest of five children and is the only one now living.

His wife died in 1940. Her father, one of the leading citizens in Sikeston's fledgling years, was a trustee of the Methodist Episcopal church and on its building committee.

B52 Jets Carry Bigger Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is modifying some of its long-range B52 jets so they will be able to drop up to 21,750 more pounds of bombs on the Communist forces in South Viet Nam.

The Air Force said today changes it is making in the bomb bays of a portion of its B52 force will increase the total load of each plane from the present 38,250 pounds to as much as 60,000 pounds.

B52s, originally built for nuclear warfare, have been used since last June to dump loads of explosives on areas in South Viet Nam which have been Communist Viet Cong strongholds.

So far there have been more than 60 such B52 bombing missions, mostly from Guam where the United States has stationed some 30 of the eight-jet giants.

Officials have said they are pleased with the bombings which they say have harried the Communists and stripped the Reds of the security of previously impenetrable strongholds.

Estimated cost of the work is $26.5 million.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

BONNY PRINCE CHARLIE

Prince Charles, the heir to the British throne, will celebrate his 17th birthday anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 14, and he soon will have ample opportunity to prove that he can take care of himself. Beginning next February he will spend a 3 1/2 month term as an exchange student at Geelong Church of England Grammar School in forested foothills 100 miles northeast of Melbourne, Australia.

As a matter of fact, he will go to the Timbertop branch of Geelong, which is supposed to be noted for its Spartan regimen. The only things prepared for the pupils are their meals. There are plenty of long hikes and riding and ranching as well as cricket and tennis. Once a year students prove their toughness by running a 15-mile race.

Charlie, who favors a semi-Beatle mop top, will have to have his hair cut to conform with school rules. V. M. Tunbridge, headmaster of the rugged frontier school, says (N. Y. Herald Tribune, Oct. 20): "Of course he (the Prince) won't get any mercy from his fellow students and most Australians do not expect him to ask for any."

The young heir-apparent is the first member of the royal family to attend school in an overseas member nation of the Commonwealth. The news has been widely applauded in the British press. The Times commented (Oct. 19) that the decision "confirms how sharp a break has been made from the traditional training of princes." The Daily Telegraph called it "an excellent and constructive idea." The Birmingham Post said the step "will do a great deal to strengthen the links between Britain and Australia."

The young Prince will return in May to Gordonstown, his Scottish boarding school. That one has a reputation for physical toughness, too.

THE DRAFT SHOULD BE ON A FAIR FOOTING

The frustrating, vital half-war in Vietnam makes the need for a well-trained, efficient U.S. military establishment more obvious than ever. And yet the way we select our soldiers to fight such wars could scarcely be more unfair than it is today.

In the recent past, fewer than 50 per cent of those who reached draft age were ever called to duty. If present trends continue, almost two out of every three men will escape service in the future. This is not the fault of the nation's 4,000 draft boards, who do a conscientious job of supplying as many bodies as the services ask for. The injustice stems from the fact that, even with the Vietnam crisis, the military requires only some 500,000 new men each year. But in 1966, with the record post-war baby crop reaching draft age, some two million boys will turn 18.

Those who escape, by and large, are those with the means to continue their education until they reach the "safe" age of 26, or until they become fathers, or who one way or another are declared physically, mentally or morally unfit. As for those who get called, in the words of one manpower expert, they "view it as an imposition, an annoyance, or a stroke of bad luck that they were caught while so many others escaped."

For the youngsters involved, this adds up to a very demoralizing situation, but from the armed services' point of view, it is very convenient. Some 400,000 men a year -- many prompted by the threat of the draft--enlist. The remaining 100,000 needed to fill the annual quotas can be culled from the pick of the non-college crop, leaving out all the troublesome delinquents, the slow learners and those with trivial physical defects.

To their credit, many policymakers within the Pentagon recognize that such a policy is both unwise and unjust. Certainly the notion that only suckers serve does no good for the morale of those in uniform, and uncertainty over their post-college futures has an unsettling effect on men who are given educational deferments.

One oft-proposed solution is to end the draft altogether, on the theory that the specialized needs of modern warfare require professional career men. The proposal would require an annual military pay increase, according to defense estimates, in excess of $10 billion to attract enough volunteers, and even then it would not answer the manpower needs of a major crisis.

Moreover, in a century of recurring crises, there is something naggingly wrong with the idea of paying a professional cadre to take care of the sacrifices which all should share. General Lewis B. Hershey, for 25 years the redoubtable head of the Selective Service System, has long advocated shifting the draft to a true Universal Military Training System. Last year Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara proposed an experimental start to such a plan whereby a limited number of boys who are now rejected and classified 1-Y because of educational or minor physical shortcomings would be given specialized training to enable them to qualify for military service.

The idea never got out of congressional committee, reflecting the Congress' longstanding fear of the draft issue. Actually, as a recent nationwide Gallup poll shows clearly, the electorate is thoroughly aware of the unfairness of the present draft setup, and thoroughly in favor of reform along the lines of universal training.

Eighty-three per cent of those questioned favored some form of compulsory duty for those who now are rejected for failing their educational test. Forty-eight per cent said 18 was the best age for induction, another twenty per cent suggested age 19 or 20.

The two answers point the way to the basic reform the draft law needs: universal military training at the earliest possible age. The problem stems from the fundamental split between the two types who now escape call--those who go on to college and beyond, and those who flunk the physical or mental tests.

If it became an established principle that everyone except the seriously handicapped faced automatic induction immediately on reaching age 18, most of the current injustice in the present system would disappear. Those now being called would continue to serve out their two compulsory years. College-bound youths (some 600,000 next year) could be given the option of a straight two-year tour, or one year's active duty followed by four years of reserve training under R.O.T.C. auspices when they go back to school.

As for the 1-Ys and 4-Fs whose handicaps are minor, a large number of the young men in these categories are children of poverty who could benefit greatly from the health facilities, the training, even the solid food the Army can so readily supply. General Hershey, who wants to put sweeping reforms into effect immediately, proposes that each of the services set up a two-year compulsory rehabilitation program for the youngsters, with the goal of "developing the whole man."

To do this, of course, would require a fundamental reshaping and upgrading of the services' traditional concept of training. At present, the Office of Economic Opportunity's Job Corps is trying to provide such training and facilities on a voluntary civilian basis, but with an appropriation of $280 million and a skeleton staff, OEO is at present only able to serve a fraction of the one million unemployed youths who need such help.

An overall plan for 1-Ys and 4-Fs could ultimately encompass as many as 500,000 boys per year and cost as much as an annual $1.5 billion to operate. That is an expensive program, but weighed against its potential for curbing delinquency and unemployment, plus the fact that a good number of these trainees may well re-enlist in the regular Army, it would be a bargain.

A draft that ended deferments and needless rejections would put military training on a just basis that would minimize the uncertainty and burden for everyone; it would provide a comprehensive training program for the disadvantaged; it would give the Armed Forces an expanded opportunity for improving the quality of its permanent personnel.

It would do something perhaps even more important; it would encourage a pride in self and a loyalty to the nation that the present unjust and compromised system too often undermines.

LIBERAL SAVERS

A Scotsman thought the way to save money was to put a penny in a money box every time he kissed his wife. This he did faithfully for the entire year. Then he opened the box and out came not only pennies but sixpences, shillings, and half crowns. He was amazed and asked his wife how she accounted for it.

"We-el, Jock," she replied, "it's not every mon that's as stingy as you be."

CRIME AND THE WELFARE STATE

Is there a distinct and recognizable connection between the soaring crime rate and the development of a welfare state?

If that seems a queer and idle question, a paragraph written by Keats A. Pullen, Jr., that appeared in The Baltimore Sun may cause you to do a bit of thinking. He says: "It is easy to understand why crime rises precipitously in a socialist welfare state. Under socialism the state, in accord with its own arbitrary standards, rewards individuals for alleviation of poverty. Under crime the individual, in accord with his own standards, attempts to reward himself for similar purpose. In both instances, old-fashioned standards of morality are buried in a morass of gimme."

This is a harsh judgement but there is much evidence to substantiate it. The welfare state, whatever else one may think of it, cannot help but undermine and even destroy the ancient values which have sustained civilization - independence, a sense of personal responsibility, individual pride, honesty, and a determination to take care of oneself and one's family.

Crime -- like all the other immoralities, to use that word in the broadest possible sense -- will flourish when these values are degraded.

LITTLE SAMPLES OF NATURE

Every 24 hours America loses over 3,000 acres of natural land to development. This amounts to about one million acres a year going into such things as urban expansion, housing subdivisions, shopping centers, highways and so on.

Fewer and fewer children today have the benefit of first-hand, intimate experience with the wonders and beauties of land in its natural and unexploited state.

Even our many excellent state and national parks are becoming overtaxed by a growing population with the leisure and money to travel whatever distances are required to reach these oases of nature.

Realizing that the problem of conservation in an urban nation depends in large part on reaching children, who will have charge of our natural resources in the future, the National Audubon Society in 1944 came up with the idea of educational nature centers.

These would be areas of undeveloped land near communities, modest patches of forest and meadow and stream, by means of which trained teacher-naturalists could lead children to personal experience with nature. They would be outdoor laboratories -- "green islands for learning" -- to which school teachers could bring their classes, scout leaders their troops, parents their children.

Today there are some 200 nature centers in the United States and Canada, both publicly and privately administered. Some of the best ones have conservation demonstration areas, astronomical observatories, model farms and gardens, weather stations and scientific libraries and other education aids. Others are simply a pleasant preserve where the typical flora and fauna of the locality can be seen.

But these centers make only a small dent in the needs of a population of 200 million. It is hoped there will be 1,000 of them by 1985 and twice that number by the year 2000.

Through its Nature Centers Division, the society is working throughout the nation to sell the concept of these "green islands" and to provide technical assistance to local groups and agencies wishing to establish one for their communities.

H. L. Hunt Says

A SOVIET INVENTION

Yevsey G. Liberman, an economist at Kharkov University, is being hailed throughout the Soviet Union for a great economic discovery. His "discovery" is the law of supply and demand. Thus Liberman takes his place in the annals of Russian scientific achievement, alongside those Russians who invented the electric light-bulb, airplane, and everything of importance, including the atom bomb.

Despite the Kremlin's rash claims for Soviet science, however, Liberman's "invention" may be of great significance to all the world. He has discovered that, because of bureaucratic red tape, the Russians aren't able to get the things they want and need. More important, he places the blame on unrealistic theory which cuts production by smothering initiative.

A few years ago, such heresy would have placed its exponent against a wall, blindfolded. But the Kremlin, dragging far behind in the Cold War's battle of production, apparently was ready for any kind of suggestion when "Libermanism" reached its ears.

Some 400 Russian factories producing consumer items are starting test programs to evaluate this unheard-of, or at least heretofore unmentionable, "law of supply and demand."

It is ironic that the Kremlin holds such high hopes for Liberman's economic "innovation," for the relative economic freedom he has advocated is in direct conflict with Marxist dogma.

It is far more ironic, and it is tragic, that our own government seems intent on repealing the law of supply and demand, just as the Soviets have finally discovered that it is the only workable rule for production. And we appear to be moving toward adoption of the discredited socialist dogma that has brought a half-centruy of failure to Russia. HLH

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that hospital patients get tired of hearing:

"Now remember, when we get into Joe's room, no matter how he looks, tell him he looks great."

"Hi, Joe, gee, you're looking great."

"Don't worry about your work. The guy who took it over is doing a great job—handles it between his regular duties and says it's no trouble at all."

"Talk about your operation! Did I ever tell you about mine?"

"I hear while you were under ether the doctors were playing marbles with your gallstones."

"It's time to take your temperature again."

"Wake up. It is almost dawn."

"Of course, a few pains are to be expected. After all, as the French say, we can't make an omelette without breaking a few eggs, can we?"

"Well, I guess I won't get to be one of your pallbearers this week."

"Joe, I hate to bring this up while you're lying here flat on your back. But remember that $5 I loaned you just before they carted you off to the hospital? Naturally, I am not one to crowd anybody in your position, but—"

"Just sign here, Honey. The lawyer said it was only a formality and a kind of precaution. But, according to him, it is only common sense that every man should make out a last will and testament."

"Joe, you have no idea how much your missus misses you. I saw her at a night club the other night, and she cried all through the floor show. The guy with her had to lend her his handkerchief."

"You know I'm your buddy, kid. We passed the hat at the office in your honor. The collection came to a total of $3.97. What kind of a present would you really like most?"

"Do you mind showing me the scar? Is it okay if I count the stitches?"

"My cousin had exactly the same kind of operation. That was 12 years ago. He has never been the same since. But of course in your case—"

"Is that all they give you to eat?"

"I'm sorry, sir, but doctor says we mustn't snack between meals."

"You mean you're paying $35 bucks a day to stay in this dump?"

"You're coming along nicely. I think you should be able to leave anytime after another few days — or a week or so."

"Hi, there, fellow. I'm a patient from down the hall. While I'm here I thought I ought to have a hobby, so I decided to take up life insurance salesmanship. Now, the policy I have in mind for you offers—"

"Hey, Joe, some dame in a white dress just drove up on a broomstick outside your door. Don't tell me she's your nurse. What does she do between Halloweens?"

"Yeah, before I got this job as intern I used to be a veterinarian in Yugoslavia. But when you come to a new country you got to earn a living any way you can."

"Excuse me, sir. I'm one of the hospital trustees. We are trying to increase our foundation fund, and I wondered if you would care to contribute—"

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Olin Mathieson, one of the first aluminum companies to raise prices in opposition to the government, also owes a great deal to the government. Like the Harvey family, Olin Mathieson has benefited from government contracts.

But, unlike the Harvey Aluminum dynasty, the Olin family was not born in Russia, and it has not played both sides of the political fence.

The Olins are products of the corn belt, born in southern Illinois, and they are dyed-in-the-wool Republicans. They'd rather be caught dead than be accused of doing anything for a Democratic administration in Washington. Spencer T. Olin is chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee, and in 1962 contributed $34,600 to the GOP campaign chest. Other Olin Mathieson executives and members of the family brought the total up to a whopping $100,750.

Like the Harveys, however, Olin Mathieson has received helpful government contracts, and in 1962 was awarded a $15,675,000 contract to manufacture the M-14 rifle at a cost of $105 per rifle.

Two competing companies, Harrington Richardson and Thompson Ramo Wooldridge, bid $97 and $80 respectively, but despite this, Olin Mathieson got a sizable part of the M-14 business.

The Olins, also like the Harveys, have been in trouble with the government, over the question of faulty shells supplied the armed forces in wartime. And they have also had other problems with Uncle Sam.

During the war, ten members of the U. S. Cartridge Company in St. Louis, a subsidiary of Olin Industries, were indicted for conspiracy to pass defective shells, making false statements and violating the sabotage act. They were found not guilty.

A second indictment against U. S. Cartridge dragged on for seven years, and in 1950 was dropped by the government. The government brought a civil suit for $214,000 to recover damages.

OVERCHARGING THE ARMY

More recently, during the Eisenhower administration, Olin Mathieson had more trouble with the government over powder for cartridges.

The company was accused of soaking the taxpayers for over $1 million in excess profits in selling cartridge powder to the Army.

The accusation was made by the General Accounting Office, which has the duty of auditing the books of defense contractors. At that time, the GAO was administered by an Eisenhower appointee, Joseph Campbell. His office also accused the Army of fixing up its contract requirements so that only one company -- namely Olin Mathieson -- could qualify for the cartridge powder contract. GAO named Lt. Gen. Emerson L. Cummings, an Army chief of ordnance, as writing the directive which resulted in the whopping overcharge of $1 million.

"The chief of ordnance directed that all military small arms should eventually be loaded with ball - type propellant powder, which was developed by and is produced only by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation," says the GAO report.

Since there were no other bidders, Olin Mathieson was awarded a negotiated contract that resulted in huge profits.

Previously the government had produced similar powder at about 90 cents a pound. But after the Army had negotiated a new contract with Olin Mathieson, the powder cost almost doubled, soaring to $1.72 a pound. The Army also failed to "request a review of Olin Mathieson's costs," the General Accounting Office charged. "Furthermore, even after excessive prices were disclosed by the Army audit agency, contracting officials did not take timely action to obtain a lower price from Olin Mathieson.

"Olin Mathieson earned profits amounting to about 162 per cent of the cost of powder sold to Remington Arms during the period December 1958 to January 1962," the GAO charged. "When the excessive prices were eventually disclosed by an Army audit agency review, Olin Mathieson and the Army negotiated a significantly lower price for future delivery."

KICKBACKS IN VIET NAM

Olin Mathieson was indicted in New York, March, 1963, on 24 counts, one on conspiring with its vice president in Hong Kong and the Philipp Bauer Corp. to give "side payments and kickbacks" to South Vietnamese and Cambodian importers in connection with U.S. drugs imported into those countries under the U. S. aid program.

In May, 1965, Herbert Wolf, former Olin Mathieson vice president, pleaded guilty to one count and received a two-year suspended sentence plus fine. Olin Mathieson also pleaded guilty to three counts.

Meanwhile, Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., champion of the legislation to register and regulate firearms, introduced a special bill to benefit the Winchester Arms Co., subsidiary of Olin Mathieson. His bill eliminated certain sections of the Firearms Act whereby those convicted of crimes were prohibited from shipping or manufacturing arms. Obviously this bill was intended to bail out Winchester and its parent company because Olin Mathieson had pleaded guilty to making kickbacks in Southeast Asia.

This is the company which last week bit the government hand that has fed it by refusing to keep the price of aluminum down during a period when aluminum profits are at an all-time high and when, according to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., the aluminum industry has increased prices five times in five years. More about other aluminum companies and their relations with Uncle Sam will follow in future columns.

Inside Labor

Justice Dept. Secretly Plans New Open War On Organized Rackets and Phantom Unions.

Washington, D. C.: -- It may not be a very merry Christmas for the dons of the Mafia.

Jingling bells for La Cosa Nostra, now heavily penetrated by the FBI's network of informants, could mean merely that the gendarmerie are at the front door with subpoenas, or that they're crashing through the rear.

The "sitzkrieg" season is over. The war on the mobs is on again.

The manicured mobsters would have been fascinated had they been in the office of Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Sheldon Cohen during the afternoon of Oct. 29. They would have heard Attorney General "Nick" Katzenbach breathe fire into the government's specialists, at the moment rather discouraged by the attack on them by a Senate committee.

In front of Nick Katzenbach that afternoon were 40 key IRS intelligence men. Some of them were the wire tap experts who had been assaulted by Sen. Long and the Ad Hoc Committee on Administrative Practices because they had put the bug on some tough suspects.

Don't be intimidated, asserted Katzenbach, by the Long committee investigation. Keep after the mob. There are many legal ways to do it. More than 60 per cent of Justice Dept. prosecutions are based on IRS intelligence operations. You people can play an enormous role in this battle. You continue fighting. You did not make the reputation you have by being timid.

It's the kind of talk the Intelligence Unit needed. They had not been sulking. But neither did they do handsprings down Pennsylvania Ave. after being described and talked to as federal lepers because they had wire tapped chiselers and mobsters.

Intelligence work is not all television - type romance. It does little for a career in government. It stakes out its men in dank cellars and holes them into eerie lofts. It keeps them glued to listening gadgets deep into the night and no one gives them union scale or double time for overtime. Nothing for overtime, for that matter.

But these federal tax experts are the shock troops of the war on organized crime and racketeering. Having bolstered their morale with his off-the-record talk, Katzenbach returned to his headquarters to plan for a skull session with his own organized crime unit. He'll call in the unit's 50 lawyers on or about Nov. 17 to coordinate the operation. These conferences could not have come sooner. The staff had to be reformed after Bob Kennedy left and much of his staff trooped out after him.

Basically it's a war against gambling and narcotics. But from these multi-billion dollar rackets come the cash for the invasion of small businesses, fake bankruptcies, fire-for-hire squads, huge real estate deals and domination of chunks of industries -- such as trucking -- in some cities.

Choke off the cash, you choke off the rackets.

Choke off the organized rackets and you strangle the "angels" of the mob's men on the labor front. The latter are the goons who buy a small union or dominate a big one because they've got the muscle and imagery -terror -- to back them up.

Thus they set up phantom unions, mulct million dollar pension and welfare funds and sell protection to all sides.

No one in the Justice Dept. is tipping Katzenbach's hand. But there are clues to the action which will close in on the diversifying mobs.

Watch it spread through the big cities. In New York the crusading U. S. Attorney, Attorney, Robert Morgenthau and his energetic, fast- moving rackets chief, Harold Baer, Jr., will hit the dummy unions.

They're still looking for the missing Joe Bonanno (Bananas), the millionaire mobster who has vast chunks of Southwest real estate, garment factories, motels, laundry services, dairy products operations in Colorado and Wisconsin, and an immodest home in the sunshine of Arizona. Bananas, now missing for more than a year, is believed by the FBI's string of informants to be alive.

In Chicago the Justice Dept. is going for the jugular. It has gotten grand jury immunity for the boss, Sam Giancana, and he has been in prison since June 1st for refusing to answer questions. And it appears that he'll stay for quite a while.

There you have the new technique -- heaving them into jail and throwing away the key. Four other Cosa Nostra bons vivants are not living it up so good any more. They're from the East and have been serving prison terms for "pulling a Giancana."

Thus the government can lock up hundreds of top mobsters if they don't talk. It saves the high cost of trials.

It's legal. The law is the law. And it's not on their side anymore.

Mrs. Kenneth M. Dumay

Marcia Kathleen Johnson Is Wed To Kenneth M. Dumay

KANSAS CITY -- Cathedral candelabrum accented with swags of white mums and satin bows graced the altar of Saint Peter's Catholic Church on Oct. 30 for the marriage of Miss Marcia Kathleen Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson, to Kenneth M. Dumay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Dumay of Sikeston. Greenery arrangements were used on the altar and family pews.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride's gown was of candlelight Alencon lace styled with an empire bodice over an A-line skirt featuring a chapel-length train. Her imported illusion veil of silk accented a lace over satin pillbox. She carried an heirloom prayer book with accents of white orchids, roses and stephanotis showers.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Betsy McAnany was the maid of honor with Mrs. Dennis Wills, Miss Linda Wyatt and Miss Martha Blake as bridesmaids. Their floor-length gowns were emerald green brocade and nile green crepe. They were styled with empire waists and watteau back drapes. The bride's niece, Deborah Hartnett of Fredonia, Kan., dressed in emerald green velvet was the flower girl carrying a French basket of white blossoms. David L. Dumay, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

Steven Retherford was the best man. The groomsmen were J. T. Kelly of Chicago, Ill., Gerald Frietchen of Leavenworth, Kan., and Richard Dumay of Rolla, brother of the groom.

Ushers were T. H. Corley of St. Charles, Salvatore J. Enna of Kansas City, Jeffrey J. Johnson and Michael W. Johnson, the latter two brothers of the bride.

RECEPTION

Following a wedding breakfast at the Inn on the Landing, a reception was held at the Terrace Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Dumay will be at home in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dumay were hosts at a rehearsal dinner given Friday evening, Oct. 29, at the Plaza III Restaurant. Guests other than the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dumay of Independence and Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Hartnett of Fredonia, Kan.

Airport PTA Committee Meets

The Airport P. T. A. Executive Committee met Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stinson with seven members present. Several items of business were discussed. The project chairman is to order the pecans and have them at the next regular P.T.A. meeting.

The motion was made to order a banner for the room winning the room count.

Also discussed was the room mothers calling the children's parents and boosting the membership drive.

There will be no P. T. A. or executive meeting in December. The January executive meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 10, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbs.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Bertrand Church Now In Revival

BERTRAND -- A ten-day revival is now in progress at the First General Baptist Church. The Rev. Minvil Clark of Poplar Bluff is the evangelist. There will be special music nightly and services begin at 7 p.m.

The Rev. Dolan Ray, pastor of the church, invites the public.

Services will continue through Sunday, Nov. 21.

BEATING THE DEADLINE

HUNTLEY, Ill. (AP) — It was a busy day for Mrs. Sue O'Brien. Her husband, Quin, landed in the hospital after being injured in an automobile accident, thereby promoting her to editor-publisher of the couple's weekly newspaper on the day it went to press.

Just two hours after completing the task of putting out the paper she, too, went to the hospital, where she gave birth to a six-pound, 14-ounce boy.

Bruce E. Giffin

Bruce E. Giffin To Be Speaker

A vanguard of the more than 650 Jehovah's Witnesses began arriving in Sikeston this morning.

The occasion is the circuit assembly of Missouri circuit 5 that will be held at the American Legion Hall. Sessions will begin at 6:45 this evening and will continue through Sunday afternoon.

Bruce E. Giffin, district minister and convention chairman, will officially open the meeting at 7:00 p.m. The assembly theme is "Increasing Our Praise to Jehovah."

Following Mr. Giffin's welcoming address, a model public Bible speaking class and a ministry development course will be conducted. These meetings are held each week in more than 23,000 congregations of the Witnesses world wide.

By the time the convention opens, all of the 20 departments needed to manage the gathering will be in operation. More than 100 volunteers will be needed to operate the departments. This large number will present no problem, however, since one out of every six Witnesses attending a convention volunteers his services free of charge. This makes it possible for convention officials to open all sessions of the assembly to the public free. No collections will be taken.

One of the highlights of the gathering will be a mass baptism of new ministers Saturday afternoon. The meeting will be climaxed by the public address by Mr. Giffin, "What Does the Resurrection of the Dean Mean for You and Yours?" delivered Sunday, at 3 P.M.

Attendance Drive In 8th Sunday

Sunday will be the eighth in the ten-Sunday crusade at the First Church of the Nazarene. This crusade is to increase attendance.

Visitors have been present every Sunday evening of this campaign.

Sunday evening services are at 7 p.m. There will be special music, both vocal and instrumental. The public is invited.

All regular week night services are at 7:30 p.m.

The Modern Christian

Are all Christians priests? On Calvary, the High Priest Jesus Christ gave his life in sacrifice. (Book of Hebrews) Following His resurrection, Christ continues his priesthood in the midst of the people of the New Testament. He gives his Spirit to all Christians that they may share in in the priestly mission that the Father had entrusted to Him.

In the Old Testament God spoke to Moses on Mt. Sinai, "You shall be to me a kingdom of priests, a holy nation." This was before the New Testament era, for now, the priesthood of every Christian far surpasses the measure realized by Moses and the Hebrew people.

Peter speaks of their priesthood in definite terms. "Come to Him, to that living stone, rejected by men but in God's sight chosen and precious; and like living stones be yourselves build into a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ . . . . . .But you are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's own people. . . . . ." (I Peter, 2)

This is the real, true, genuine priesthood of Jesus Christ that we share. The fact that all Christians are priests gives them the capacity to worship God in a manner agreeable to him.

We are a priestly people whose offering is agreeable to the Father because Jesus continues to live in his people and has communicated to us His priestly powers.

No matter how meager your mission in the community of God, you participate in the priesthood of Jesus Christ. The Spirit given by God is given according to the gracious bestowal of Christ.

Paul wrote: "But grace was given to each of us according to the measure of Christ's gift . . . . .And his gifts were that some should be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, for the equipment of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for building up the Body of Christ. . . . ." (Ephesians IV)

Jesus continues his priesthood in the whole Christian community, for all the baptized, without exception, constitute the royal priesthood of Christ.

"Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them. . . . . ." (Romans XII, 6) Christ's gift of his priestly power to mankind enables him to continue his work on earth through his body, the People of God.

"Worthy art thou to take the scroll and open its seals, for thou wast slain and by thy blood didst ransom men for God from every tribe and tongue and people and nation, and has made them a kingdom and priests to our God, and they shall reign on earth." (Revelation V, 9-10)

Sikeston Bulldogs To Play Host To Blytheville

By DON VOELKER

The Sikeston Bulldogs will continue their season with a non-conference game tonight with Blytheville, Arkansas. The Bulldogs have a 5-3-0 record this year. They have scored a total of 109 points and have allowed 70 scored against them. The entire football starting lineup has done a good job this year and many players who were not on the starting lineup did just as well. They have beat the stuffin out of the Chaffee Red Devils, Perryville Pirates, Kennett Indians, Poplar Bluff Mules, and the Dexter Bearcats. They have had the stuffin beat out of them by the mighty Charleston Blue Jays, the Cape Central Tigers, and the Jackson Indians. There have been no tied games with the Bulldogs.

Blytheville has a 6-2 record and this looks real bad but they play in a conference where the schools have as many as 2400 students while their enrollment is 715. Blytheville has been beaten by Little Rock, 19-6. Blytheville fumbled several times within scoring range. There are 2400 students at Little Rock and the team is rated No. 1 in the state. They were also stung by Little Rock Hall, 41-7. The school enrollment of 1500. Blytheville was next in line for a loss to Pine Bluff, 14-7, a 1400 enrollment school. Bob Williams, Blytheville Coach said, "We had 15 boys out due to injuries received in the Little Rock Hall game."

Blytheville was also downed by Jonesboro, 13-12, 950 enrollment. There was only 20 yards difference in the rushing yards between the two teams. They also lost to McCellan High, 1000 students, 13-7. In that game they were ahead 7-6 when, with 50 seconds left in the game, McCellan scored to whisp victory out of Blytheville's reach.

The Blytheville Chicks did beat Hellena, 17-7 and the Cape Central Tigers, 19-0. If the Cape game is any indication of their playing when they cross the border into Missouri then the Sikeston Bulldogs don't have a chance. Since this is a non - conference game, a lot of boys may get to play that have yet to see action. "Win or lose, I am going to let some boys play that haven't had much experience", said Blytheville Coach Bob Williams. Coach Sapp will probably do much the same thing.

In a game with West Memphis, Arkansas, the Chicks got within 20 yards of scoring five times, but fumbled each time, and had over 100 yards penalties called against them.

Quarterback, Mike Guillott, will be playing for the first time. The original quarterback, Bobby Emmert, has been moved to the tailback position. The regular tailback, Bruce Bateman, has been moved to another backfield position. Blytheville's Morral has been hurt, but they are not in low spirits.

One of Blytheville's top players, Bob Flowers, may not be able to play. He is a 190 pound fullback.

The Sikeston Bulldogs will probably be playing harder than ever tonight because they know that they are facing a rough team, maybe one of the toughest they have come onto yet this year. The Bulldogs are in good health and high spirits for the game tonight. Blytheville, 21, Sikeston, 7.

High School Football Picks

By DON VOELKER

Poplar Bluff will end their football season tonight at Chaffee. It is a non - conference game and each team will be trying hard to improve their record.

The Mules have had a 7-2 over all season and have ended the conference with a 4-2 record. Chaffee has an over all record of 5-4 and a conference record of 5-2. Poplar Bluff has scored a total of 137 points this year and Chaffee has scored 148. Poplar Bluff, 13-Chaffee, 7.

The Malden Green Wave has a conference record of 6-0. They are the only undefeated team in both the Northern and Southern Conferences. They will go to Dexter tonight in an attempt to extend their title. Malden was the number two team last year in the bout for the conference and may end up with an uncloaded season.

The Dexter Bearcats are 5-1 in the Southern Division and they will be trying to make it a 6-1 record tonight. Malden 21; Dexter 14.

Caruthersville and Kennett will have their annual battle tonight. It will be a close game. The Caruthersville Tigers have a 4-3 conference record while the Kennett Indians are 1-5. Caruthersville 14; Kennett 7.

The Charleston Blue Jays, top ranking in the Northern Division, will leave home ground to play Jackson tonight. Poplar Bluff, Perryville, and Cape Central are just waiting for the Blue Jays to get their wings clipped. If the Jackson Indians win this one it will mean that Bluff's Mules will get a cut in the championship, along with the Central Tigers and the Perryville Pirates. Charleston 27; Jackson 14.

Both Cape Central and Perryville have a 3-2 record. Each team will be shooting for a victory and hoping for Charleston's Jays to lose their top knot to the Jackson Indians.

In 1963 Central was knocked off by Perryville and last year undefeated Perryville had the championship in sight and until Central's Tigers knocked them off and the Pirates tied with Sikeston. Central 14; Perryville 7.

College Football Predictions

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Now the power company knows how a pro picker feels Monday morning. Everybody wants to know wot happened? You can't get by in this league with that bit about a major disturbance upstate.

Form took another beating last week but the Hand-picker managed to sneak through 6-5. That makes it 37-19 in the NFL and 17-11-3 in the AFL and a season total of 54-30-7.

Let's guess again, all games on Sunday.

NFL

Baltimore 30, Minnesota 27— the doubtful condition of Johnny Unitas and Tommy Mason make this a real toughie. The Colts beat the Vikings opening day 35-16 but trailed early. Unitas picking on the Vikings' secondary is one thing and Gary Cuozzo trying to do it is something else. However, possible loss of Mason and stout Colt defense against rush should be enough for seventh straight.

Cleveland 30, New York 21— Browns' pass defense leaky but rookie Giants are vulnerable in air and on ground with Jim Brown banging away for another 100-yard day.

Green Bay 27, Los Angeles 14 —Packers have lost two in a row but still trail Colts by only one game. Bill Munson doing good job for Rams but the Packers' strong point is pass defense. Vince Lombardi must fire up that offense. Who can do it better? If the line doesn't shape up they'll be calling Bart Starr Canvass Back.

Chicago 35, St. Louis 28-This could be a wild one with Gale Sayers and friends trying to match Charley Johnson's passing. Cardinals have looked shaky lately and Johnson may still be sub par. They just did nip Steelers.

Dallas 17, Pittsburgh 14-Cowboy defense is rough, but Bill Nelsen has picked up Steelers' attack. Give Dallas the edge as home team despite 22-13 victory by Steelers two weeks ago.

Washington 21, Philadelphia 17—Redskins seem to know the secret on how to handle Eagles. Philadelphia offense strong but Pete Retzlaff has bruised ribs and sore heel.

Detroit 17, San Francisco 24-This could be an upset. The 49ers have the most explosive attack in league but the Lions are tops in defense. That Detroit front four took Bart Starr apart last week and will be zooming in on George Mira or John Brodie.

AFL

Oakland 17, Buffalo 14—Raiders are clicking since Fred Biletnikoff started to get hot. Larry Todd a real sleeper last week against Oilers.

New York 21, Boston 17—Joe Namath gets the call as quarterback on his showing against Chiefs. Jets confident after winning two straight and breaking road jinx.

Houston 24, Denver 24 -- The Oilers live or die by the pass. After George Blanda threw 60 in a losing effort last week Don Trull may be in there. Both teams weak on defense. Denver won first game 28-17.

San Diego 21, Kansas City 14 —Chargers boast top passer in John Hadl and best runner in Paul Lowe and Chiefs are inconsistent despite fine defense.

8 to 9 Million Dollar Dome

CHICAGO (AP) — A dome on ancient Comiskey Park at a cost of $8 to $9 million is being planned by Chicago White Sox owner Arthur Allyn.

It is part of an expansion program which will include professional football, if Chicago gets an American Football League franchise, and soccer in addition to baseball.

Half of the dome, made of translucent material, would be permanent and stretch from the home-plate area beyond the infield. The other half would be covered by six pie-shaped segments which would swing around on a track to cover the outfield area.

All pillars in the main part of the park would be eliminated by hanging the upper deck from steel cables.

Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson, of Washington, was scheduled to address the students at Oberline College the day his first child was born. He asked his assistant to cancel the appearance. She phoned the college, and was informed that a substitute for Senator Jackson was available.

"Just to satisfy my own curiosity," she asked, "whom will you put in place of the Senator?"

"The wind ensemble," she was told. --George Dixon

Jefferson City Jays Have 66 Game Streak

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Writer
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)

Pity Bob Roark.

Last year, he coached the Columbia (Mo.) Hickman High School football team to a 9-1 record and the student body hanged him in effigy. It was a case of justifiable envy.

Hickman fans simply got tired of losing to the Jefferson City Jays. Everyone else has too.

The Jays have a 66 game winning streak, including 31 shutouts, stretching back to 1958.

Only a handful of teams have gotten within one touchdown of the Jays, who before this year had not been behind since 1961.

Three boys from one family graduated from the school without ever tasting defeat.

All the Jays are homegrown.

"We've never had more talent than we could use," said Pete Adkins, the man who deserves most of the credit.

The amazing streak began when he became coach in 1958. An excellent organizer, he eats and sleeps football seven days a week and passes off his enthusiasm and drive to the players.

"Three-fourths of our boys have only average ability when they start," said the 35-year-old former guard for little Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo.

"But, they work hard and become sound football players."

Thursday as he prepared his team for its last game of the season tonight, he said:

"We have a problem getting the boys up week after week, but they've got a lot of pride. The seniors come back each year saying 'we won't be the ones to lose' ".

Jefferson City, with a population of about 30,000 has become a football crazy town.

"We live from Friday to Friday," says John Hayes, president of a 500 member booster club that has hawked tickets, bought equipment and donated its time and labor to such things as building a press box, a practice field and putting tile on the locker room.

The rabid townfolk pack the 6,000 seat stadium, and flow into the end zone for every home game. About 1,500 attend road games.

The school has an enrollment of 1,200.

Indian Mounds

Mounds, which American Indians built as tombs for their dead, are found in many parts of the United States. Thomas Jefferson excavated one of these, 40 feet in diameter and 12 feet high, a few miles from Charlottesville, Va.

Greenville Whips Naylor

Mizzou Headed For Sugar Bowl

Big Eight

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ninth-ranked Missouri, hopefully headed for the Sugar Bowl or the Cotton Bowl, goes against Oklahoma at Columbia in the Big Eight's top game Saturday while Nebraska moves a step closer to a perfect season and a likely Orange Bowl trip against Oklahoma State at Stillwater.

Third-place Colorado, mentioned for the Sun Bowl, hopes to nail down a third-place 4-2-1 Big Eight finish against sixth-place Kansas, 2-3, at Boulder. Colorado is a solid favorite.

Iowa State is favored to finish at the break-even 3-3-1 level with a victory over Kansas State at Ames. Injury-riddled K-State is without a victory in eight games.

Missouri faces a 20-year hex. The Tigers haven't beaten Oklahoma in Columbia since 1945, a year they went on to lose to Texas in the Cotton Bowl. In fact, Missouri in the same period has beaten Oklahoma only once at Norman, 41-19 in 1960, a year they went on to beat Navy in the Orange Bowl.

It follows, then, a bowl bid will be likely if Missouri wins.

Oklahoma will be without linebacker Carl McAdams, a leading All America candidate. Don Kindley, 200-pound senior, will take his place.

Missouri's giant sophomore end, Russell Washington, also will miss the game with an injury. Dan Schuppan, 79 pounds lighter at 195, will replace him. Missouri is 4-1 in league play, Oklahoma 3-1.

Gary Lane, Missouri's talented quarterback, appears to have hit his stride the last two games with Nebraska and Colorado. The Tigers are a solid favorite. A turnout of 52,000 is expected.

Nebraska could make a bowl decision after the OSU game, which will draw about 33,000. It's likely the Huskers will meet Alabama in the Orange Bowl.

The third - ranked Huskers, seeking their first perfect season since 1915, lead the nation in rushing and are no. 2 in scoring and total offense. OSU appears to be outmanned, with its 0-4 league record.

Colorado's talented young club with losses only to Nebraska and Missouri, is pointing for a 6-2-2 finish, best since the 1961 title team.

Kansas will be without three regulars. One is injured and two quit the squad. Even with them on hand, Colorado would be a strong choice. A turnout of 30,000 is expected.

K-State will go with Mike White at quarterback. Vic Castillo, who lost his job to White in the Cincinnati game, will miss the game because of the death of his father. Iowa State's potent air game led by Tim Van Galder and the power running of Les Webster and Willie Robinson makes the Cyclones a strong favorite before 18,000.

Proposed Device

The Continental Congress, on July 4, 1776, named Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson to a committee to propose a device for the Seal of the United States. Not until 1782 was a design for the seal approved by Congress.

SEMO Indians To Meet Rolla Miners

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. -- About the only thing the 1965 Southeast Missouri State College football team has to work for in its final two games of the season is to avoid the dubious honor of compiling the worst record of any Kenneth Knox-coached Cape State squad.

The Indians, 1-3 in the conference and 1-7 overall, haven't endured as bad a season under Knox since 1956 when they finished 2-7.

They meet the University of Missouri-Rolla on the Miners' field Saturday at 2 p.m.

The SEMO squad's only victory thus far came at the expense of Central Missouri, 16-14, two weeks ago. The Mules then came back last week for their first conference win by edging Rolla, 26-22. The Indian-Miner game is rated a virtual tossup.

The Miners, 0-4 in the conference and 2-6 overall, will be battling to come out of the MIAA basement. A Rolla victory, accompanied by a Warrensburg loss to Kirksville this week, would put the Indians, Rolla, and Warrensburg in a three-way tie.

Knox's Indians, hoping to avert further disaster in a disappointing season, will have Greg Brune of Cape starting at quarterback. Brune, who has played regularly in the last three games, replacing the injured Irvin Whitehead of Charleston, has completed 34 of 88 passes for 443 yards and has a net rushing yardage of 19 yards in 49 carries to lead the Indians in total offense with 462 yards.

He has teamed with senior Mike Kelley of Hatyi, one of the best ends in the conference, to pose a much more formidable forward passing attack than at any other time in the season. The aggressive Kelley has snared 24 passes for 249 yards and one touchdown.

Senior fullback John Glass of East Prairie, the Indians' most relied-on ground gainer has netted 299 yards in 98 carries and is responsible for over one-third of the Indians' net rushing (872 yards).

The Miners are young and were expected at the beginning of the season to have one of their best years, but have faltered in the MIAA after winning two of their four non-conference games. The game Saturday will be Rolla's 1965 finale.

Mizzou Will Try To Overcome 20 Year Whammy

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBIA, Mo.)ap)—A major bowl bid, probably the Sugar Bowl, could be the prize for ninth-ranked Missouri if the Tigers can overcome a 20-year whammy and defeat Oklahoma here Saturday.

A crowd of 52,000 is expected to see the Tigers nail down second place in the Big Eight conference en route to an expected 7-2-1 season.

Oklahoma will be playing without linebacker Carl McAdams, an All America candidate at 6-foot-4 and 226. Don Kindley, a 200pound senior, will replace him.

Missouri hasn't beaten Oklahoma at Columbia since 1945. The Tigers went on to a New Year's date with Texas in the Cotton Bowl that season.

In the same 20-year span Missouri defeated Oklahoma only once at Norman. The 1960 team did it, 41-19, en route to the Orange Bowl.

Coach Dan Advine's club is on the list of Cotton Bowl prospects but reportedly even more strongly in contention for the Sugar Bowl. The Tigers gave unbeaten Nebraska a mighty scare before losing 16-14, rallied to get a 14-14 tie with potent UCLA and were edged 7-0 by Kentucky on a goal line fumble. All three games were in Columbia. They won 17-6 at Minnesota.

Gary Lane, Missouri's talented senior quarterback, is a 200-pound package of power, elusiveness and passing ability who has just hit his full stride the last two games with Nebraska and Colorado.

Francis Peay, 246-pound tackle, leads the offensive line. Johnny Roland, 207, is a tremendous secondary man. Both are All America candidates. Missouri will be without sophomore Russ Washington, a 6-6, 247-pound defensive end.

Oklahoma, 3-1 in league play, started to move when sophomore Gene Cagle took over at quarterback in the league opener with Kansas.

Sugar Ray Throws In Gloves

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson finally has decided to hang up the gloves at the age of 45 after 199 fights in a brilliant career that is sure to lead to boxing's Hall of Fame.

The fierce pride of a man who has been acclaimed the best fighter pound-for-pound in recent ring history kept him going long after his contemporaries had quit. It took a decisive beating by young Joey Archer Wednesday night in Pittsburgh to end Ray's dreams of another championship fight.

"I hoped to fight for the championship again," Robinson said Thursday afternoon in his Pittsburgh hotel room before leaving for his New York home. Robinson was stretched out lazily in bed, his head propped on a pillow, his face bearing marks from Archer's stinging left jab.

"If I had beaten Archer, I'd have had a chance," Robinson said. Then he added wistfully, "But I didn't win. It's too late to go on another long campaign for another chance."

Was there a chance that Ray might change his mind, as he had done in 1954 after retiring in 1952?

"I don't think there is any chance," said the former welter and five-time middleweight champion of the world.

"With all due respect to Archer, he's not a puncher," said Ray. "He punched me when I was off balance and I got knocked down. Somebody was talking about a return match but I didn't say anything."

The record books say Robinson is 45 but he claims he is only 44. No matter now. He has had 199 fights since he turned pro in 1940, back in the days when men like Lew Jenkins, Fritzie Zivic, Joe Louis and Billy Conn ruled the roost. He won 173, lost 19, and had 6 draws and one no-decision contest.

Joey Maxim was the only man to stop him and that was due to a case of exhaustion in the 106-degree heat at Yankee Stadium June 25, 1952. Sugar Ray had stopped 109 opponents. In two more years he will be eligible for the Hall of Fame.

"I'm going to build houses," Robinson said. "The Sugar Ray Construction Co. is being organized. We'll do slum clearance and build houses for the people who need them.

"Then I'm going to make a movie with Rod Taylor in California in January and another in Barcelona, Spain, with Broderick Crawford, a war picture. I'm going to get back into show business."

Show biz always has been Robinson's real love. When he quit in 1952 he became a song-and-dance man, touring Europe. But there never was the kind of money that he could get in the ring where his earnings approached the $4-million mark.

George Gainford, the man who has been with him during most of those 26 long years, nodded his head when he heard that Ray has made up his mind to quit.

Cardinals & Bears Clash

CHICAGO -- Professional football's oldest rivalry will be resumed for the first time since 1959 here Sunday at Wrigley Field when the Cardinals and Bears clash in a key game for both clubs.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m. (St. Louis time), Radio will be carried over KMOX Radio, and television in St. Louis over KMOX-TV. St. Louis fans will see the first of the television double-headers on Sunday as the battle between the Baltimore Colts and Minnesota Vikings will follow the Big Red-Bears duel.

The Cardinals, alone in second place in the Eastern Division, have a 5-3 record and trail the Browns (6-2) by one game. The Bears, whose four-game winning streak was snapped by the Colts last Sunday, are 4-4 and in a position where they cannot afford any more defeats. The Colts pace the West with a 7-1 slate, a game ahead of Green Bay (6-2).

In addition, the Cardinals will be battling to give the Eastern Division its second straight triumph in the inter-division rivalry. Western Division clubs owned seven straight victories until the Dallas Cowboys topped the San Francisco 49ers, 39-37, last Sunday.

The last-second heroics against the Steelers, which seem to be a common happening when the Cardinals and Pittsburgh meet, saw the Big Red go 80 yards in six plays and 35 seconds.

After Pitsburgh's touchdown made it 17-14, with 1:12 remaining, the Cardinals took over at their own 20. Charley Johnson threw one incomplete pass, then hit Billy Gambrell for 10 yards and a first down at the 30. Two more passes were incomplete, then Johnson connected with Bobby Joe Conrad for 11 yards and a first down at the 41.

That set things up for the payoff as Johnson dropped back, saw a speeding Gambrell in the clear and hit him at the Pittsburgh 23, behind the Steeler defense. Gambrell snared the pass and dashed into the end zone. Jim Bakken's conversion made it 21-17 and that ended the Cardinals' two-game losing streak.

Looking ahead to Sunday's capacity crowd at Wrigley Field, this will be the first regular-season meeting of the clubs since the Cardinals moved to St. Louis. The rivalry, which dates back to 1920, when the Cardinals topped the Bears, 7-6, at Decatur, Ill., was an annual thing through the 1959 season, when the Bears won, 31-7.

Over the years, the Bears hold an impressive edge in the series, 47-19-6, and the last Cardinal regular season victory was in 1955, when the Big Red routed the Bears, 53-14.

In the past three summers, the Cardinals and Bears have met in a pre-season game at Soldier Field, with the Cardinals winning all three matches.

Coach Wally Lemm intends to go with the same starting lineup that came through with the victory over the Steelers. That would put Sonny Randle, Bob Reynolds, Irv Goode, Bob DeMarco, Ken Gray, Ernie McMillan and Jackie Smith across the front line of the offensive unit, with Charley Johnson at quarterback, Bill Triplett at left halfback, Joe Childress at fullback and Bobby Joe Conrad as the flanker.

Defensively, the lineup shows Joe Robb, Luke Owens, Sam Silas and Don Brumm on the front line; Larry Stallings, Dale Meinert and Bill Koman as the linebackers; and Pat Fischer, Jimmy Burson, Jerry Stovall and Larry Wilson in the backfield.

After Sunday's game, the Cardinals return home for three straight games -- facing the Giants November 21, the Eagles November 28 and the Rams December 5. Tickets for all these games are on sale at three locations, 5100 Oakland Avenue, the Arcade Building and Busch Stadium.

Detroit Red Wings

DETROIT (AP) — So-called experts who tabbed the Detroit Red Wings' power-play combination as perhaps the best in National Hockey League history may be having second thoughts on the matter now.

In Gordie Howe, Andy Bathgate and Alex Delvecchio, the Red Wings have three of the top four career goals scorers still active in the league.

But the defending regular season champions have had their problems in the goal scoring department and have but three to show for 43 power-plays in their first nine games.

They had 55 such goals in 316 chances last year.

Howe scored one — the 599th regular season tally of his career — Thursday night as the Red Wings and New York Rangers battled to a 3-3 tie in the only game played.

But failing to click with the main advantage has been but one of the frustrations for the Red Wings. They haven't been scoring enough under normal conditions — despite holding an edge in shots on goal.

They out-shot Chicago, 27-22, in a 5-2 loss Wednesday night and peppered New York goalie Ed Giacomin with 42 shots Thursday.

"Imagine out-shooting a team 42-20 and coming out of game thankful to get a tie," Manager-Coach Sid Abel said. "It's the same old thing, the puck just won't bounce for us."

Bernie Over Matthews

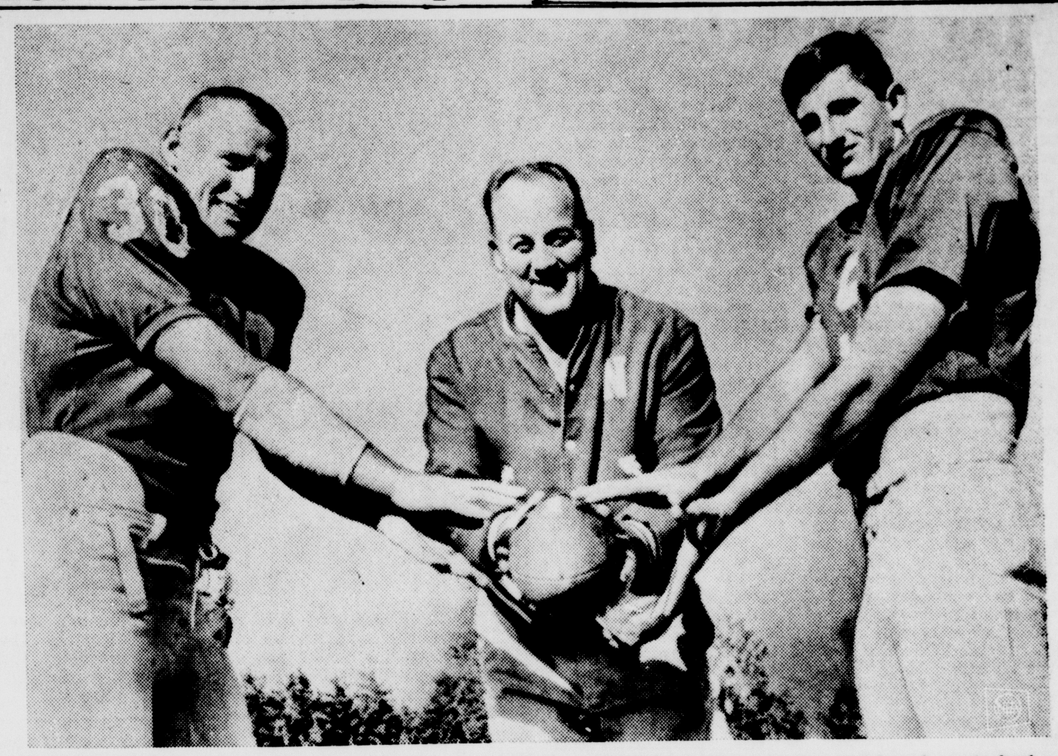

MATTHEWS -- Bernie won two games from Matthews. The "A" took their game 67-57 after the "B" had won the opener 73-72 with Craft scoring 23 and Starks 16. King hit 31 for the Matthews "B".

ONE REASON the University of Nebraska has a top-ranking football team this season is a surplus of quarterbacks. Head coach Bob Devaney, center, has his pick between Fred Duda, left, who was the starter until he broke his leg in 1964, and Bob Churchill, right. Churchill, a junior, took over for Duda, who has rejoined the "ready" list.

For I am the voice of the light of the world.
BISHOP
C. L. CRIDER
SIKESTON, MO.
JUNE 6, 1964

On that date I said the mighty judgement of God would fall on all the world, as stated in the Sikeston Standard on Jan. 14, 1964, and that would be the beginning of the end of this old world.

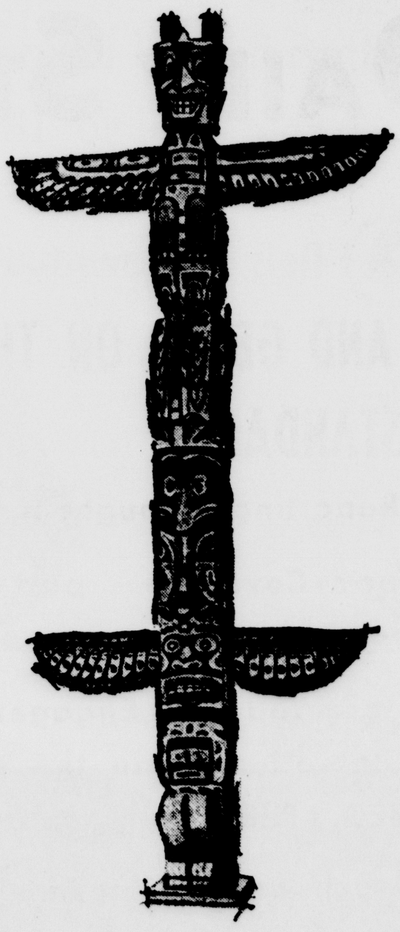

We have now witnessed the beginning, soon the whole world will be in darkness. The sun, stars, and the moon will not give forth any light. The heaven shall be shaken, and that shall be the beginning of the greatest tribulation the world has ever known. The waters of the river's shall turn to blood that no creature can live therein. There will be no water to drink. The earth will be burned so that nothing can grow thereon, but the people of God will not be left on this earth when the damnation begins. After the great tribulation ends, they will return to live in a new world with peace and happiness for those who are worthy.

I have seen one minister of God who is worthy. He is a certain minister of Essex, Mo., for he is a man who not only accepts the truth of God, but he wades right into the truth of God, and that is what God likes. He definitely does not like men who ducks and dodges around his word. They are unfaithful and unfruitful. They shall be cast with the unbelievers.

Time is fast running out. What are you? Who are you?

The voice of the light of the world.

Q. Who's on top?

A. Our customers of course . . . because we care.

Highway Signs May Soon Talk

WASHINGTON AP -- One of these days, highway signs may talk to drivers, instead of just advising them via the printed word.

Findings are due next year from studies at Georgia Tech on the value of traffic messages presented by radio. The Ford-Philco people have developed a way to deliver them.

These new wrinkles were discussed in an interview by Burton Stevens, a psychologist with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"No one is sure what those messages should contain, nor even sure whether it is a good idea," Stevens said. "One question is how many times to present the message, how far ahead of an intersection for example."

There are transmission problems. Messages are sent from a transmitter by the side of the road, and picked up by the passing driver with special receiving equipment inside the car or truck. They could come in on a beam to which the car radio could be set. Conceivably the messages could be broadcast loudly from the roadside. But what if the radio was not turned on? Or the car windows were rolled up and the driver couldn't hear what was being loudspeakered?

It may come as a surprise to some that the Bureau of Public Roads has psychologists working for it. But they've been there from the behavioral sciences for almost six years, working with a great variety of problems created by drivers, vehicles and highways.

"For one thing, we're studying the limitations and capabilities of the driver," Stevens said.

For example, there is a lot of controversy over how much sign information a driver can absorb and act on when he comes to a big traffic interchange.

People differ in their skills, naturally, even in their ability to read. Some drivers may be sleepy, or under the influence of alcohol.

"We hope to develop a system that can be used efficiently by a variety of people with a wide variety of conditions," Stevens said.

"Our approach is not restrictive. We have not attempted to suggest stricter licensing. We recognize the importance of transportation in economic and social life."

One of the most popular developments in recent years has been the "yield" sign, often in place of a stop sign, where a less-busy road enters a main highway.

"These yield signs let people make an evaluation for themselves: should they pull into the highway, or wait a while? They recognize the decision is theirs and I suspect they normally face up to the situation," Stevens said.

Documents, 189 Years Apart, Similar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two documents were separated by the Atlantic Ocean, 189 years of history, and broad changes in the attitudes of mankind but there was an ironic similarity between them.

In Africa's Rhodesia, a British colony, the white inhabitants Thursday declared their independence of the mother country, the first time that had happened since the American colonies broke away in 1776.

And the Rhodesian prime minister, Ian Smith, read from a declaration that borrowed unashamedly from the American Declaration of Independence of July 4, 1776.

The American declaration had started off: "When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another. . ."

The Rhodesian declaration began: "Whereas in the course of human affairs history has shown that it may become necessary for a people to resolve the political affiliations which have connected them with another people. . ."

Smith is a white racist. In the 150,000 square miles of Rhodesia, which has been a self-governing British colony 43 years, there are 225,000 white people and 4 million Africans.

The whites are boss, and keeping the Negroes down economically and politically, they want to remain boss. That was why, despite all British efforts to the contrary, they declared their independence Thursday.

When Thomas Jefferson wrote the American Declaration of Independence, which Congress adopted, the overwhelming number of Negroes in this country were slaves.

And, although Jefferson went on in the declaration to say all men are created equal, he was a slaveholder when he wrote it and when he died 50 years to the day after his declaration, his will freed only three of his slaves.

And although Americans every July 4 celebrate Independence Day, white supremacists to this day still oppose equal treatment for Negroes.

Successive British governments had offered Rhodesia independence if the white rulers would give guarantees that political responsibility would then be shifted fairly swiftly to that black majority of 4 million.

But the white supremacists in Rhodesia refused. Smith argued it would take 15 to 100 years for Rhodesian Negroes to attain the educational and economic levels necessary for equality at the polls.

Now Rhodesia is one of a few islands of white supremacy in a sea of new Negro-run nations on the African continent.

The British prime minister, Harold Wilson, who tried to get the white Rhodesians to hold up on independence unless the Negroes were guaranteed a full role, found himself from the start in a bit of a fix.

He had been pushed toward compromise by signs that a head-on clash with the white Rhodesians, who are mostly of British origin, would cause serious strains in Britain.

At the same time Asian and African leaders of nations which are part of the British Commonwealth were demanding stronger action and he didn't want to offend them.

So, while he has said Britain would not use force against Rhodesia if it declared independence, Thursday he invoked a series of economic sanctions intended to force the new Rhodesian government to its knees.

And President Johnson, who has fought hard to push through Congress one civil rights bill after another to protect Negroes' rights in this country, had promised Wilson he would back up Britain in economic actions against Rhodesia.

Thursday the Johnson administration said it would take such actions but they may not amount to much since this country's economic dealings with Rhodesia are minor.

Thursday, prodded by the Africans, the 117-national General Assembly of the United Nations voted 107 to 2 to condemn Rhodesia and ask Britain to move fast to quell the rebellion. South Africa and Portugal voted no. France abstained.

But even sanctions against Rhodesia may badly hurt two of its Negro nation neighbors, Malawi and Zambia, which had argued against sanctions because both of them depend on Rhodesia for electricity and railway transit to the sea.

NIGHTINGALE

Evening. A nightingale duelled down the sun out of the tree-tip swung beneath the weight of song and singer.

The pulsing silhouette rode in the height unharmed, as day burned it to black with brightness, lancing a thousand lights from a thousand leaves -- the last of day, lost in the first shadows of the night, climbing the trees to claim there in mid-song that prodigal dark sentinel.

Hyacinth Become World Headache

ROME (AP) — Man's love for a pretty flower has given three continents a multimillion-dollar headache. It is rapidly getting worse with no real cure in sight.

The problem is the water hyacinth, which a garden lover transplanted from its native South America to his pool in Lousiana. Then it was taken just as innocently to South Africa, expanded into the Congo and somehow, between 1956 and 1958, reached the Sudanese portion of the Nile.

It has become such a ruinous, river-clogging menace that Louisiana and Florida have to finance costly eradiction campaigns.

More than $1.7 million a year is being spent along the Nile alone to keep the fast-spreading plant from breaking through control points in the Sudan and infesting Egypt's lower Nile. It has also started choking fish ponds in East Pakistan.

Representatives of 18 African nations have appealed to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization to help fight the flower.

The water hyacinth looks like a gardener's joy with 10-inch spikes of blue-mauve or pale lilac delicately held above swaying rosettes of big, green, rounded leaves.

But it spreads so fast from drifting seed and spreading tendrils that no pool can hold it.

First it chokes off the landings. Then it breaks into floating islands, growing ever larger until navigation even by canoe is impossible. It sneaks up irrigation canals and clogs pumps.

The Food and Agriculture Organization reported that along 1,000 miles of the Nile, the clogging plant extends down 30 feet, consuming oxygen from the water so that fish cannot live.

Many systems have been tried to cope with the water hyacinth, from mechanical to natural controls. Louisiana uses costly cutting machines and many-bladed saw-boats. The Sudan is trying sprays.

Salvation Army Lassie Offers Truman Doughnut

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. AP -- One of the 51 bonneted lassies who braved mud, rain and shellfire to serve doughnuts and hot chocolate to World War I soldiers called Thursday on former President Harry S. Truman, also a veteran of that conflict.

She was Brig. Gen. Isabella Bonger, 74-year-old Salvation Army veteran from Wichita.

As a Veterans Day gesture, General Bonger arrived at Truman's office with some doughnuts.

"May I serve you a doughnut?" she asked of the former Army captain.

"Thanks, so much," he replied, "but its too soon after breakfast. I had a late breakfast today."

"I don't know whether I served President Truman," she said later. "If not, I'm sure one of my co-workers did many times."

Accompanying her on the visit, were Lt. Col. Charles Overstake, Kansas City, Salvation Army division commander for Kansas and western Missouri, and Mrs. Brian Merriott, wife of the captain of the Salvation Army unit here.

Mrs. Merriott wore Mrs. Bonger's original khaki uniform from her World War I days and carried her combat helmet.

Colonel Overstake presented Truman a Salvation Army centennial medallion.

"We're on our second century and still serving God and man," Overstake said.

"You certainly are," Truman replied. "You've always done a fine job and I know you will continue to do so."

LOSERS WEEPERS

A man who was a candidate for an important position with his company lost out to his rival. Trying to be big about the whole thing, he called the telegraph office, gave the girl his opponent's name and dictated this message: "Congratulations on your victory. Permit me to extend my heartiest congratulations and to pledge you my sincere, whole-hearted support."

There was a moment of silence then the anguished exclamation: "No, no, lady! Please don't read it back to me -- I couldn't stand it!" ---Dan Bennett

Russia Launches Space Station Toward Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space station toward Venus today and said it should reach the planet around the end of February.

It was the second announced Venus probe by the Russians and about 50 per cent heavier than Venus 1, which missed the planet by more than 100,000 miles in February 1961.

Tass, the official Soviet new agency which announced the launch, said Venus 2 is moving on a course "close to the prescribed one."

Tass said that by noon, the space probe was nearly 34,800 miles from the earth and equipment was functioning normally.

U.S. scientists said the Soviet spacecraft Zond 1, launched April 2, apparently was intended to be a Venus probe although the Russians never announced it as such. The Americans said Zond 1 apparently missed its mark in July 1964.

The U.S. Mariner 2 passed Venus Dec. 14, 1962, at a distance of 21,648 miles after gathering data continuously during its 180-million-mile journey. During the 42 minutes it flew past the planet it collected data on the surface and atmospheric temperatures and cloud structure of Venus. This was relayed back to earth and Mariner sped on toward the sun.

Tass said a multistage rocket launched Venus 2. The last stage was first put into a parking orbit and then it launched the station toward Venus. This is the method the Russians have used in their moon probes.

The weight of Venus 2 was given as 963 kilograms —2,123 pounds. Tass said power is being supplied it by chemical and solar batteries.

LBJ Signs Long Bill

WASHINGTON -- U. S. Sen. Edward V. Long (D-Mo.) said he is "delighted" that President Johnson signed a bill to eliminate the red tape forced on lawyers who want to represent citizens before Federal regulatory agencies."

President Johnson signed the bill at his ranch near Johnson City, Texas.

The new law, introduced in the senate by Senator Long, sweeps away cumbersome and confusing regulations for attorneys practicing before Federal agencies. Also untangled by the law are the regulations under which certified public accountants appear in behalf of taxpayers before the Internal Revenue Service.

"This legislation will be of great help to lawyers from all over the country who have all too often been kept from representing their clients by Federal red tape."

The measure had the support of the American Bar Association and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Senator Long said the new law will "save the citizen needless expense. It will also save time for lawyers, accountants and Federal agencies."

Boyd Buys Funeral Home

MALDEN -- Announcement was made this week by Tom R. Boyd of Kennett of the purchase of the Day & Knight Funeral Home of Malden from Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ray. In the future it will be known as the Boyd Funeral Home, Inc.

Boyd is a graduate of the John Gupton School of Mortuary Science, Nashville, Tenn., and is certified by the National Conference Examiners Board.

He is married and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hurdie Boyd of Kennett. The Boyds plan to make their home in Malden.

Enrollment Up 22 Per Cent

COLUMBIA, Mo. AP -- Enrollment on the University of Missouri's four campuses has increased 22 per cent over last year to a total of 33,683.

There are 17,582 students at Columbia, up from 15,791 last year; 6,775 at Kansas City, compared to 4,978 last year; 4,978 at Rolla, up from 4,058, and 4,658 at St. Louis, up from 2,639.

In addition, there are 901 students in off-campus extension courses. That makes a total of 39,649 students studying for credit from the university.

Caruthersville Yule Parade On Nov. 27

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The 1965 Caruthersville Christmas Parade is set for Nov. 27.

Chairman of this year's parade, Cleat Stanfill of KCRV, announced that the parade will begin 10 a.m.

This year's parade, as in past years, will form at the Caruthersville High School on South Ward Avenue in Caruthersville and will end at the municipal building on West Third St. Twelve high school bands are expected for the event and approximately 15 to 20 floats. The Caruthersville Chamber of Commerce will award $175 in prize money to the top three floats.

The first float will be awarded $100. Second place will receive $50 and third place $25. A float from any category, commercial, church, or civic, will be acceptable. A panel of out-of-town judges will select the winners.

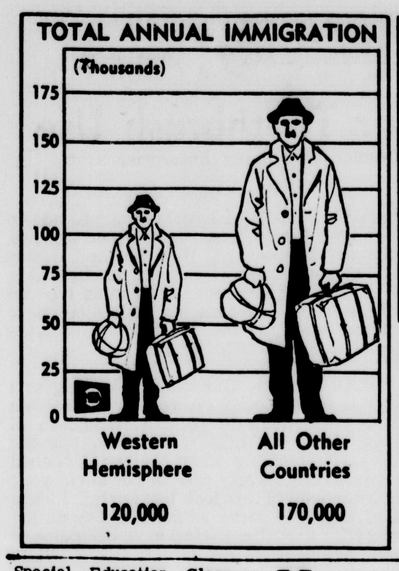

Any civic club, church organization, or commercial establishment in the area wishing to enter a float or display in the parade should contact Cleat Stanfill at KCRV radio in Caruthersville. Call collect at ED 3-1370.

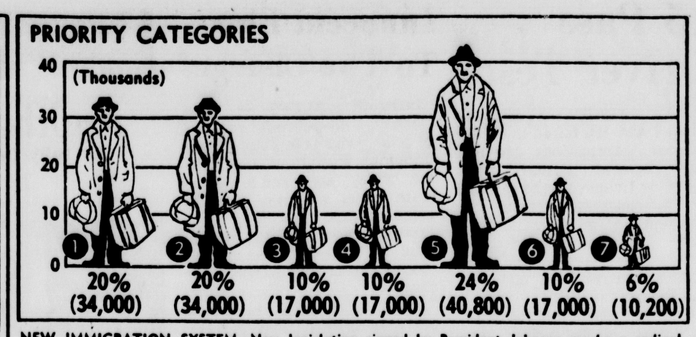

Two Sentenced To Prison Terms

KENNETT -- Two men, one from Holcomb and the other from Gideon were sentenced to prison Monday by Dunklin County Circuit Court Judge Arthur U. Goodman. Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker represented the state.

Floyd McCain, 22, of Holcomb pleaded guilty to felonious stealing (theft of a motor vehicle) and was sentenced to two years. He was charged with stealing a car belonging to Delbert Rawls on July 15, 1965 in Kennett.

James Lipsmeyer, 31, of Gideon pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and was sentenced to three years.

NEW IMMIGRATION SYSTEM—New legislation signed by President Johnson marks a radical departure from U.S. immigration policy for more than four decades. The old law was based on the 1920 census breakdown of ethnic groups in the U.S. population. The new law, taking effect in 1968, treats all nations the same but sets a ceiling of 20,000 immigrants annually from any one country. It also for the first time limits Western Hemisphere countries, to a total of 120,000 each year. The rest of the world is allotted 170,000 according to priority categories:

1. Unmarried children over 21 of U.S. citizens.
2. Spouses and unmarried children of resident aliens.
3. Professional people, scientists and artists.
4. Married sons and daughters of citizens.
5. Brothers and sisters of citizens.
6. Skilled and unskilled persons to fill job shortages.
7. Refugees from Communist and other countries.

Members of the immediate families of citizens—spouses, parents and minor children—will be admitted outside the quotes. Total immigration is expected to rise from the present 300,000 annually to about 350,000.

Margaret To Fly Over Canyon

TUCSON, Ariz. AP -- After a day of resting in the Arizona sunshine, Britain's Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, fly over the Grand Canyon at sunset today. They spend Saturday boating on Lake Powell in northern Arizona.

The Snowdons sunned themselves Thursday around the pool at the home of their host, former ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Lewis Douglas.

They dropped plans to visit a nearby mission and astronomy observatory to rest up from nearly a week's hectic tour of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Relaxing with them were actor Roddy McDowall, Mrs. Danny Kaye and actress Hope Lange and her husband, director Alan Pakula.

McDowall shares an interest in photography with Lord Snowdon, a professional photographer. The Pakulas are good friends of the Douglases' daughter, Sharman, who is the royal pair's guide for their U. S. tour.

The princess had hoped, aides said, that a restful day in the clear air and sunshine would help cure the remnants of laryngitis from which she has been suffering since Monday, when she had to attend a charity fund ball in Hollywood while suffering from chills and a slight fever.

Winter Winds, Snow Chill North

Wintry weather, with snow, strong northerly winds and cold, swept across northern Montana into the northern Plains today and headed into the northern Midwest.

Two inches of snow covered the Dickinson, N.D., area as the storm spread from Montana east of the Continental Divide across the Dakotas. Arctic air fanned by gusty northerly winds, spread southward into Montana, dropping temperatures as low as 3 above in Havre, 6 in Cut Bank and 12 in Helena.

The chilly blasts whipped eastward and were expected to extend into Minnesota and Nebraska during the day. Visibility was near zero at times during the night at Dickinson.

Rain which fell in areas ahead of the cold front was expected to change to snow, with amounts ranging from 3 to 4 inches in the Plains and heavier accumulations in mountain regions.

The Weather Bureau issued hazardous winter weather warnings for the Dakotas, Minnesota and central Nebraska and alerted hunters, motorists and stockmen.

Marcos Appears To Be Winner

MANILA (AP)—Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos appeared today to have almost won the Philippine presidency but President Diosdado Macapagal, seeking a second term, refused to concede.

Unofficial returns compiled by the Philippine News Service gave Marcos a 614,095-vote lead in Tuesday's election, still an almost unbeatable margin although smaller than it was earlier.

The unofficial tally from about 70 per cent of the estimated 8.5 million votes gave Marcos 3,015,271 votes to Macapagal's 2,401,176.

Fernando Lopez, running for vice president with Marcos, led Gerardo Roxas, son of a former president, by 114,376 votes -- 2,770,099 to 2,655,723.

In official returns from less than half of the country's 45,234 precincts, Marcos was leading by 340,277 votes. The official tally from 28,110 precincts was Marcos 2,299,306, Macapagal 1,959,029.

Marcos, 48, a war hero from the Nacionalista party, was confident of victory. He said he could lose only through "massive and unthinkable fraud."

But Macapagal, 55, considers the election still undecided and won't concede until official returns are completed, a source close to the Liberal party president said.

The president's press office said returns from pro-Macapagal precints on the islands of Luzon and Mindanao will put him ahead in the official tally. Early returns from Mindanao showed Marcos running strongly in urban areas. Macapagal claims strength in the countryside.

Marcos told newsmen that as the Philippines' sixth president he would send troops to Viet Nam if he considered it necessary.

If elected, the Nationalista leader would begin his term Jan. 1 facing a Liberal-dominated 104-member House of Representatives and at best a precariously balanced 24-member Senate.

Frank Eyes of "Redbook" 's advertising department thinks maybe he is talking shop too much. He took his four-year-old daughter on a nature walk around Westport, Conn., showing her the insects, birds and so on. At one point she asked, "Daddy, are spiders and octopuses put out by the same company?" ---Jerome Beatty Jr.

RhodesianWhites Tighten Belts

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's jubilant white settlers prepared today to tighten their belts to meet Britain's economic reprisals against their government's independence declaration.

The country remained calm, and there were no signs of unrest in the African townships surrounding Salisbury.

Prime Minister Ian Smith's white government was in control of the situation as Rhodesia entered its second day of full independence. But Commerce and Industry Minister George Rudland warned that rationing would be ordered if economic sanctions threatened by Britain and other countries were effective.

Finance Minister John Wrathall announced that foreign exchange dealings had been suspended temporarily.

The first priority was to secure the balance of payments and so maintain international solvency, Wrathall said. The second was to tackle internal problems which resulted, to sustain internal demand and to deal with "urgent budgetary matters."

Control over imports and exports would be intensified and allocations of foreign currency for imports would be cut, he said.

Holiday allowances are to be reduced two thirds — from $840 to $280 per person per year. The automatic allocation of up to $56 a day for 21 days for businessmen will end.

The post office will discontinue sales of money orders for payment outside Rhodesia.

In determining the allocation of currency for payment of imports, Rudland said first priority would be given to essential foodstuffs like wheat, medical and veterinary supplies, gasoline, oil and lubricants, and education and religious requisites.

Then would come supplies essential for agricultural, mining and manufacturing industries, he said.

He added that export control will take effect Saturday.

The most important thing a father can do for his children is to love their mother.

The undefeated Sikeston High Bulldogs and the undefeated but three times tied Cape Girardeau Central Tigers battled to a 6 to 6 tie game at Cape last night.

Wac Bernice Husher, who had served in Italy and Africa for the past 1 ½ years, arrived home this week, having received her discharge.

In a homecoming game here last Friday night the Sikeston Bulldogs took their eighth consecutive victory, defeating the Chaffee Red Devils, 43 to 21.

Martha Hiett, 10-year-old fifth grade pupil at South Grade School, is the winner of the essay contest conducted by the Walton & Williams Motor Co. Subject for the essay was, "What Do You Think of the New Ford?" Second place winner is Charles William Hampton, 12 years old, seventh-grade pupil of the Matthews School.

PRAYER
For Today From The Upper Room

Spare no effort to make fast with bonds of peace the unity which the Spirit gives. (Ephesians 4:3, NEB)

PRAYER: O Christ, Thou who art the word made flesh, help us to share the life we find in Thee with those who know Thee not. Implant Thy love in the hearts of all men that the world may soon know true peace. For our Savior's sake. Amen.

Guilty Pleas Accepted From Three

NEW MADRID -- Guilty pleas were accepted from three persons in two cases in the New Madrid County Circuit Court Tuesday, according to Van H. Sharp Jr., clerk of the court, who said that divorce decrees were awarded in five suits and other matters were taken care of.

Next session of the current September Term will be Nov. 22, when a civil suit is on the docket for hearing before a jury, the clerk said, and the next "law day" will be Nov. 23.

Jeremiah Patton entered a plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter and Judge William L. Ragland, who was on the bench for the one-day session, sentenced him to a term of ten years and then placed him on probation.

Patton was charged in connection with the shooting at Portageville last January 4 of J. B. Austin in an altercation. Both Patton and Austin are Negroes.

Guyland Dean and Junior Day entered pleas of guilty to petit larceny and the judge sentenced them to a year in the county jail and assessed a fine of $5. Their jail sentence was suspended upon payment of the fine and costs.

Dean and Day were accused in the robbery last Monday night of Dale Mott, an Oklahoma hitchhiker, who they and another youth, Roger Brooks, are said to have picked up on Highway 61 near here and robbed. The charge against Brooks was dropped.

Billie Joe Garrett, Lonnie Garrett and Sam Irby, who are charged with felonious assault, leaving the scene of an accident, kidnaping and armed robbery appeared before Judge Ragland and he set December 15 as a trial date for them and appointed Atty. Harry H. Bock as their legal counsel.

They are accused in the shooting and severe beating of R. L. Richards of near Matthews after he had followed them when they sideswiped a truck on Route 80 and did not stop.

In the suit of Benny Givens against Mary Helen Givens, a decree of divorce was granted to the defendant on a cross bill and there was a property settlement and custody agreement made a part of the decree.

Carolyn Jannett Childers was granted a divorce in her suit against Ralph Paul Childers and Judge Ragland awarded her custody of two minor children and $10.00 per week per child support.

Custody of two children and $6.50 per week per child was awarded to plaintiff when the judge granted a decree of divorce in the suit of Erma Dean Hurley against William Albert Hurley.

The name of the defendant was ordered restored to Margaret Weatherly after the judge had granted a divorce decree in the suit of Jarrell G. Riddle against Margaret W. Riddle.

The other divorce granted was in the suit of Leon Hall against Minnie Ann Hall.

15 Pass Driver Tests

NEW MADRID -- Fifteen passed and ten failed in driver license examinations given at New Madrid Friday, when operator licenses were granted to 11, chauffeur license was awarded to one and instruction permits were given to three, Examiners for the State Highway Patrol have informed The Record.

Of the ten who failed the tests, eight were on the written portion, the Examiners said, and two were on the road test.

Granted motor vehicle operator licenses were Paula E. Walker, Robert E. Jackson, Bernice Clark, Robert D. Pullum, William M. Bugbee, Sharon K. Adkinson, Marveleen L. Jenkins, James Paul Blanchard, Barbara S. Roach, Johnny Tisdel and Earnest L. Hardin.

The one chauffeur license was granted to Jackie E. Vines.

Those receiving instruction permits were Barbara N. Johnson, Eva L. Lawson and Francis G. Decker.

Thanksgiving Proclaimed

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. AP -- President Johnson, proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 25, Thanksgiving Day, called upon all persons to give thanks for "the blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation during the past 12 months."

Enumerating accomplishments of the last year, he said: "We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens. We have pledged dignity to our elderly--even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to the education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor. . .We have enjoyed the greatest prosperity in history."

And he called in the proclamation issued Thursday for prayers that "the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth."

Route T Near Dam Finished

POPLAR BLUFF -- Workmen have completed construction of the new Route T from Highway 60 to the T and Route D intersection above the Wappapello Dam in Wayne County.

Resident Engineer Bill Bollinger of the Missouri State Highway Department said many curves have been eliminated in constructing and rerouting much of the old highway.

The new road is 22 feet wide and surfaced with butuminous asphalt for a distance of 13.08 miles with slightly more than 12 miles in Butler County and the rest in Wayne County.

The total cost of the project was $737,000 with $721,000 spent on the Butler County portion and $16,000 in Wayne County.

Shoulders have been seeded and the new road is open to traffic.

Contractors were the Thompson and Tri-City Asphalt firms of Alton, Ill.

We know several young ladies who can be had for a song --- the wedding march.

Innocent Plea To Two Charges

POPLAR BLUFF -- Jess Chaffin, a 45-year-old resident of Fisk, who is charged with felonious assault and obstructing traffic, appeared in magistrate court and two pleas of innocent were entered.

Judge Francis M. Kinder set bond at $1,000 on the assault charge and at $500 for the other charged.

Chaffin is charged with felonious assault by striking Trooper Everett Montgomery of the State Highway Patrol.

Both charges against Chaffin were set to appear again in magistrate court on Nov. 22.

Jewell Will Double Size

LIBERTY, Mo. AP -- William Jewell College will double in size in the next 10 years, under plans announced Thursday night by H. Guy Moore, school president.

Dr. Moore, speaking at an alumni achievement dinner, said seven trustees have been appointed to draw up preliminary plans.

Charles F. Curry, president of the trustees, said the construction will include a new chapel auditorium, additions to the student union building, and more classroom space.

There are 1,000 students at the college now, Curry said, adding:

"In 10 years we expect between 1,500 and 2,000."

Holman Raps Demonstrators

KANSAS CITY AP -- Anti-Viet Nam demonstrators were labeled Thursday as "misguided, misinformed and in some cases disloyal Americans," by Haskell Holman, Missouri state auditor.

Holman spoke at a Veterans Day ceremony at the Liberty Memorial, erected to honor veterans of World War I.

Picketing the ceremony was a lone demonstrator wearing a Russian-style fur cap. He was protesting what he claimed were "communist flags" over the memorial. The flags on display pennants of the 50 U.S. states.

"That memorial was built for World War heroes number one," he cried repeatedly.

Veterans at the ceremony appared more amused than angered.

"Get out," they called to him good-naturedly. "Get lost."

Turkey Shoot At Kennett

KENNETT -- The Kennett Jaycees will hold their annual turkey shoot on two Sundays this year, Nov. 14 and 21.

The location is across from Joe Wilson's auto salvage at the north end of Allen Williams' pasture. Shooting will begin at 1:30 p.m. Participants may bring their own guns or use those furnished by the Jaycees. All shells will be furnished.

All proceeds will go to Jaycee charity projects.

Another Toothbrush Use

By Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Polly

DEAR POLLY—I have another to add to that long list of uses for old toothbrushes. Recently I discovered that the kind with a rubber pick on the end of the handle makes a wonderful home tool for cleaning type on a typewriter. It cleans out little dirty spots on the type that the brush alone so often seems to miss.—MRS. W. D. H.

DEAR POLLY—Christmas is coming so I want to tell the other readers how I decorate the evergreens in my yard. Start to save all those tin twists that result from opening cans with keys. They are rolled up when the can is opened but I pull them down (NOTE: Be very careful not to cut your fingers doing so) to make spirals that look like icicles. I leave the keys attached so they will serve as hangers to put the "icicles" on the trees after they (the icicles) have been dipped in red, green or blue paint. Some can be left silver. While the painted ones are still damp, add some glitter. The lights outside pick them up and they are beautiful.

I also save old light bulbs, put string around the screw ends to make holders, cover with masking tape to hold the string tight so they, too, can be hung on the outside trees. I treat the bulbs the same way as the spirals, even covering the masking tape with glitter, and they look like big Christmas balls.—ETHEL

GIRLS—There is still time left to be saving those burned-out light bulbs as well as the can twists.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I hope other wearers of contact lenses will profit, as I have, from my husband's brainstorm. He bought me a large, inexpensive rubber sink stopper that fits all drains and I always carry this in my purse for those frequent occasions when I must clean my contact lenses away from home. You would be amazed at the peace of mind this sink stopper brings when I have to wash a contact while away from home.—LINDA

DEAR POLLY—If you do not have an orange juicer and occasionally need a bit of fresh juice, roll an orange between the hands until it is soft. Cut it in half, take a mixer beater, insert an orange half and, holding the orange above a bowl, use the rotation motion that is used on a juicer and there is one squeezed orange.—BONNIE

DEAR POLLY—When traveling and you find there are not enough coat hangers, improvise by rolling up a paper or magazine, fasten with heavy string or cord in the middle and make a loop on the end of the cord to hang it up. One thing to remember is, if using a newspaper, be sure to put a cloth or white paper over it as the newsprint could rub off and ruin a light-colored garment. Such a hanger could also be used in a car.—DOROTHY

Americans Work To Ease War Pains

NEW YORK (AP) — Far from the sound of gunfire, an army of American civilians is working to ease the pain of war among the South Vietnamese.

These homefront forces labor under the banners of a score or more of private relief agencies sending food, clothing and other supplies to that battle-torn land.

The value of materials shipped last year reached $4.6 million, more than a half million above the 1963 figure. This year's total is expected to increase considerably.

All of the help goes to South Vietnamese civilians: The dependents of military personnel, widows, orphans and the poor and uprooted in battle areas.

"It's wonderful the way everyone is working together there to assist the people," a spokesman for Catholic Relief Service said. "It's created a feeling of one big family."

The agency is one of the largest providing help. Other major ones are CARE, Mennonite Central Committee, Foster Parents Plan and Project Concern.

Catholic Service began its South Vietnamese program in 1954 and now is feeding more than a half million persons daily. It expects to double the number shortly.

CARE is distributing food, clothing, blankets, tools for development, first aid equipment and school supplies. It also plans to help farmers rebuild their war-ravaged lands.

Mennonites constructed a 35-bed hospital and clinic and treat 150 patients daily. They also hand out food and U.S. surplus commodities.

Foster Parents Plan is providing social work and counseling assistance to about 5,000 families.

Project Concern operates a 20-bed hospital, five clinics and is planning a 53-bed hospital. Most of its work is with a wandering mountain people called Montagnards, who speak a language of their own and are among the victims of the fighting.

Most of the relief agencies belong to the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Inc., A coordinating council in Saigon also helps them put their efforts to the best advantage.

Grandma At Wheel Of Big Truck

BALTIMORE, Md. AP -- New Jersey State Police were nonplussed recently when they stopped a huge, steel-laden tractor-trailer truck and down stepped a 41-year-old grandmother.

Leona Murphy, who stands barely over five feet in her cowboy boots, said she was stopped the first three times she drove the truck on the New Jersey Turnpike. Each time she produced the necessary license and was waved on.

Mrs. Murphy, whose husband, Charles, 41, owns the rig, has been driving for two years. She and her husband drive four-hour shifts.

"I wouldn't be driving except we own the rig," said Mrs. Murphy. "If we didn't then I would be taking a man's job and I don't think that's right."

How do the other truck drivers accept her?

"They mostly gawk," she said, "but they figure if I'm tough enough to drive, they'll go along with me."

Raizen to Lead Fund Drive

NEW YORK -- Charles S. Raizen, chairman of the board of Transogram, Inc., owners of Anchor Toy Corp., Sikeston, Mo., has been appointed co-chairman in the toy division for the 1965 fund-raising campaign of the Visiting Nurse Service of New York.

Hearnes Parkway Sign Goes Up

DEXTER -- A sign at the southeast edge of Dexter, at the foot of Vine street on highway 25, tells you you are entering the Warren E. Hearnes Parkway, from Dexter to Bloomfield. That section of dual highway still under construction was so dedicated Wednesday, Governor Hearnes himself assisting in its dedication.

Six miles of new highway, much of it dual lane, connecting Dexter and Bloomfield, which at one time bore the name of the "Red, White and Blue highway", so named because it was marked by the federal government in the patriotic colors, is now the "Warren E. Hearnes Parkway". It was named by proclamation of the county and city officials of Bloomfield and Dexter.

The Dexter Bearcat band, under the direction of Howard Jones, presented a concert prior to opening ceremonies and played the National Anthem to open the program. Joe Weber, president of the Dexter Chamber of Commerce, presided and introduced the governor.

Melvin Gainer, mayor of Dexter, welcomed Governor Hearnes and other dignitaries, outlining the history of highway 25 through Dexter to Bloomfield.

Stoddard county representative Tom Baker spoke briefly, then introduced Congressman Paul Jones, State Senator J. F. Patterson, M. J. Snider, engineer for the state highway department, and Jack Stapleton, Sr., chairman of the state highway commission. Each spoke briefly, Mr. Stapleton saying this was the second dedication he had attended in his ten months with the commission in which parkways have been named for Governor Hearnes.

In introducing Governor Hearnes, Mr. Weber outlined his rise to the top spot in Missouri from the youngest state representative ever elected in 1950 to his election as governor in 1964.

In expressing his appreciation for the honor of having the stretch of highway named for him, Governor Hearnes said, "Every road holds the responsibility of safety. Whatever name it carries is unimportant. What is important is how it will be used, what it represents in the community, what it means to the people who travel it.

"I am just as proud of any achievement a town makes as any of its citizens," Governor Hearnes continued. "I cannot help but applaud the efforts of the hospital committee in Dexter and Stoddard county. Fifty per cent of the industrial growth in Missouri is in that 10 per cent of the communities working to better their towns," he said. He finished by expressing his thanks for the honor of having the section of highway named for him and ended by saying, "The greatest honor you can give me is to work tirelessly in behalf of the people of your community."

Governor Hearnes was assisted by Senior Girl Scouts Kathy Arnold and Sue Hill in the ribbon cutting ceremony. Official cars then made a short tour of Dexter, then drove the full length of Warren E. Hearnes Parkway to Bloomfield where the entire ceremony was repeated, ending with ribbon cutting at the north end of the parkway. Governor Hearnes was assisted by Girl Scout Kathy Mooney and Scout Briney Welborn in Bloomfield ribbon cutting ceremony.

John Davis, president of the Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce, presided at the Bloomfield program, with Mayor Alvin M. Corbin welcoming guests. Governor Hearnes spoke at Bloomfield, after which a tour was made of that city.

Barney Miller, of Dexter, was general chairman of the event, with other dedication officials as follows: Dexter, Melvin Gainer, Joe Weber, W. L. Arnold and Lehman Godwin. In Bloomfield, Alvin Corbin, John Davis, William Fulkerson and J. C. Newcomer. Representative Tom Baker introduced the honored guests in both cities.

Other officials present for the dedication were W. D. Carney, district engineer at Sikeston; A. C. Cato, project engineer on highway 25 improvement; A. C. Riley, of the highway commission, New Madrid; D. L. Harrison, contractor and representing the general contractor, Potashnick Construction, Inc., Lige McLaughlin, of the highway department, and George Dawes, council for district 10, Missouri State highway.

Dr. Caldwell Named Finance Chairman

HAYTI -- Dr. J. D. Caldwell has been selected as Hayti chairman of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout council finance campaign, according to Horace Dunagan of Caruthersville, campaign chairman for this district.

Dr. Caldwell is now organizing and preparing for the campaign to be "kicked off" soon.

Thirty-eight communities in a nine-county area of the Cotton Boll Council will have a goal of $32,405.42 to raise. Ten of these communities will secure the funds through federated fund raising. The money secured for operation is retained for use within the council jurisdiction and is used for major council services which include helping organize new scout troops, training leaders, providing campign facilities, and providing program resources.

World News

Wilson Edge Back Now to Two Votes

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's majority in the House of Commons was back to two votes today. Labor party candidate James Wellbeloved won a special election in the Erith District Thursday night.

The district is considered a safe Labor constituency. Wellbeloved got 21,835 votes, Conservative David Madel, got 11,763 and Liberal Stanley Vince trailed with 2,823.

Norman Dodds, who had held the seat for Labor since World War II, died in August.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Children's Fund (UNICEF) will use its $51,788 Nobel Peace Prize money for a scholarship or fellowship in memory of its first executive director, the late Maurice Pate, informed sources said today.

Pate, a former American financier, served as UNICEF's chief for 17 years until his death of a heart attack Jan. 19.

AVIGNON, France (AP) — Paul and Madeleine Barrier decided to give romance another try today. They were remarried in city hall less than a year after they got a divorce.

The bride and groom had a little trouble hearing during the civil ceremony. He is 85. She is 76.

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet President Anastas Mikoyan and Premier Alexei Kosygin sent a message to Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia congratulating him on Cambodia's Independence Day, Pravda said today.

Scouts to Sell Yule Trimmings

CHARLESTON -- Cadette Girl Scout Troop 56 will have a sale of Christmas decorations in the Sears - Roebuck store Dec. 4, starting at 8:30 a.m. There will be a wide variety of unusual decorations for Christmas trees, which will especially appeal to children, according to Mrs. Charles Fowlkes, troop leader.

The money raised will be used to finance a four-day Heritage Trail trip by members of the troop. The trip, next August, is sponsored by the Cotton Boll and Otaki Councils.

Freeman Takes Hospital Post

HAYTI--The board of trustees of the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital announce that Gerald R. Freeman of Union City, Tenn., has been named assistant administrator of the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital.

Freeman's appointment met with the unanimous approval of the hospital board at a special called meeting November 2, 1965.

Freeman began his work in general hospitals upon his enlistment in the U. S. Navy in 1952. He is a graduate of the U. S. Naval Hospital Corps school, Portsmouth, Virginia. After his graduation, he was assigned to the naval hospital at Millington, where he served until his discharge in 1954.

Following his return from military service, Freeman was employed at the Obion County General Hospital in the surgical department. He later was promoted to administrative assistant, a post he held until he became business manager of the Doctor's Clinic in 1958. During his four years of employment at the Obion County Hospital he attended Bruce Business college at Martin and completed the prescribed requirements in business administration.

The Board of Trustees feels that the hospital is most fortunate to secure a person with Mr. Freeman's wide experience in the medical field. As assistant administrator to C. J. Grewe, the hospital's present administrator, he will supervise all departments in their rapid expansion and coordinate their functions with other phases of patient care. In addition to these duties, all personnel will be organized and administered through his and Mr. Grewe's offices.

During the past three years as assistant administrator at Obion County General Hospital, Mr. Freeman has been active in civic affairs, serving as treasurer of the Civitan club, secretary-treasurer of the Union City Civic Bowling league and later president of the organization. For the past few years he has been manager of teams in Little League Baseball.

Freeman is married to the former Faye Tansil. They have three children.

"Unlucky 13"

Origin of the expression, "unlucky 13," is obscure but the most plausible derivation is in the 12 apostles and Christ at the Last Supper—totaling 13.

County Costs on Rise

CHARLESTON -- Cost of maintaining the normal functions of Mississippi County government have gone up.

Changes in certain pay scales voted by the last session of the Missouri Legislature are in effect according to recently received statutes from State Auditor Haskell Holman.

THE PROSECUTING attorney will receive a pay boost amounting to $2,600 per year.

The county clerk will be paid an additional $500 per year for the year 1965 and 1966 for performing certain additional duties. After 1966 the pay scale reverts to its original level.

Mileage allowances for investigation were increased from $100 to $200 per month for the sheriff and deputy sheriff.

In addition, an optional raise was voted for the Circuit Judge amounting to $3,000 per year, to be paid equally by the counties of Scott and Mississippi. The Legislature did not take into consideration differences in population, but provided that the raise be shared on a 50-50 basis. The county courts of Mississippi and Scott have this matter under advisement.

Finally, the Legislature provided for an increase of $100 per month for the Circuit Clerk and ex-officio recorder of deeds, but this increase will not become effective until the start of the next term in 1967.

Boyd Named To Hospital Board

HAYTI -- According to Harold S. Jones County Clerk the County Court appointed Julian Boyd a member of the county hospital board Nov. 1.

Boyd will take the place of Harold Robinson, a member of the Board who died two weeks ago.

Boyd is a graduate of the University of Missouri and was an active member of the Missouri Tiger football team during his studies at the University. Mr. Boyd lives on U. S. Highway 61 South of Hayti with his wife, the former Marilyn Mehrle and three sons and daughter.

Boyd has been farming since graduating from college.

Recreational Group Named

CHARLESTON -- A Mississippi County Recreational Committee of 11 members has been named by the county court for the purpose of developing the recreational facilities of the county.

Those named include: L. D. Davis Jr., Hunt Wellborn and Sam Jones of East Prairie, A. J. Drinkwater Jr., Marion Waggener, Art Wallhausen Sr., R. Q. Brown, Mike Morris, Urcil Anderson, T. J. Brown Jr., and Wendell Choate of Charleston.

The committee is instructed to "meet, look over the county and make suggestions to the Conservation Commission which would be advantageous to sportsmen and the general public."

The letter over the signature of W. H. Winchester Jr. presiding judge, concludes: "The County Court is available at all times to work with you in any way."

A firth is a deep, narrow arm of the sea. This term is used mostly in Scotland.

Bishop Storms Walls Like Joshua Of Biblical Times

WICHITA, Kan. AP --Somewhat like Joshua of Biblical times, Church of God Bishop Bill Rogers stormed the walls of the Sedgwick County courthouse.

But unlike the walls of Jericho, the courthouse walls remained unmoved.

A handful of spectators watched as Rogers walked, jumped and ran around the courthouse seven times Thursday.

He concluded the tour by clenching his fists, leaping into the air, and shouting:

"America, look to the Lord and live."

Rogers, who said he is the Theocratic party candidate for president in 1968, said he is on a tour of the more than 3,000 courthouses in the United States with his message. Sedgwick County was No. 34 on his list, he said.

Rogers is from Fulton, Mo.

Charter Rotary Interact Club

POPLAR BLUFF -- A Rotary Interact Club was chartered Wednesday night in ceremonies at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Turquoise Room.

The youth club, first in Rotary District 609, was given its charter by Dr. Ben Saltzman, Rotarian of Mountain Home, Ark.

The Interact Club (International Action) is one of many such groups throughout the world trying to create better understanding and good will among the people of the world. Total membership in the clubs is about 25,000 boys.

Charter members of the local group are Galen Chadwick, president; vice-president, Pete May; secretary, John Wolpers; treasurer, Donald Marler; reporter, Peter Stokely; board of directors, Gary Miller, Ronnie Allen, David Rexroat, Timmy May.

Progress On Sewer And Industry

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Mayor B. F. Rogers said this week that progress is being made in two important areas, the sewer project and getting a new industry for the city.

The mayor said Tuesday that it is too early to make any official statements or to name the firm considering this city for a new plant but went on to add that the prospect does look good.

He stated that another contact has been made with the firm and they have indicated they are pleased with the community. The mayor said he feels a decision may come soon after the first of the year.

While details are not available now, it has been reported that the firm would occupy the old Brown Shoe building and would employ about 150 persons or more.

As to the sewer project, the mayor said progress is being made on the drafting of the final working design. The planning is 75 days into the 200 day period allowed for getting the plans completed and returned to the federal agency involved.

The plans are being prepared by a Baton Rouge, La., engineering firm. The city has already passed a $450,000 bond issue and is attempting to get federal funds to provide for the rest of the $900,000 project.

You have to be a real down-to-earth person to take up sky-diving.

Debate Team Finishes Third

CHARLESTON -- The CHS debate team finished third out of 50 debate teams in the University of Missouri Lab School regular debate tournament last Saturday.

Debate teams representing some 27 schools throughout the state participated in the tournament.

It was the first performance by Charleston High School at a statewide debate tournament.

The CHS team was composed of Tom Brown and Jack Burke, CHS sophomores. Burke and Brown had a 5-1 record. They debated both sides of the question on compulsory arbitration of labor disputes.

The CHS team beat West Plains, Marshall, Mount Vernon, Columbia Hickman, Ozark and lost in the semi-finals to St. Paul's College High School of Concordia.

Hearnes Will Call Parley On Power

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes expects to call a conference soon of representatives of Missouri public utilities and power co-operatives to discuss ways the state can avoid a power blackout such as enveloped the Northeast Tuesday night.

The governor discussed the situation Wednesday with Tyre W. Burton, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission and it was agreed that the conference would be justified.

Since both public utilities and co-operatives are connected in an interlocking system, it was thought all should be represented at the conference.

Formal announcement of the plans for the meeting are expected to be made Friday.

Woman of Year Event of Charleston

CHARLESTON -- The Charleston Business and Professional Women have announced they will sponsor an "Outstanding Woman of the Year" award next year, with the help of Charleston clubs.

Each club in the city will be asked to submit nominees, according to Mrs. E. R. Putnam Jr., chairman of the BPW Club general arrangements committee.

Mrs. Putnam said clubs will be asked to nominate a citizen of Charleston, who has given unselfishly of her time and talents to improve her community. Letters of nomination must include complete information about a candidate's background, activities, and accomplishments, and should be mailed to Mrs. Putnam at P. O. Box 367 before May 31, 1966.

THE AWARDS banquet will be held in October of next year, with the exact date to be announced. The committee plans to have an outstanding speaker on hand for this affair.

Council Gets Document

VATICAN CITY AP -- The Vatican Ecumenical Council received today a drastically revised modern world problems document that totally condemns modern war and denounces deterrent policies based on nuclear weapons.

A number of American bishops were reported deeply disturbed at the wording of the new text, complaining privately that they felt it would weigh heavily against the U. S. government's defense strategy.

In the view of these bishops the Soviet government can much more easily ignore any council statement than Washington can.

Other bishops, who had opposed an earlier version of the document, expressed satisfaction with the rewording, which eliminates a statement that the possession of nuclear arms as a defensive deterrent is not illegitimate.

The reference accepting a nuclear deterrent had been put in the document at the urging of American bishops. Its passage caused such a storm of criticism during debate in the council last month that a drafting commission undertook the drastic rewriting.

Mrs. C.E. Pikey, Portageville, Dies At Home

PORTAGEVILLE -- Mrs. Charles E. Pikey, Sr., 71, died today at 2:30 a.m. at her home, after an illness from a heart attack she suffered in January. She was born in St. Marys, Nov. 28, 1893, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benson Cambron.

She was the past president of the Bess Truman Club of New Madrid county, a past president of the Portageville Garden Club; member of the Methodist Church, and a member of the Eastern Star.

She attended the inauguration of Gov. Warren Hearnes in January, after her husband had been made a colonel on his staff.

She married Charles E. Pikey Sr., on Sept. 2, 1914. He survives.

Other survivors are one son, Charles Pikey Jr., Conran; three grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren; and one brother, Earl Cambron, Marston.

Services will be Sunday at 2 p.m., in the Methodist Church, with the Rev. Jesse Layton officiating. Burial will be in the Mounds Cemetery, with DeLisle Funeral Home in charge.

Westerfield Rites Saturday

CANALOU--Services for Mrs. Lala Moore Westerfield, 64, will be Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Baptist Church, with the Rev. Larry McClarty and the Rev. Glen Bohannon, officiating.

Burial will be in the Garden of Memories cemetery in Sikeston with Nunnelee Funeral Home of Sikeston in charge.

O.H. Storey Dies In Kennett

KENNETT -- O. H. Storey, Sr., well-known former Senath resident who moved to Kennett last week, died about 11:30 a.m. Thursday at his home in Kennett.

Storey was a retired member of the State Department of Insurance in Jefferson City. While in Senath he managed the Beaird Mercantile Store for several years and later became owner of the firm. He also served as postmaster and was a past master of the Senath Masonic Lodge.

His body was taken to McDaniel Funeral Home in Kennett where funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body will be moved to McDaniel Funeral Home in Senath for services.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hulda Storey of Kennett and two daughters and one son, Mrs. Mary Beaird Romines of Colfield, Tenn., Mrs. Hattie Lou Bohannon of Indiana and James Ed Storey of Kennett.

Service for Bowman Set

DEXTER -- Services for Robert Byron Bowman, retired mill executive, who died Thursday, will be Saturday at 10 a.m., in the Welsh Funeral Home in Sikeston with the Rev. Arthur Fulbright, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Sikeston City cemetery.

In 1917, five years after the death of his father-in-law, he and his wife purchased his house from five heirs. Dr. Smith still lives there at 188 Tanner.

He said that when he first moved to Sikeston, the house was the only one in the block and Applegates kept two deer in the lot, which was enclosed by a fence.

Dr. Smith attended Central College in Fayette for two years before going to Washington University. He completed his training in St. Louis, in March of 1900.

Before he retired, he moved across the street from his first dental office into a building at 112 North New Madrid, which was built by his father-in-law. He ended his practice there.

interim appointee and seek the office himself.

Byrd's departure from the Senate will deliver the chairmanship of the powerful Senate Finance Committee into the hands of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.

Byrd's retirement casts some doubt on the future of the Senate-House committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, which keeps tabs on the rise and fall of federal payrolls and is supposed to point out where government economies can be made.

Byrd has served as chairman of the group since it was created, including periods when the Republicans have controlled the Senate.

TWITTY

"There are a few colleges of this nature in existence and several are in the planning stages now," Twitty said. "Colleges of this nature are possible due to junior college legislation enacted a few years ago by the Missouri Generaly Assembly."

Twitty said that the plan for the redistricting of the high schools in the county will be submitted to the state as "soon as possible."

This plan is for two districts, one north and one south. Sikeston and Scott Central would make up the southern district.

The plan has been approved by the county board of education.

Twitty expressed concern over "What we need more, however, is better pay for teachers," he said. "If we can get better pay, it would create competition which is always good."

A similar view was expressed by Pader Hogue, chief flight safety engineer for Boeing. "I think it's a fine airplane and recent unfortunate experiences are in my opinion unrelated," he declared.

The survival of the pilot and other crew members provided an opportunity for investigators to obtain first-hand expert opinion on the cause.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Day of Arlington, Va., a passenger who escaped, said:

"I heard a loud thud. I knew we had made a crash landing. There were flames on the outside of the plane on both sides. I scrambled through a door on to a wing and dived to the ground."

Another passenger, Ralph S. Nesbitt of Santa Monica, Calif., told interviewers:

"We had a hard bump, started swerving from side to side and flames broke out from the rear. People were thrown all over the place. It was horrible. The heat was terrible."

Nesbitt said he dived through an open window on to a wing and then dropped to safety through a sheet of flame.

The interior of the 72-ton jetliner was burned charcoal black.

U.S. Races Against Time To Sustain Viet Morale

BY RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)

The United States is racing against time in South Viet Nam.

Unless the big influx of U.S. troops, weapons, airplanes and helicopters—and the round-the-clock U.S. raids—bring some clear improvement in the situation of the people within a year, the morale of the South Vietnamese government, the South Vietnamese army and many Vietnamese people will begin to sag.

There may even be some problems in U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

This is the personal opinion of some U.S. military, economic and political observers just back from the war.

MORALE IS HIGH NOW. The Vietnamese army has taken on a new spirit as a result of the optimism (and hope) brought by the landing of the U.S. Army forces and by U.S. ground, air and Navy offensives. The Vietnamese are showing a dash and a will to win that's inspiring.

Last fall and early this year the South Vietnamese political-military situation was sliding downhill.

The slide has leveled off and things are just now beginning to turn up.

But the next 12 months are crucial.

To make the gains needed in the next year to prevent a morale drop in South Viet Nam will be a tight squeeze.

U.S. MILITARY STRATEGISTS place high hopes in the repetitive blasting of the major Viet Cong secret bases with B-52s, followed by infantry sweeps. These bases serve as command, training, rest and supply centers of the Viet Cong.

The U.S. theory is that sooner or later the V.C. will have to defend these bases (and hopefully be clobbered in the process) or lose their ability to mount sizable, effective mainline forces in the field.

But it's estimated it will take six months to get this tactic really moving and another six months before it has an important impact.

The B-52 raids on the secret bases look highly promising. They upset Red timetables and do damage. But the real payoff will come when the raids are consistently followed immediately by heavy infantry sweeps that destroy all Red supplies, radio communications, food stores, arms caches.

BUT THAT'S JUST THE STARTER. Destroying one base or two bases or a half dozen will not be the clincher. It won't even be enough to destroy every base in South Viet Nam—just once. The V.C. will just move back in and set up shop again or set up new bases elsewhere. The old bases and the new ones will have to be pounded again and again as soon as they are set up, so that the Communist mainline armies will have no place to organize, train, rest, recuperate and reform after battles—and no stable command headquarters or supply depots.

But six months to get this secret base destruction tactic really moving and six months after that before it will have an important impact adds up to one conclusion.

It means, at the best, that it may be a year before there is any major change in the situation in South Viet Nam.

Mamie Will Be 69 Sunday

AUGUSTA, Ga. AP -- Sunday will be Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower's 69th birthday.

Realization of the fact today brought a broad smile to the face of her son, John, erasing traces of weariness.

"Are there any plans for your mother's birthday Sunday?", he was asked.

Looking startled, he broke into a smile, and replied:

"No we haven't had a chance to give it any thought, but we will certainly have to. I'm glad you brought it up," he told a reporter.

In constant attendance at the bedside of her ailing husband, Mrs. Eisenhower is expected to mark the occasion quietly.

Viet Cong Agents Lure Aid To Death

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) --Two apparent Viet Cong agents who posed as his friend led a young American aid employe to his death today in a Viet Cong ambush, U.S. officials said.

The victim was Peter Hunting, 24, of Oklahoma City, Okla. He was shot through the head five times while driving in the Mekong delta south of Saigon, a spokesman said.

Two Vietnamese who were with Hunting were apparently unharmed and were believed to have joined the Viet Cong.

Hunting was a regional supervisor for the International Volountary Service.

Hunting's civilian vehicle was peppered with bullets. Members of a military convoy that he had passed five minutes earlier said they found his bullet - riddled body on the ground.

After shooting Hunting through the head, the Viet Cong fired 10 more bullets into his body, they said.

Hunting had departed with the two Vietnamese from the delta city of Vinh Long. They were on their way to Can Tho, 20 miles away and about 10 miles south of Saigon.

Earlier reports had said that he was killed when a mine exploded under the vehicle, but this was erroneous, the spokesman said.

The guerrillas opened fire on the convoy, but quickly broke contact when the troops returned the fire.

Bertrand News

By Mrs. Florence Fenimore

It's 12:30 Sat. night. I'm watching the late show, "Salome". It's wonderful. King Nero of Egypt is on the throne, several maids in waiting with long white flowing robes of course white covering their eyes. Marlene Detritch is one lovely maiden.

Subject of church lesson Sun. was Sampson misusing God's gift, author Howard Keeler. Can Sampson be made whole again. You know he slew Absolum his son and hung him in a tree. Or do we bemoan their sad plight and forget all about them; the churches of Jesus Christ were established like Sampson. A verse I remember "He who is slow to anger is better than mighty; he who rules his spirit is as he who takes a city." Sampson disobeyed God's trust.

I was always taught to count to ten to hold my temper. They got a black ape in this picture.

Mr. LeGrand from Chaffee wife came to see him last Sun. Belle Green's daughter came and took her riding Sat. afternoon. Aunt Kate Gullion's daughter came and had supper with her mother Friday night. Mrs. Frey's son came to see her Sat. noon. Mr. Brown is in bed. His son comes often. So does Mr. McCoy come see his mother.

I see Hollywood, Calif., had a big fire. Steve McQueen, Rory Calhoun, there the hire girl barely escaped with their lives. FBI investigating fire. Fire burnt a whole block. I see Sikeston reporter withdrew his complaint firemen doused water on him. A small fire burnt a 5 year old child. The father and mother got the other child out, failed to notice the little 5 year old girl wasn't along. Said father came home from work and built a big fire. Said stove must exploded caught around defective flue. FBI investigating two children suing airline co. for $200,000 for loss of their father and mother. Said all 39 perished, but all bodies found.

This is Halloween night. Bridget Syre brought her 3 children out all dressed up spookie. PTA had a halloween party at Bertrand school Sat. night.

We are to have a civic center in Sikeston, Mo., to seat from 500 to 1,000 people. I bought tickets to Little Theatre and Community Concert first show to be Wed. night at Sikeston high school.

Elva Gaty and Alma Schwab came to see me Sat. afternoon. Mrs. Clark Holmes came to see me and her mother, Mrs. Hawkins in Room 11. She broke her hip. Suzie Byrne and Mrs. Galigher come often.

Willette Thomas will take me to Bertrand to Church Sunday. I see they are tightening security risks in Siagon. I heard white house might get attack thrown guards all around it. Linda Byrd Johnson was in Queen's contest. She and fiance flew to Texas to ask permission to marry. Johnsons' he's chasing a bulle. He owns kings ranch.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I have a problem and since you caused it I hope you will straighten it out.

My husband passed away five months ago. This may sound terrible, but his death freed me from a living hell. We never had any children because he didn't want any. For 11 years I put up with his lying, drinking, gambling and abusive language. On three separate occasions he brought women home to spend the night. I was quietly making plans to leave him when he was killed in an accident.

A long-time friend who lost his wife two years ago has asked me to marry him. I have said yes. He is a fine person and I want to be a mother to his two little girls.

Now the trouble. I asked my clergyman how long it was proper for a widow to wait before she remarries. He said "At least one year." Then I wrote you. Your reply was, "It's how you feel that counts."

Well, Ann, I feel like getting married tomorrow. Who is right, you or the clergyman? -- DILEMMA

Dear Dil: People who go around collecting opinions should be prepared for a variety of answers. The "wait a year" custom is well and good if a widow wishes to pay real respect to her deceased husband. But why pay respect to 11 years of hell?

Dear Ann Landers: I got married three months ago and already I am writing to Ann Landers. I think this is a bad sign.

Before I married Adelle she told me her mother would always come first in her life, no matter what. Well, she is proving it.

My father-in-law's business takes him out of town every three weeks for two days. Adelle goes to sleep with her mother whenever her father is out of town and I am left alone. I don't like this a bit and I have said so, but I might as well talk to the fire hydrant. Where do I stand? -- HOUSTON

Dear Houston: You stand second to your mother-in-law, which is exactly where Adelle told you you stood before you married her. So why are you surprised?

Buy a daybed for your mother-in-law and put it in the living room or the kitchen. Then nobody will be alone.

Dear Ann Landers: I didn't like your answer to "Crisis In Suburbia." A mother wanted to know if her sons were entitled to an increase in allowance because their father received a promotion and a pay raise. You said, "Yes -- provided they take on extra chores and earn the increase."

I am a grandfather who is appalled at what is happening to the younger generation. I think it's disgraceful to pay children for doing what they SHOULD do. After all, they are a part of the family so why shouldn't they pitch in? Paying children for every little thing makes me sick. I say kids should help around the house because they live in the house and eat and sleep there. That's reason enough. -- THREE SCORE AND TEN

Dear Three Score: Sorry, but the days are gone when you can give a kid a nickel and say, "Go have a good time." Children ought to have a little money to spend and to save.

Most kids today get an allowance for tying up the bathroom and hogging the telephone. I'm in favor of teaching children that there is some relationship between work and rewards. This can best be achieved by assigning specific chores and making it clear that the allowance is payment.

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FARM-CITY

1965

Agri-business... is your business

FARM-CITY WEEK is being observed in Missouri and across the nation November 19-25. The observance focuses special attention during the week on promoting better rural-urban understanding, an effort encouraged throughout the year. The current year's theme is "Agribusiness in Your Business." The interlocking horns of plenty in the illustration bring out the benefits to farm and city people resulting from a mutual understanding of the problems and efforts of one another.

BOOKBAGS

Two German physicians warn that youngsters may develop poor posture because of the way they carry their school books.

Five to 15 pounds of books stuffed into a briefcase which is held in the same hand all the time may eventually cause the shoulder on that side to slip lower than the other. Or it may cause the spine to deviate from its normal position.

What to do about it? Carry the books in a knapsack. Or divide the books into two piles, carrying approximately the same weight in each hand.

HEALING TOUCH

Take a hint from the nursing profession and learn the magic touch. Think what happens to a crying infant when you rub his tummy or pat his back gently. His body relaxes as you show love through touch.

Or how comforting an understanding squeeze of the hand can be to a husband waiting to hear the results of a physicial exam.

Or the compassion communicated to bedridden elderly person when you put your arm gently under his shoulder to rearrange a pillow. . .

Touch is a magical language when used with grace and understanding.

V. D. ON THE RISE

Health department officials here are urging parents to teach their children the facts of life early -- before they reach their teens. They report that more than half the people reporting to the department with venereal diseases are between the ages of 15 and 25.

Officials note that they come from good homes and pleasant neighborhoods as well as slums, and that they all have one thing in common -- ignorance about sex.

The department says: "Young people today do not know enough about how syphilis and gonorrhea are spread. Most of some 600 teenagers questioned said they had received their sex information -- or misinformation -- from other youngsters or 'Gutter sources'."

The American Medical Association notes that the problem is national in scope. They report that in the last five years the incidence of syphilis among people under 20 has risen nearly 200 per cent, and that more than a million Americans a year are contracting venereal diseases. The AMA calls it the nation's "most urgent and baffling communicable disease problem."

Parents who feel inadequate to educating their children about these diseases are counseled to ask help from physicians, clergymen, or local educators.

Here and There

1,260 In Malaysia as Infiltrators

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) —The home affairs minister says that 1,260 persons have been detained during the past three years under this country's internal security law. He said nearly half of them were Indonesian infiltrators.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) —New Jersey motorists who don't insure their cars will be required to pay a $25 annual penalty starting June 1. The penalty will be levied in addition to regular registration fees. The penalty is now $15.

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP) —An Anniston father's enthusiasm over his son's enlistment in the Air force had to be squelched, a recruiter says. The recruiter said the father, who was unidentified, decided to follow suit and join up, too, but was rejected. Dad is 51.

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — A Newton policeman was checking licenses of drivers recently. After looking at one license he handed it back and said: "Sir, if you'll sign this license, it will be valid." The flabbergasted driver was Vern Miller, the sheriff of Sedgwick County.

BOULDER, Colo. AP — Shirley Platt planned to send two Christmas parcels to her son in Viet Nam. Instead she is sending them to survivors of his squad. She has received word that Sgt. Gary W. Platt, 22, Nederland, had been killed while leading a squad in a search and destroy mission in the An Khe area.

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP) — Dr. Rogert Wells Youngs, senior minister of the First Presbyterian church of Wichita, Kan., has been named president of the new Whitson College of Artesia. Whitson is to be a four-year liberal arts college and expects to open in September 1966.

Richards Will Survive Shots And Beating

MATTHEWS -- The condition of R. L. Richards, who has been a patient at Methodist Hospital in Memphis, after being shot and beaten by an escaped convict, is reported to be improved. His doctors have told his family that he will live though the chances of saving an eye are slight.

Mrs. Wallace Godwin was admitted last week to Missouri Delta hospital as a patient. Mrs. W. W. McCoy is a patient at a Columbia hospital. Mrs. R. M. Vann was admitted as a patient Monday at St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Moore of Casper, Wyo., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore and Lester King and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelso and daughter, Eva, accompanied home Mrs. Clara Lumert, and Misses Alice and Frankie Deane, Sunday. They visited in St. Louis with them while the Misses Deane were attending the state teachers meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Richards have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Zimmer. Mr. Zimmer, who has been the Frisco depot agent since 1929, retired this year.

Mrs. C. O. Hawkins spent last Tuesday in Golconda, Ill., where she attended a funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Cleaver and daughter, Miss Helen, of Cape Girardeau visited here Sunday.

The Christian Women's Fellowship will meet Nov. 18, with Mrs. Carl Romines.

The Community club will meet at the Community Center Wednesday.

The Matthews R-V Parent Teachers Association will meet in the cafeteria Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gaines of Fulton spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed. Fred Story and Willis Rogers, students at Missouri University at Columbia, accompanied them and spent the weekend with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Yates visited during the weekend with his mother at Auxvasse.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester King and daughter, Brenda, visited during the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne King and son, Kerry Wayne, at Wapella, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Conrad and son, Charles; Mr. and Mrs. Joel Buchanan, son, Joe and daughter, Linda, were among those attending engineer's day Saturday at Missouri University at Rolla.

FLAVORFUL ONIONS SERVE A PRINCESS

For most of us, the excellent flavor that onions impart to any menu is reward enough for the peeling.

But one legend tells of a princess who couldn't marry because she couldn't cry. She solved her problem by peeling onions, and was rewarded by living happily ever after with her Prince Charming.

Although you may not win your Prince Charming this way, you'll certainly be rewarded with his praises if you spice your meals with plenty of tasty onions.

And there are abundant supplies of this versatile vegetable headed to Midwest markets during November, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Both the sweet Spanish types, used in salads and sandwiches, and Globe types, used for cooking, will be in plentiful supply as a record sized crop is forecast.

Take advantage of this abundance by using onions often in your menu plans. For a real palate pleaser, here is a tempting treat from USDA:

CRUNCHY GLAZED ONIONS -- Use 1½ pounds small, white peeled onions; 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons brown sugar; 1-3 cup roasted diced almonds. Cook onions in boiling water until fork tender, about 25 minutes, then drain well. In saucepan, combine butter, brown sugar and almonds. Cook, stirring occasionally, until butter and sugar are melted. Add onions and heat thoroughly, turning onions to coat with glaze. Serves 5-6.

Elect Directors Of Foundation

LOS ANGELES AP -- Election of four directors of the Sigma-Delta Chi foundation was announced today at a brief business session of the professional journalistic society.

Elected Wednesday at a society director's session were: Ralph Sewell, assistant managing editor of the Daily Oklahoman and Times, Oklahoma City, Okla.; R. L. Spangler, publisher of the Redwood City, Calif., Tribune; Frank Angelo, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press; and Richard P. Kleeman, educator editor, Minneapolis Tribune.

Among those certified today to serve on the seven-member board was Dr. Warren Agee, dean of the University of Kansas School of Journalism.

#3 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area

Saluting: First Methodist Church

Sikeston, Mo.

Approaching one hundred years of service. . . .

Reverend L. F. Aspley, with the assistance of Mrs. Catherine Stallcup Sikes Handy, organized the church and a union Sunday School in 1867, in an abandoned freight car.

In 1873, Mr. Reese G. Applegate organized the first Methodist Sunday School. The services were held in a two story school building on the site of old South Grade School. Mr. Applegate served as Sunday School Superintendent for forty years, until 1913.

Three Houses of Worship. . . .

The first sanctuary was built in 1879 on the Northeast corner of Front and Stoddard Streets. The second building, erected in 1891, was located on the corner of New Madrid and Center Streets. The present sanctuary was erected in 1911 and dedicated December 3, 1916.

The educational wing of the church was erected in 1951. In recent years the parish house, just north of the educational building, was secured for a youth center and more recently the area north of the parish house has been blacktopped for youth recreation and parking area.

Present church officiary includes: Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, Rev. Willard Spencer, and Rev. Jno. Ensor, pastors; and Mr. Bob L. Matthews, chairman of the Official Board.

The reality of the church cannot be captured in dates or buildings or even in leaders. The reality that is the church appears in the continuing community of faithful who have witnessed across the years and continue in the present to witness to God's Grace in Jesus Christ, in this city. The present membership is committed to the continuation of this ministry.

Cafes Short Of Chefs

NEW YORK (AP) — A shortage of chefs is giving a new twist to the restaurant business across the United States.

The pancakes you have for breakfast in a restaurant, the shrimpburger lunch, the cocktail party hors d'oeuvres, and the beef stroganoff dinner probably come out of a box.

Restaurants, faced with a labor shortage, limited space and mounting costs, are turning to packaged mixes and frozen foods. So are hospitals, schools, airlines and ships.

One major restaurant school had 3,000 more job offers than it had graduates last year.

The number of restaurants has been increasing. There are 378,460 commercial restaurants in the country, 6,170 more than last year. The biggest gain has been in quick-service facilities.

At a recent frozen food show in New York, the emphasis was on institution-size packages, for restaurants and others.

There were breaded and glazed ready-to-cook "gourmet filets," shrimp, scallops, 10-pound bags of eggs, and pastry dough.

"The biggest obstacle in selling frozen entres to the institutional trade is the matter of the chef's ego," said a spokesman for a restaurant chain.

He suggested that chefs who like to tend their own sauces might look more favorably on something that required partial preparation in their own kitchens.

But Davis V. Whitley of Chicago, newly elected president of the National Association of Food Packers, has found no such resistance.

"The old notion of the chef wanting to keep his finger in the pie is dissipating," he said.

Whitley said the institutional market had become the fastest growing segment of the $5-billion annual frozen food business, and now amounted to nearly one-third of all frozen food sales.

Stouffer Food Corp. opened three restaurants this year with 40 per cent less kitchen space than normal.

"This was possible because of the use of prepared convenience foods," said James Biggar, the company's marketing vice president. "Two years ago, Stouffer would not have considered use of frozen prepared foods in its own restaurants."

GOLDEN AGE OF CABBAGE

The Golden Age of cabbage would surely seem to have been in ancient Egypt, when it was placed on an altar, and worshiped as a god.

Or during the Roman era, when it was described as "surpassing all other vegetables: It may be eaten cooked or raw, and if you dip it into vinegar, it promotes digestion marvelously."

Although both the ancient Romans and Egyptians appreciated cabbage, the Golden age of this nutritious vegetable must certainly be right now, when supplies are extremely plentiful, and homemakers can use it in many ways to please their families.

It is rich in vitamin C, thiamine, iron and folic acid; low in calories; and versatile beyond belief. As sauerkraut, in salads, or featured as an entree, cabbage stands out as one of our most important vegetables.

For a change of pace in serving cabbage, here's a handy recipe for your family's enjoyment from the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

RED CABBAGE DUTCH STYLE: Use ½ cup chopped onion; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 3 cups shredded raw cabbage; 1 cup diced apples; 3 whole cloves; 1¼ teaspoon ground black pepper; 1 teaspoon wine vinegar; ½ cup stock. To prepare, saute onion in butter or margarine until they are limp and transparent. Add cabbage, apples, cloves, salt, black pepper, wine vinegar and stock. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Serve hot.

The film of cobwebs seen floating in the air on calm, clear days is known as gossamer.

Red Antiaircraft Guns Take Toll

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air attacks on Soviet-built missile sites in North Viet Nam have been sharply stepped up, but the Reds' conventional antiaircraft guns have taken the heaviest toll of attacking American planes.

Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers have destroyed or damaged seven surface-to-air installations in the past week and 10 since the beginning of the month. Only three SAM sites were hit between the end of July and November.

Seven planes, including rescue aircraft, were lost in attacks on missile installations last weekend, but only one was downed by a missile. The others were hit by conventional ground fire.

"It's a risky business," said a U.S. military spokesman. "The concentration of flak aimed at our planes is as heavy as, if not heavier than, any in World War II."

Missiles are one of the Communists' most potentially dangerous weapons, but their success seems to have been relatively limited. Of the more than 140 planes lost since U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam began, only seven are known to have been shot down by missiles.

Much of the credit is due the American pilots who have coped from the beginning with the missile threat. They have developed tactics to minimize the danger from the SAMs.

Pilots returning from raids against missile installations have reported being fired on by the SAMs. But some of the assaults have been carried out with great speed — one took only 90 seconds. Pilots say the Communists may not have had time to launch the complex projectiles with any degree of accuracy.

On the other hand, all the SAM installations are heavily protected by automatic weapons and antiaircraft guns which can produce withering fire in seconds.

All except two of the 13 sites hit so far were mobile installations. These can be erected and dismantled within a day.

Informed sources have said that as many as 30 fixed SAM installations ring the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. There are indications that the number of portable facilities is much higher and that these are spread throughout much of the country.

Despite dangers involved in strikes against missile facilities, the United States has begun a concerted campaign to destroy as many of the sites as its pilots can find.

"There are plenty up there, so we expect to be busy for some time," said one military source.

Legislature Quits in Despair for Week

JEFFERSON CITY AP--Faced with a massive deadlock over House redistricting, the Missouri Legislature quit in despair today until next Wednesday.

House and Senate conferees met for an hour today trying to resolve the logjam but got no where.

Afterward Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, chariman of the Senate conferees, said it was apparent the House members would not agree to anything at all until the Senate passes a stopgap bill that would in effect let the House redistrict itself.

If the Senate does that, Waters said, it would clear the way for the House to scuttle the entire plan for a constitutional amendment.

Rep. Mel Carnahan, D-Phelps County, the House conference chairman, said there was no plan to scuttle the constitutional amendment.

On adjourning the Senate until 2 p.m. next Wednesday, Waters said "I hope by then something will have happended to break the logjam."

The legislature cannot meet Monday and Tuesday because the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation has pre - empted all available hotel rooms for its annual convention.

When the conferees met today, they were confronted with a compromise proposal by the Senate, offering to let the Supreme Court handle the House redistricting problem if a commission based on congressional district representation failed to do the job.

That was rejected by the House conferees.

Waters said the senators went a step further. They offered to set a "backup" system with a second commission being appointed to take another whack at the job if the first commission deadlocked.

This plan also was rejected.

Waters said it was indicated at the first session Tuesday night the House members would accept the Supreme Court compromise.

But today it was quickly apparent that "overnight their instructions had been changed and the only plan they would accept would be to let the redistricting be done by law if the commission failed to act."

The idea of letting the House have a hand in reapportioning itself is backed by Speaker Thomas D. Graham, D-Cole County, and the House majority and minority leaders. The commission system, with the governor appointing the commissioners, is sponsored by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

Baker Associate Loses Appeal

WASHINGTON AP -- Fred B. Black Jr., public relations man and one-time business associate of Bobby Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democrats, has lost in the U.S. Circuit Court his appeal from a 1964 conviction of income tax evasion.

Bert B. Rand, attorney for Black, said Wednesday's divided 2-1 ruling will be appealed further. Meantime, Black remained free on bond.

Black was convicted in 1964 of failing to report $140,087 of income items for 1956-1958, and was sentenced to a $10,000 fine and 15 months to four years in prison. The government's tax claim was $91,000.

Last month the Internal Revenue Service filed against him a tax lien of $340,429 for allegedly unpaid taxes for 1960 through 1964.

The two-judge court of appeals majority--Judges Carl McGowan and John A. Danaher--rejected Black's defense claim that the government failed to prove the money items at issue were not tax deductible expense items in his business, Blyco Corp., in Joplin Mo. Also turned down was Black's contention that his actions lacked sufficient criminal intent to justify conviction because he relied on a Blyco business agent to prepare his returns.

Danaher and McGowan said there was "no significant dispute" in the trial that Black received $140,087 more than he reported for taxes, and that he generally reported only those parts of income "where the government was known to be on notice" through tax forms filed by his clients.

"This is a recognizable pattern. . .which could have caused the jury reasonably to conclude that the act constituted a conscious and knowing deception," the opinion held.

As to the defense contention that Black relied on an agent for preparation of returns, the two judges found that Black was "quite the master of his own business' and agents did not have all the information necessary for filing returns.

The court said "it may be that some or all of Black's unreported receipts were not retained by him for his personal benefit in the ordinary sense. One engaged in his business has perhaps to face some delicate problems of identification and characterization in the itemization of expenses."

The court's dissenter, senior Judge Wilbur K. Miller, argued that the government's evidence "was so cloudy and proof of criminal intent. . .was so conspicuously absent that I am unable to join the majority."

He said the trial judge, John J. Sirica, should have directed a verdict of acquittal. He contended further that newspaper accounts of the case were "inflammatory" and Black's motion for a mistrial should have been granted on that ground.

Black was associated in some Washington ventures with Baker who quit his Senate post under fire after disclosure of outside business affairs by which he amassed a fortune.

From 1953 to 1962 the value added by manufacturing increased 73.3% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 41.5% in the non-right-to-work states. During the decade ending in 1965, the average weekly earnings of production workers increased 46.8% in the right-to-work states as compared with 42.8% in the non-right-to-work states. Between 1959 and 1964, personal income in the right-to-work states rose 32.5% as compared with 25.5% in the non-right-to-work states.

Unemployment for 1964 as the percentage of the total working force was 4% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 5% in the non-right-to-work states. During the years 1953-1964, bank deposits increased 69.4% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 63.5% in the non-right-to-work states. Most of these statistics appear in information issued by the Department of Commerce, the Department of the Treasury, and the Department of Labor.

RABBONI

IN AWE stood Magdalene apart
Before the empty tomb.
She wept and questioned in her heart
As in a quiet room,
"Why was He spurned and crucified,
His body stolen away?
Oh, when in anguished pain He died,
Why desecrate His clay?"
Not even hers the final grace
To gaze upon His holy face.
She heard a rush like wings of flame,
And there beside the door
A shining Presence called her name—
Her Lord appeared once more!
"Rabboni," turning, Mary cried;
He, smiling, looked ahead.
"Go tell the brethren," He replied—
H
He was alive, not dead!
And though she dared not touch His hand,
She spread the news through all the land.

Stars Argue Americans Or European Husbands

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Do American or European men make better husbands?

If you were Virna Lisi, Italian, beautiful with pale blonde hair and emerald eyes, you would favor the European male. But then, she is married to Italian builder Franco Pesci.

If you were Elke Sommer, ice-blonde with Germanic good looks, you would advocate the American man. Quite naturally, since she is wed to American journalist Joe Hyams.

The two stellar imports were given separate but equal opportunities to argue their beliefs one November day. They were working a block apart — Elke at Producers' Studio with Bob Hope in "Boy, Did I Get a Wrong Number!" and Virna at Paramount with Frank Sinatra in "Assault on a Queen."

"American men are more patient with their wives and more affectionate," Elke observed. "They are very glad when you let them be the boss, because they aren't used to that. In Europe, the husband is always the boss."

On the latter score, Virna agreed. She added: "Italian men are very possessive. In Italy it is difficult for a wife to work, or even to go shopping. Her husband wants to know where she is at all times.

"Naturally the system is better for the man. But women in Italy don't think anything about it. They have always lived that way, and in some respects it is good for them. They remain feminine. And it is very important for a woman to be a woman and not try to be the man."

Elke concluded: "It is bad when a woman tries to dominate the man. Men like femininity. In Europe there is more femininity."

Said Virna: "What happens between a man and a woman when they fall in love is something beautiful. That is why they get married. But in America the relationship can change after marriage. If the woman tries to take over the husband's role, they are no longer lovers. They become like brother and sister. That is bad."

Elke admitted that is bad, and she has a formula to avoid it: "A woman should be first a mistress to her husband, then a wife and mother, and finally, a housekeeper. If he wanted a woman who was only a housekeeper, he could go out and hire one."

The dodo, a clumsy, flightless bird which once inhabited the islands of Mauritius and Reunion in the Indian Ocean together with a smaller bird called the solitaire, has been extinct since about 1680.

Flat River Wins Betterment Event

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Flat River copped the grand prize Wednesday night in the second annual Missouri community betterment awards competition.

It was the second time Flat River scored.

The Governor's Leadership awards, to individuals who contributed to the communities' progress, included:

William Bisbee of Lawson, Gene Bibb of Warsaw, George Light of Ridgeway, Dr. John Wanamaker of Rock Port; R.V. Williams Sr. of Keytesville, Mrs. Viola Blechle of Perryville, Dr. John Schmale of Fredericktown, V. E. Lewis of Annapolis, Miss Rachel Thornton of Carthage and Harrell Hall of Monett.

The Five Star Community Betterment award went to the city of Joplin.

The governor's Certificate of Merit was won by the cities of St. Louis, University City, St. Joseph and Independence.

The Beckoning Trails award, for decorative planting campaigns, went to the city of Perry and the unincorporated community of Grant Haven in St. Louis County.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who flew back from southeastern Missouri to attend the awards dinner, said everyone in every community should participate in community betterment.

"The accomplishment of this simple and yet important ingredient of progress will do more than any other single factor to create community pride," he said.

"When pride has been accomplished, confidence follows close on its heels and confidence gives birth to meaningful plans, assets with a purpose and accomplishments of lasting benefits."

Awards by population category:

Cities of more than 10,000 — Carthage, Kirkwood, Mexico and the Lafayette area of St. Louis County (suburban Ballwin, Ellisville, Manchester and Winchester).

5,000 to 10,000-Perryville, Monett, Nevada and Farmington.

2,500 to 5,000-Flat River, Butler, Eldorado Springs, Hermann.

1,000 to 2,000-Gallatin, Steelville, Concordia and Warsaw.

500 to 1,000 - Lawson, Keytesville, Stover, Mountain View.

up to 500—Gower, Ridgeway, Annapolis and Mill Spring.

As grand prize winner Flat River gets an award of $500 plus $700 as first prize winner in its population category. All categories under 10,000 population get cash prizes of $700 for first, $600 for second, $500 for third and $400 for fourth.

The money is furnished by private businesses or associations. The program is sponsored by the state Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

Bags Under Eyes Makes Men Irrestible to Women

LONDON AP -- What makes a man irrestible to women? Bags under the eyes?

That's Judy Innes' answer, and Judy is a more than pretty, stylish writer for London's Daily Mail.

Saying that actor Rex Harrison is England's most attractive man, Miss Innes declared:

"Striving for scientific objectivity, I studied the Harrison features closely. And I think I've got it. It's the bags under his eyes."

"If you think about it, all the most attractive men have bags under their eyes. And this isn't --as you might suppose-- the result of being irresistible to women. It's the cause of it."

Warming to her subject, she went on:

"Show me a man with a smooth unlined face, innocent of bags, and I'll show you a man without sex appeal."

"The reason why bags under the eyes have such a magnetic effect," said Miss Innes, "is that they suggest debauchery, late-night carousing, a glint of wordly wickedness. Which is exactly what every woman secretly finds irrestible."

Right-to-Work Statistics

THERE must be some advantage in the right-to-work laws which have been in force for 19 states. During the decade ending in 1963, the number of non-agricultural employees in the right to work states increased 23.3%, as compared with only 9% in the non-right - to - work states. During the decade ending in 1962 capital expenditures in the right-to-work states increased 37.1% as compared with 27.2% in the non-right-to-work states.

Dr. Kershner

During approximately the same period per capita personal income rose to 43.7% in the right-to-work states, as compared with 35.4% in the non-right-to-work states. During the same period the hourly earnings of manufacturing workers rose 46.7% in the right-to-work states as compared with 41.5% in the non-right-to-work states.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.

St. Mark 16:15

Clergymen are taking these words to heart today more than ever before, for they are practicing their ministry on trains, in airplanes or wherever they can reach people.

None has more zeal for "all the world" than Dr. James W. Kennedy. When he was rector of the historic Church of the Ascension in New York, he initiated and continued for five summers a sidewalk service each Sunday afternoon. He would make the trip each week from his summer house in Nantucket to conduct the 11 o'clock service and the sidewalk service. At 4:45, Sunday strollers along lower Fifth Avenue would be heralded by a trumpeter in front of the church. At times as many as 100 would gather to listen to Dr. Kennedy's outdoor short story hour. After a 10 minute story-sermon with a stirring message, Dr. Kennedy would invite the listeners into the church for "going home prayers." Many accepted his invitation. Dr. Kennedy explained that he was out there "to reach people the church doesn't normally reach." This he did.

Allen Wit, Legend

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The wit of Fred Allen, since his death nine years ago, has assumed somewhat legendary proportions. The famed "Fred Allen Show" with its Allen's Alley succumbed — to competition from a radio quiz show — almost 17 years ago.

But next Sunday mature television fans who now look back upon the golden years of radio with nostalgia and affection will have a chance to sample and assess the sharp-tongued brand of Allen humor.

The coffee company — Chase and Sanborn — that for so many years sponsored Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy on radio had such success a year ago replaying bits from some of those old shows, that it will try another 55 - minute radio special, this one recalling some of the brighter moments from Allen's programs. Bergen will act as host on the NBC radio network show -- 7:05 - 8 p.m. EST.

The ventriloquist whose high-voiced dummy Charlie had a radio identity as real as a person's looks back on the old days with great affection.

"You could do so many things on radio that are impossible on television," he mourned. "There could never have been a Charlie McCarthy on television. But Charlie on radio could do anything - go to town by himself, drive a car, visit the dentist. It all had a dream quality and the audience was there supplying the background in its imagination."

The forthcoming distillation of Allen's long and glorious radio career presented an enormous job of listening and selecting. Producer Carroll Carroll spent two weeks including weekends playing transcriptions made over an 18-year period.

Bergen and the producer were discussing details of the show the other day. Bergen looked almost sad.

"It's all so very different today," he said. "The whole business of comedy has changed — from 15 minutes of quality to quantity. We had a lot of very funny people around, from Charlie Chase to Charlie Chaplin and Laurel and Hardy. The last one of that breed is Red Skelton."

Recommended weekend viewing:

Saturday — "Hollywood Palace," ABC, 9:30-10:30 p.m. EST, with Judy Garland as hostess.

Sunday — "Defeat of the Armada," NBC, 6:30-7:30 p.m. EST, third in the "Of Men and Freedom" series, dealing with the 16th century English sea victory over the Spanish.

Cluster Of TV Specials

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Network television specials have a tendency to cluster around holidays —and with Thanksgiving in the offing, several are among up in the next seven days.

On Sunday there will be another in NBC's "Of Men and Freedom" series (6:30 - 7:30 p.m., EST.) This one deals with the English defeat of the Spanish armada in the 16th century.

"Sinatra," CBS News study of the performer, will occupy its late Tuesday night hour (10-11) --providing it is broadcast. Frank Sinatra's press agent recently announced the singer had withdrawn his permission to use material he had furnished for the special, but the network still has the show scheduled.

Acts from Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus will provide an NBC hour's entertainment for children on Thursday night (7:30-8:30). Later the same evening the network will present for adults a "Hall of Fame" adaptation of the stage play, "Inherit the Wind," with Melvyn Douglas and Ed Begley recreating the roles they played in the Broadway production (9:30-11).

Bob Hope will play the lead in a comedy drama, "Russian Roulette" on his Wednesday night NBC show (9-10). And Judy Garland will be hostess on Saturday night's "Hollywood Palace" on ABC (9:30-10:30).

RON STALLINGS, 22, 402 Wakefield, has joined the staff of Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet Company, as salesman. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stallings, and graduated from Sikeston high school in 1962. Viet Nam Dead Top 1,000 Mark

WASHINGTON AP -- U. S. battle deaths in the Viet Nam conflict climbed over the 1,000 mark this week.

The Pentagon announced Thursday that the casualty reports received last Tuesday boosted the total deaths to 1,000 in the Viet Nam war since the first casualty Dec. 22, 1961.

The latest weekly summary of casualties, released Wednesday, showed total combat deaths at 987 through last Monday. The names of the men in Tuesday's death toll haven't been released.

McDonnell Strike Ends

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Striking machinists returned to their jobs Thursday night at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. and work on Phantom jet fighters and the Gemini space capsules resumed.

A four-day wildcat strike by about 17,000 members of the International Association of Machinists at the plant had halted production.

About 10,000 members voted overwhelmingly by voice vote Thursday to go back to work after they were told the International would authorize a strike Nov. 18 if a new contract is not accepted by midnight Nov. 17.

The Machinists had voted at midnight last Sunday when their contract expired. But, business agent George Heine told the workers he had granted a 10-day contract extension and the members shouted him down. Chief issues are wages and fringe benefits.

Unauthorized picket lines were established at midnight Sunday and by mid Monday morning, work on the Gemini spacecraft and phantom airplanes had halted.

New Pastor At Malden

MALDEN -- Rev. John Haskins will arrive Friday from Fort Branch, Ind., to assume his duties as the new pastor of the First General Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Haskins succeeds Rev. Billy Hamlett, who is now serving as pastor of the church in Gideon.

The new pastor will preach Sunday.

DELAYED ANSWERS

I think one gets glimpses in the Bible of what delayed answers to prayer may mean.

Moses, for instance-the answer to his prayer to enter the Promised Land was kept back for centuries until he stood there with Jesus Himself.

And Elijah - his prayer to die was refused, for the glory of the fiery chariot and the whirlwind was waiting for him.

It seems to be, as it is in arithmetic, that the figure carried forward becomes part of a higher power! Even if the answer is carried on out of the bounds of this life altogether, it is not thereby lost. "The powers of the world to come" are more than we know yet.

Cool, Hungry Children Might Have Longer Lives

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you knew you could prolong the youth of your children by keeping them cold and hungry, would you?

Playing it cool and cutting calories may be just the thing for living longer.

Two Baltimore scientists say it has worked in their experiments with rodents and rotifers. (Yeah, rotifers. You know, tiny water animals).

Why not people?

Well, for one thing, said the scientists, Drs. Charles H. Barrows and Nathan W. Shock, if you can read this you're too late to start the treatment.

"These experiments indicate that what happens to a person very early in life influences greatly what happens to him later in life," explained Dr. Shock.

The answer then, no doubt, is to run to the cradle and snatch away that bottle and blanket. Right?

Well, Dr. Barrows isn't too optimistic that it would work.

"It would be very difficult to get enough children whose parents would allow them to be fed only half of what all the other children are getting," he said. "They probably would be smaller, and the practical problems would be great."

Drs. Shock and Barrow told newsmen Thursday that their rats and rotifers, who had no choice but to cooperate, had lived up to twice as long as well-fed rats and warm rotifers. And they reported, they lengthened certain stages of the creatures' lives, including the reproductive period and old age.

"We regard this as an important finding because it means we may be able to do something biologically that will influence the period of old age," said Dr. Shock.

Dr. Barrows said that feeding rats one-third less than normal amounts extended their life span by 50 per cent.

The life of a rotifer was lengthened 100 per cent by either cutting down on the food or by reducing the temperature of the water in which they live.

Dr. Shock is chief of the gerontology branch of the National Heart Institute, Baltimore City Hospitals. Dr. Barrows heads the institute's section on nutritional biochemistry. They're in Los Angeles for a meeting of the gerontological society.

Q—When were presidential election returns first broadcast?

A—Nov. 2, 1920, when station KDKA, Pittsburgh, Pa., broadcast the results of the Harding-Cox election.

FINDING THE WAY

Stand and Be Counted

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When the American poet, Emily Dickinson, was a little girl, her father took her for a walk across the New England meadows. He pointed to the outcropping of the rocks and indicated their long history of formation. He gestured toward the hills, speaking of their antiquity. He was giving his daughter an understanding of the heritage of the years in the creation of this landscape. "What's new here?" he asked. To which little Emily quickly replied, "I am."

In the enormity of world problems and local dilemmas it's important that we keep this sense of the personal presence and responsibility. If the fight against poverty, ignorance, evil, hatred or crime seems as ancient as the hills, it's still imperative that some of us answer that we're around.

These problems seem so gargantuan that it's easy to take the advice of those commercials that tell us to "take a (pill) if you're upset." Sedatives are important but just now we need some people who are upset enough to involve themselves in the problem.

The appeal in most of our communities for the needs of social agencies is but one illustration of the problem. With the federal government pouring millions of dollars into the antipoverty struggle, many citizens are liable to think that the job is done. Yet citizen voluntarism and personal participation were never more needed.

The very bill which set up the complicated federal machinery talks of "maximum feasible participation." It refers to the whole citizenry, breaking through the artificial barriers. If citizens don't participate, local involvement—and therefore the whole program—fails.

The point to all of this is simply that there's truth in the comment of both father and daughter Dickinson. There's virtue in understanding the long road of history. There's additional virtue in understanding the importance of the present and accepting responsibility for it.

It's too easy to get lost in vague generalities, denying them by our actions. Like the man who said, "I love humanity; it's people that bug me." Our love of humanity needs to be tested every day in the struggles of the whole of our community.

The local agencies in our various communities can use all that we give them and the problem won't be solved. It will constitute a giant step. The federal government can encourage men and women in each community to develop personal initiative and yet that won't entirely solve the situation. There is the continuing need of seeing the possibility of continuing the struggle despite the long glacial history of prejudice, hatred and fear which on many occasions has stripped the community of dignity. We need people in every community who can respond with their resources and commitment of their energies. It echoes Emily's defiant statement, "I'm new here."

SHOW STOPPER—Heads turned whenever actress Diane Cilento, wife of actor Sean Connery, turned her back at the London premiere of a new movie, "The Agony and the Ecstasy." Miss Cilento's gown featured a modestly bare midriff in front and a very, very bare back. The actress, who has a leading role in the picture about Michelangelo, chats at right with the film's star, Charlton Heston.

Nine-year-old Stanley struck upon the idea of hiring his little brother as his servant. "I'll give you 10 cents a week," he said.

"OK," little Larry agreed.

Stanley then felt he'd offered too much money. "I can only pay 5 cents a week, after all" he said.

"OK," said Larry, just as cheerfully.

Thinking he could get the child for even less, Stanley said, "All I can pay is a penny a week."

"Well," OK," said Larry, but don't raise it any lower."

Today in U.S. History

Today is Friday, Nov. 12, the 316th day of 1965. There are 49 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1921, a conference on limitations of armaments -- the first conference of great powers on American soil --opened in Washington, D. C.

On this date

In 1812, Napoleon Bonaparte's retreat -- from Moscow army reached the Russian city of Smolensk.

In 1840, the famous French sculptor, Auguste Rodin, was born.

In 1848, a state of siege was declared in the city of Berlin.

In 1937, Shanghai fell to the Japanese.

In 1940, the British Royal Air Force bombed factories and railway centers in Germany.

Ten years ago -- Nikita Khrushchev declared that Russia had developed a new twin-jet medium bomber with a range of more than 3,000 miles.

Five years ago -- A Discoverer satellite was launched with a capsule which was snared by an Air Force Flying Boxcar over the Pacific.

One year ago -- Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg abdicated in favor of her son, Grand Duke Jean, after a 45-year reign.

END DRUDGERY, FAMILY BICKERING WITH DISHWASHER

Does the evening meal at your house end with bickering among the children as to "who's turn it is to do the dishes?" If so, this is just one more good reason for turning the job over to an automatic dishwasher, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

Another is the fact that your dishes will be cleaner because the appliance uses hotter water and stronger detergent than you'd ever put into a dishpan.

matter of fact

The danger of being struck by lightning can be minimized by staying indoors, avoiding contact with the telephone, other electrical equipment and water systems and not sitting near a fireplace. Outdoors it can be lessened by staying away from isolated trees, staying out of the water, avoiding contact with metallic conductors, wire fences and railroad tracks.

HUSBAND'S SUCCESSOR? —Alabama's Gov. George Wallace says he is "encouraging talk" about the possibility of his wife, Lurlene, running for governor to succeed him. Wallace is considered a likely candidate for the U.S. Senate when his term ends next year.

John M. Ferrara

CAMP PENDLETON, CALIF. (FHTNC) -- Marine Private John M. Ferrara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ferrara of 15 Hickory Hills Drive, Dexter, Mo., completed four weeks of individual combat training Oct. 26 with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The 20-day course included over 200 hours of rigorous instruction in small unit tactics, night combat, firing weapons under simulated combat conditions and other subjects related to the Marine infantryman.

CAMP PENDLETON, CALIF. (FHTNC) -- Marine Private John L. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Martin, Jr., of 717 Ruth, Sikeston, Mo., completed individual combat training Oct. 27 with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The four - week course included over 200 hours of instruction under simulated combat conditions, small unit tactics in both conventional and guerrilla warfare, day and night combat, reconnaissance and combat patrolling, and the effective use of infantry weapons.

He is undergoing four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field. These occupational fields include artillery, infantry, motor transport and supply. Marines assigned duties with infantry units will be taught infantry-sub-specialties, such as the machine gun, grenade launcher, rifle or mortar.

Marines assigned to highly technical specialties have been sent to a military technical school for their specialist training.

FARM-CITY WEEK in Missouri is set for November 19-25, according to proclamation signed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. Present with the Governor for the signing were, left, George L. Zeis, St. Louis, Missouri Farm-City Week chairman; and at right, Delmar Hatesohl, Columbia, vice-chairman. Zeis is director of public relations, Farm Credit Banks of St. Louis. Hatesohl is associate agricultural editor at the University of Missouri. Farm-City Week is a focal point for increasing understanding between rural and urban people. "This is a year long effort," says Zeis, "aimed at helping rural and urban citizens become better acquainted with one another, their problems and their goals. This is being done in many ways such as farm tours by city, business and industrial leaders. Farm people, on the other hand, are invited to see how manufacturing plants operate or to view more closely the workings of businesses."
